"Mistress of Seas" Allowed to Stop or Permit Any American Trade.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—As a result of President Wilson's failure to back up his epistolary demands, the United States is subservient to the dictates of Great Britain, the mistress of the seas.

Proceeding on the conclusion from the president's attitude that American neutrality is intended to be "benevolent" to the entente allies, Great Britain, it became known today, has tightened her control of American activities abroad and has strengthened her system of supervision of American foreign trade which is being carried on on American soil with the acquiescence of the administration.

MUST GET ENVOY'S CONSENT.

It is impossible for American exporters to ship any article to the neutral countries of Europe with any prospect of its delivery unless they obtain the express permission of the British government, granted through its ambassador here, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice.

It is impossible for any American to send a letter to Europe with any prospect of delivery unless its contents are unobjectionable to the British government, and then only after costly delays.

American business firms, with extensive foreign correspondence, having failed to obtain protection of their rights by the administration, have been compelled to enter into arrangements with the British embassy for the facilitation of their communications, both epistolary and telegraphic. These arrangements require implicit compliance by the American business men.

LOSE EVEN DOMESTIC TRADE.

Likewise it is impossible for any American firm not approved by the British government to do any foreign business. Blacklisted American firms cannot ship their goods in English ships and cannot procure the British ambassador's permit to pass their goods through the blockade when shipped in American or other vessels.

The British blacklist even has caused American firms not in the good graces of the London government to lose much domestic business, for Americans trading with the blacklisted concerns have found it impossible to procure any favors from the British embassy until they had withdrawn their patronage of the laboed companies.

The state department, before the recent presidential election, denounced the British blacklist as unlawful and a violation of American rights. The British government replied declining to accede to the demands and rebuking the administration for permitting alleged violations of neutrality. Thereupon the administration dropped the matter.

SENT TO BRITISH EMBASSY.

All of these restrictions and violations of American rights the state department denounces officially as unlawful and intolerable. Then, unofficially, the state department sends its trade advisers to the British embassy to negotiate concessions in favor of American exporters from the British regulations.

So long as the administration complies thus with the British restrictive regulations, though unofficially, the British government is entirely satisfied, no matter how much its procedure is denounced officially.

While officially not recognizing the blacklist as lawful, the state department has recognized it unofficially so far as to procure the lifting of the ba from a number of firms. England, in response to these appeals, has agreed to take American firms off the blacklist provided they reorganized or discharged employes alleged to be pro-German.

PASSES THROUGH BLOCKADE.

American exporters desiring to fill orders from neutral European countries are obliged to go to the British embassy and ask permission to ship their goods free of molestation. They are required to submit a list of their foreign customers, which is forwarded to London. If permission to ship is granted the British ambassador issues a letter of assurance which constitutes a pass for the cargo through the blockading squadrons.

President Wilson charged the British government officially with communicating the names of American customers abroad to British firms, which then stepped in and got the business away from their American competitors.

TELLS AMERICA WHY PEACE MUST WAIT

Aldermen Drop Dr. Brushingham and Mrs. Rowe

Salaries Eliminated from Budget After Many Women Appear.

When the finishing touches were put last night on the municipal budget for 1917 two interesting items were missing from the long list of appropriations. They were the salaries of two of Mayor Thompson's appointees and friends, Mrs. Louise Osborne Rowe, commissioner of public welfare, and the Rev. John P. Brushingham, secretary of the morals commission.

Dr. Brushingham's salary was knocked out at the night session after the attention of the committee had been called to an alleged misuse of his office. This charge was made in a letter sent to Mayor Thompson by Miss Amelia Sears, civic director of the Woman's City club.

The committee for some time has indicated its intention of eliminating Mrs. Rowe's position. Its action for the day consisted of refusing to be stampeded into a reconsideration of that decision by an eleventh hour demonstration by women supposedly inspired by Mrs. Rowe.

Brief Brushingham Debate.

The debate in reference to Dr. Brushingham was brief. The complaint against him was founded on the recent appearance in display advertisements of a reproduction of a letter, written on the letter head of the morals commission and bearing his signature, commending highly a film play now being produced at a downtown theater. Miss Sears' letter branded this as a commercial use of the commission's name.

Ald. Ellis Geiger moved that the Brushingham salary appropriation be stricken out and that the duties of the office be transferred to Frederick Rex, municipal reference librarian. This was adopted.

"I told my secretary to write the letter," said Dr. Brushingham later, "and I did not know he had used morals commission stationery until a theatrical manager brought it to me to ask if it was all right."

Thirty Rowe Aids.

When Mrs. Rowe's supporters, about thirty in number, tackled the committee at its afternoon meeting there was an atmosphere of suppressed profanity in the room. The aldermen indicated their belief that Mrs. Rowe had instigated the assault and there was no denial of the implied charge. Mrs. Rowe was not present. But there probably would have been little thrill to the debate had not the visitors insinuated that the action of the aldermen had been bought and paid for.

"Loan Sharks After Her."

Mrs. F. B. Bellis, 5858 Prairie avenue, leader of the Thompson women forces of the Sixth ward, was first. Her manuscript branded the ousting of Mrs. Rowe as "an attack on woman's suffrage."

"There is a rumor afloat," it continued, "that the loan sharks are trying to influence the aldermen against this department on account of a bill Mrs. Rowe intends to introduce at the next meeting of the legislature. We do not believe an intelligent body of men like yourselves would allow the loan sharks to control your actions."

"Is this move made," read Mrs. Viola Greene of 2703 Warren avenue from her manuscript, "because Mrs. Rowe had the nerve to survey the loan sharks' methods in bleeding the public? I hope not."

The Loan Shark Survey.

"For your information," Ald. Merriam said to the visitors, "I may say that the survey of the loan shark evil was made by a former student of mine during the summer months at my suggestion. He worked without compensation and under nobody's direction. His report was printed by the public welfare department."

"Let the women have something," was the appeal of Dr. Davenport, who said she represented the Regular Republican Women's club of the Twenty-fifth ward.

"What is the difference between that organization and the Republican Women's club of the Twenty-fifth ward?" asked Ald. Henry D. Capitain.

"The 'regular' organization was organized to support the Thompson administration," answered the speaker.

There were further questions as to the organizations the women represented.

"This is the first time in my experience on the finance committee," said Ald. Block, "that factional politics has been brought in here. You women should let the committee do its work and you do your little politics outside."

The knockout for Mrs. Rowe followed.

BRITAIN URGES WORLD LEAGUE AGAINST WAR

New Note Says Entente Will Fight 'Until Militarism Is Ended.'

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—The entente allies, in a note addressed by Arthur Balfour, British foreign minister, to Ambassador Spring-Rice and delivered today to the state department, amplify their reply to President Wilson's peace note by explaining in detail why they believe it impossible at present to attain a peace which will assure such guarantees as they consider essential.

The note also explains why the allies demand the expulsion of Turkey from Europe; restoration of Alsace-Lorraine to France, of Italia Irredenta to Italy, and the other territorial changes set forth.

LESSON POORLY LEARNED.

Those who think the future peace of the world may be insured by international treaties and international laws, the note says, have ill learned the lessons taught by recent history.

After charging that German influence in Turkey had resulted in conditions as barbarous and more aggressive than were known under Sultan Abdul Hamid, and that it had been shown Germany cannot be expected to respect treaty obligations, Mr. Balfour says:

FORCE TO INSURE PEACE.

The people of Great Britain, Mr. Balfour says, share President Wilson's desire for peace, but do not believe it can be durable unless based on the success of the allied cause. Mr. Balfour says further that before such a peace can come there must be behind international law and behind all treaty arrangements for preventing or limiting hostilities some form of international sanction which would give pause to the hardiest aggressor.

The note declares confidence that so far as Europe is concerned none of the conditions can be satisfied, even imperfectly, unless peace is secured on the general lines indicated by the allies' joint note.

TEXT OF THE NOTE.

The text of Mr. Balfour's note dated Jan. 13, follows:

"In sending you a translation of the allied note I desire to make the following observations which you should bring to the notice of the United States government.

"I gather from the general tenor of the president's note that, while he is animated by an intense desire that peace should come soon and that when it comes it should be lasting, he does not for the moment at least concern himself with the terms on which it should be arranged.

His majesty's government entirely share the president's ideas; but they feel strongly that the durability of peace must largely depend on its character and that no stable system of international relations can be built on foundations which are essentially and hopelessly defective.

Great Lust for Power.

"This becomes clearly apparent if we consider the main conditions which made possible the calamities from which the world is suffering. These were the existence of great powers consumed with the lust of domination in the midst of a community of nations ill-prepared for defense, plentifully supplied indeed with international laws, but with no machinery for enforcing them and weakened by the fact that neither the boundaries of the various states nor their internal constitution harmonized with the aspirations of their constituent races or secured to them just and equal treatment.

"That this last evil would be greatly mitigated if the allies secured the changes in the map of Europe outlined in their joint note is manifest, and I need not labor the point.

"It has been argued, indeed, that the expulsion of the Turks from Europe forms no proper or logical part of this general scheme. The maintenance of the Turkish empire was during many gen-

Lincoln Bartlett Sued for Divorce; Cruelty Charge

Wife Alleges She Moved to Parents' Home for Her Safety.

Lincoln Bartlett, designer of gowns and ladies' tailor, was made the object of a divorce suit filed yesterday in the Superior court. The bill filed by Mrs. Bartlett's lawyer charges repeated acts of cruelty and asks that an injunction be issued restraining her husband from molesting her and from selling her furniture, which she has had stored.

The bill emphasizes the matter of "cruelty" and alleges that on one occasion Mr. Bartlett extended his cruel treatment to his two children. Mrs. Bartlett alleges that she moved to the home of her parents to insure her safety.

Two Marriage Ceremonies.

The Bartletts were married at the Bartlett residence 4942 Sheridan road, four years ago. Some months earlier they had been married at White Plains, N. Y. In the bill Mrs. Bartlett mentions the latter as her legal marriage. It appears that the second marriage was performed by the Rev. Edgar Woolhouse of Auburn Park Baptist church because Mr. Bartlett wished to avoid legal entanglements growing out of the fact that his first marriage to his second wife at White Plains, took place only a few months after his divorce from his first wife, Alice A. Bartlett.

Formerly a Model.

Mr. Bartlett is a brother of the late Jessie Bartlett Davis, famed as an opera singer.

NORTHWESTERN TO GROUP ALL LOOP BRANCHES

A plan to group all the scattered departments of Northwestern university on the north side is being considered by the university trustees, it was said yesterday. Because of the expense involved, $15,000,000, the plan will remain nothing more than a plan for many years, it was intimated.

There is no intention of moving the campus from Evanston. But the schools of law, business, and dentistry now in the Northwestern university building at Lake and Dearborn streets would be effected, as would also the medical school at 2431 South Dearborn street. The medical school, because of its affiliations with the Mercy and other hospitals, would be the last to go, it was said.

It has been suggested that the transfer could be effected by selling the university loop properties and rebuilding on the new site, yet to be selected, with the proceeds.

"The scheme has been talked of at length both in and out of the trustees' meetings," said William A. Dyche, business manager. "The plan to sell the loop properties seems to me absurd."

The movement was started and is supported strongly by the athletic authorities who point out that the distance from the branches to the Evanston athletic field and gymnasium handicaps Northwestern in competitive athletics. Many good athletes, it is argued, refuse to take the long trip every day, and others are unable to keep up in their studies if they are obliged to spend several hours daily in going to and from practice.

MRS. HANAFORD ASKS COURT TO BAR SLEUTHS

Mrs. Roy F. Hanaford of Evanston, wife of a New Yorker with whom she has not lived in several, says she is being annoyed by detectives.

Yesterday she engaged the law firm of Liessman & Jordan to obtain an injunction restraining her husband's father, H. F. Hanaford, and his agents from giving her annoyance.

Mr. Jordan will go before one of the judges today and ask for a restraining order.

The elder Hanaford is said to be staying at the Hotel Sherman.

Some one representing a detective agency telephoned Mrs. Hanaford yesterday that she was foolish not to settle with the Hanafords and that the elder Hanaford was in Chicago for that purpose.

Vopicka in Berlin Awaiting Orders; Denies Oil Rumor

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—Charles J. Vopicka of Chicago, American minister to Roumania, who remained in Bucharest after the removal of the Roumanian government to Jassy, and whose withdrawal was requested by the German government, arrived in Berlin late last night to await instructions from Washington.

The minister was accompanied by his private secretary and the staff of the embassy.

Denies Charge Against Sadler.

Mr. Vopicka indignantly denied a story circulated in Europe and printed here that Mr. Sadler, American vice consul at Ploechti, assisted in the destruction of Roumanian oil properties on the approach of the Germans.

According to the minister instead of destroying properties Mr. Sadler has filed a large claim for compensation against the Roumanian government on account of the destruction carried out by the Roumanian and British authorities.

Ten Americans in Bucharest.

Mr. Vopicka said that there were about ten Americans left in Bucharest and that absolute order prevailed. He reported that the city was not damaged and had not been subjected to bombardment.

After the Germans entered they inaugurated their own administration without the slightest friction, he said, although a number of prominent persons were arrested. The majority of these were afterward released on the intercession of the American minister.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR

Sixteen Soldiers Killed, 40 Hurt, in French Wreck

PARIS, Jan. 17.—A train with British soldiers aboard returning from leave was wrecked tonight on a belt railroad owing to a broken coupling. Sixteen dead and forty injured already have been taken out of the wreckage.

JAPS KILLED ON REFUSAL TO SURRENDER

Rumored Big Loss of Life Renewed; Thirteen Americans Land.

Latest reports regarding the German raid on South Atlantic shipping leave the number of vessels destroyed in doubt.

Rio de Janeiro, the nearest large port to Pernambuco, where the first survivors landed, places the total at fifteen. London officially reports ten vessels sunk and two captured. Distant ports, such as Buenos Aires, placed the number at 23; New York's estimate is 24.

The last two estimates are based on scattered reports and may be greatly overestimated.

RIO JANEIRO, Jan. 17.—According to reports here the German raider which for a month past has been sinking vessels of the allied powers in the South Atlantic encountered a tartar when it took a Japanese ship.

The officers of the captured craft refused to surrender and they accordingly were shot.

Latest reports fix the number of vessels destroyed at fifteen. Survivors of the destroyed vessels to the number of 237 have been landed at Pernambuco.

A Pernambuco newspaper, the Jornal Pequano, prints a statement attributed to the purser of the British steamer Netherby Hall that the raider sank an English ship without warning and that 400 persons are believed to have lost their lives. This is unconfirmed.

Thirteen Americans are among the victims who have been landed at Pernambuco. The remaining number is made up of 170 Englishmen and 54 Frenchmen.

CLAIM BRUTAL TREATMENT.

According to telegraphic reports from Pernambuco the men landed from the ships sunk by the raider report that they were brutally treated.

The correspondent of the Jornal Do Brazil reports that sailors he interviewed claim to have been kept for two days without food.

The commander of the French steamer Nantes is said to have declared that the raider approached his ship under the British flag.

Another report says that twenty-two English sailors were compelled to work in the engine room of the raider.

The commander of the raider is said to have declared that he attacked only freighters and did not interfere with passenger boats.

According to unofficial information the raider has a crew of 250 men including four officers of the German navy.

RAIDER IS MOEWE?

Two hypotheses have been constructed from the details supplied by the crews of the sunken ships. One of these is that the vessel is the German auxiliary cruiser Vineta, but the one most generally held is that the raider is either the Moewe itself or a sister ship. Every detail in regard to the ship's construction seems to fit this latter supposition.

The exact position of the Hudson Maru when it lost sight of the raider on Jan. 10 was longitude 25.16 west, latitude 7 south.

VARIES FIRST REPORTS.

The first official statements given out here regarding the raider were to the effect that seven vessels had been sunk and nine captured.

In a communication to the minister of marine the captain of the port of Pernambuco declared that he had learned that the raider also had sunk eight of the vessels which were at first reported merely captured.

Another report has been received to the effect that the St. Theodore [one of the captured ships] has been transformed into a raider.

The chamber of commerce and consulates at Pernambuco are devoting much attention to the care of the shipwrecked crew.

BRITISH ADMIRALTY VERSION.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The admiralty report regarding the German sea raider in the South Atlantic follows:

For some time past it had been assumed that the following British and French merchant ships, which had long been overdue, had been sunk by

Gamblers Feel Heavy Hand of Police Raiders

Chief of Police Schuettler, of the opinion that gambling in its various forms is an unnecessary evil, yesterday began an attack on this form of vice, nine raids being made by two squads of detectives in automobiles. In four of the places visited by the raiders, the police made arrests, and in five others telephones were confiscated, and in two instances, crap tables were broken and burned.

"Mike de Pike" Heitler, who has been much in the limelight since State's Attorney Hoyne started his war on crooked policemen, was twice hit by the chief's men. They raided two alleged gambling houses he is said to own.

List of Places Raided.

The places raided were:

Cigar stores of Karr and Kennedy at 830 and 837 North Clark street; telephone wires cut and instruments taken away.

Get Heitler Second Time.

Connors' poolroom, basement of 607 North Clark street; two "crap" tables and telephone taken away.

In the afternoon Chief Schuettler called the raiding detectives into his office and instructed them to use two automobiles to visit places suspected of being gambling houses in all parts of the city and make arrests in the event that persons found in such resorts were suspected of being there for the purpose of gambling.

Woman Dies, Apparently Poisoned by Corn Cakes

Mrs. Margaret Hare of 2230 Prairie avenue, 68 years old, a widow, died in her home yesterday, apparently poisoned by eating corn cakes.

a German raider; British, Dramatist, Radnorshire, Minieh, Netherby Hall, Mount Temple, King George, Georgic, Voltaire; French, Nantes and Asnieres. Definite information has now been received from Pernambuco confirming this assumption.

On the evening of Monday the Japanese steamer Hudson Maru arrived off Pernambuco, having on board the masters and 237 men of the crews of some of the lost vessels, which were sunk on various dates between Dec. 32 and Jan. 12.

In addition the steamer St. Theodore was captured and a prize crew put on board, and the steamer Yarrowdale was captured and sent away with about 400 men, the crews of others of the sunk vessels who were to be landed. No further news has been received of their whereabouts.

SAY VICTIMS TOTAL 24.

New York, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Reports from all sources, up until a late hour tonight, named twenty-four vessels as having been caught in the net of the German commerce raider.

Estimates made this afternoon by steamship brokers on the value of the vessels sunk varied from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. The value of the cargoes was estimated at from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

RUMORS RAIDER SUNK.

Insurance rates to the West Indies and South American ports jumped on the first news of the raid on commerce. The growing number of vessels reported sunk as the cables from Brazil and London poured in at the steamship and insurance offices created more excitement than has followed any previous raid.

One persistent rumor that went the rounds was that the German raider had been sunk or captured. Credence was given to it by some when advices came from the London underwriters that the rates "would probably improve short-

Many steamship men were inclined to the belief that the Germans have sent submarines far out on the Atlantic and that more than one raider is at large.

NO WARNING ORDERS.

No special orders were issued to commanders of belligerent vessels in port. In fact, the only sailings of belligerent steamers during the day were that of the Booth Steamship company's Gregory, under the British flag, for Norfolk; the British Rembrandt, for Manchester, England, and the British Thurland Castle, for Vladivostok, by way of Wilmington, Del. All three are freighters.

Tonight the French liner Chicago lay at its pier in the North river. It was scheduled to sail at 3 p. m. The passengers were told that it had been delayed by coal deliveries and would sail early tomorrow morning. It had 120 passengers, many of them soldiers returning to the front from furloughs.

Many Ships in Peril Zone.

More than a score of steamers trading between New York and South American ports were reported today as being in or approaching the zone of operations of the German sea raider in the south Atlantic. There are three liners, carrying almost 500 passengers, including many Americans, on the border of the danger zone.

The names of the three passenger carrying vessels now in the danger zone follow:

| Vessel. | Line. | Flag. |
|---|---|---|
| Vauban | Lamp't & Holt. | British |
| Saga | Commercial .... | Swedish |
| Minas Geraes | Lloyd Brazil'ro | Brazilian |

Of these the Vauban carries the most passengers, with a list of 250 persons.

Many Freighters Also.

| Ship— | Tonnage. | Flag. |
|---|---|---|
| Trinidad | 2,900 | British |
| Eastern Prince | 2,900 | British |
| French Prince | 4,800 | British |
| Chilean | 6,600 | American |
| Stephen | 4,400 | British |
| Sergipe | 1,800 | Brazilian |
| Tupajoz | 3,600 | Brazilian |
| Chester Hall | 4,300 | American |
| Honorius | 3,500 | British |
| Hortentius | 3,500 | British |
| Crofton Hall | 5,800 | American |
| Montanan | 6,650 | American |

Peril to 63 Americans.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 17.—The British consul general here said today that at least sixty-three Americans were aboard the steamers Georgic and King George. Sixty of the Americans were aboard the Georgic, having shipped as horsemen, foremen, or assistant foremen. Most of them came from New York. Among those aboard were Dr. J. E. Davis, a surgeon of New York, and Dr. O. E. McKim, Watertown, N. Y., veterinarian.

Loss of Cargoes Severe Blow.

LONDON, Jan. 18, 3 a. m.—No definite news of the operations of the German raider in the south Atlantic is published here this morning. Anxiety is expressed over the fate of cargoes of grain and meat from Argentina and steel from the United States. It is admitted that the loss of such cargoes may be severly felt coming on top of the depredations of the submarines.

Location of the Raiders.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 17.—Wireless warnings picked up here today said the German sea raider which has played havoc with allied shipping was reported 1,500 miles south of Cape Henry, apparently working northward to more frequented lanes of travel. Warnings sent out last night said the German craft was off Pernambuco, Brazil, last Friday.

The warning, believed to have come from a British cruiser, also said reports had been received that a submarine of undetermined nationality had been sighted 700 miles east of the Virginia Capes.

British agents here said British warships had received such accurate information of the location of one of the German raiders as to warrant the statement that a chase was in progress and that the capture or destruction of the vessels would be made known in a few days.

OFFICIAL REPORTS FROM WORLD'S BATTLE FRONTS

FRENCH FRONT

BRITISH

LONDON, Jan. 18, 1 a. m.—After a heavy preliminary bombardment Wednesday morning we occupied a line of enemy posts north of Beaucourt-Sur-Ancre. The whole of our objectives were gained on a frontage of some 600 yards, with few casualties. The position gained considerably improved our situation in this area.

An enemy counter attack was broken up with heavy loss by our artillery barrage. The consolidation of the new position is proceeding.

We had complete success in the neighborhood of Lens. The German positions south of Cit Calonne, west of Lens, were entered under cover of a heavy bombardment. Our troops reached the enemy's support line and bombed and destroyed dugouts and inflicted many casualties. Our losses were small. We successfully blew a mine in connection with this operation.

Another very successful daylight raid was carried out by Canadian troops northeast of Cit Calonne. The attacking parties entered the enemy's trenches on a front of 700 yards and penetrated to a depth of 300 yards, as far as his second line. Here heavy losses were inflicted on the enemy and all his dugouts were completely wrecked. Our artillery and machine guns coöperated very effectively with the infantry. Our casualties were slight.

FRENCH

PARIS, Jan. 17.—The activity of the artillery and trench guns was normal along the whole front.

In the region of the Somme we repulsed detachments of the enemy who were endeavoring to penetrate our lines east of Clery and south of Biaches. This followed the bombardment reported yesterday.

At Les Eparges, after the explosion of a mine, German forces delivered a minor attack, but this was repulsed after spirited hand to hand fighting.

GERMAN

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—Army group of Crown Prince Rupprecht—At several points on the front the artillery duels increased in intensity. In the Ypres salient a hostile enterprise was stifled by our batteries. Our own patrol enterprises were successful near Le Sars, Gueudecourt, and west of Peronne.

Army group of the German crown prince—After an opportune mine explosion on Combres heights, the Hanover infantry pioneers made their way into a hostile position and returned with several prisoners after defeating the trench garrison.

ROUMANIAN FRONT

GERMAN

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—Front of Archduke Joseph—In the eastern Carpathians raiding detachments of German rifles near Coman, north of the Golden Bystritza, took several Russians prisoners and one machine gun from hostile trenches.

Between the Kasino and Suchitza valleys the Russians and Roumanians continued their violent attacks with strong masses against the height positions taken from them during recent engagements. At one peak they succeeded in gaining a footing. At all other places they were sanguinarily repulsed, suffering great losses.

Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen—In the swampy lowlands between Braila and Galatz advance Turkish posts near Vadeni were withdrawn, according to command, to the main line of interception, before numerically superior hostile forces. Russian detachments advancing against Labortea were forced to halt by our artillery fire.

RUSSIAN

PETROGRAD, Jan. 17.—Our detachments, after artillery preparation, gained by storm the village of Vadeni, southwest of Galatz. The enemy, having received reinforcements and assisted by an artillery drum fire, took the offensive with the object of regaining the village. His dense formations, which came under our concentrated fire, suffered great losses and failed to reach our trenches.

Our detachments, by a night attack, succeeded in driving the Germans out of Gerleschi, southwest of the mouth of the River Rimnik, capturing two machine guns, but as the result of a counter attack by superior enemy forces we were obliged to withdraw from the captured village. German attacks southeast of Gerleschi were checked by our fire.

In the region of the Bystritza-Kimpolung railway the enemy undertook an offensive against our positions north of Height 4,285, but as the result of our fire was thrown back.

The enemy attacked the Roumanians southwest of Pralta, south of the confluence of the Rivers Kasino and Tretus, but by a counter attack was beaten back in disorder.

THE PUZZLING SITUATION IN GREECE

1—The German general, Von Falkenhayn, has arrived in Larissa and Elasona after a submarine or airship trip from the captured port of Kavala. His presence near the center of the massing point of large Greek forces has mystified Great Britain just at the moment of King Constantine's avowed submission to all the demands of the entente.

2—The Greek troops have given the allies further alarm by reported movements north beyond the "deadline" extending west from Ekaterina, despite an agreement to withdraw south to Peloponnesus.

3—The allied troops at Saloniki are keeping their eyes doubly open, fearful of an attack from the south by the Grecian troops.

4—A commission, including British and Italian military authorities, is forming in Athens "to oversee the agreed transfer of Greek troops into Peloponnesus."

RUSSIAN FRONT

RUSSIAN

PETROGRAD, Jan. 17.—The enemy is conducting an intense infantry fire in the region of the Zborow-Zloehoff railway and south of Augustostka.

One of our companies, which was working south of the village of Janitza, on the river Bystritza, was exposed to the enemy's fire. The shells, which fell behind us, did not cause any damage, and the enemy's fire was soon stopped.

GERMAN

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—Eastern front—Front of Prince Leopold: Violent artillery fire was followed in the afternoon by Russian attacks upon our positions south of Smorgon, which were repulsed. The enemy, who had penetrated on a narrow front, was driven back, leaving the position completely in our hands. The battlefield is covered with the bodies of numerous Russians killed.

During the night reconnoitering and raiding detachments which advanced at several points upon our lines were repulsed.

ITALIAN FRONT

ITALIAN

ROME, Jan. 17.—Artillery operations again were interrupted yesterday along the whole front by persistent bad weather. On the Carso our patrols showed some activity, bombing the enemy's trenches and taking some prisoners.

AVIATION

GERMAN

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—Although unfavorable weather conditions limited considerably the activity of the air men during the month of December, our airmen and our defense formations succeeded in inflicting considerable losses upon the enemy. We lost seventeen airplanes; our adversaries lost sixty-six airplanes, of which forty-eight were lost in aerial engagements, sixteen being shot down from the ground and two by involuntary landing. Of these machines twenty-two are in our possession. Beyond the lines the fall of forty-four airplanes was observed.

BRITISH URGE WORLD LEAGUE TO KEEP PEACE

New Note Insists That Germany Be Stripped of Power as the First Move.

erations regarded by statesmen of world-wide authority as essential to the maintenance of European peace. Why, is it asked, should the cause of peace be now associated with a complete reversal of this traditional policy? The answer is that circumstances have completely changed.

"The Turkey of 'union and progress' is as barbarous and far more aggressive than the Turkey of Sultan Abdul Hamid. In the hands of Germany it is openly used as an instrument of conquest. Under German officers Turkish soldiers are fighting in lands from which they had long been expelled, and a Turkish government, controlled, subsidized, and supported by Germany, has been guilty of massacres in Armenia and Syria more horrible than any recorded in the history even of those unhappy countries.

"Evidently the interests of peace require that Turkish rule over alien races shall be brought to an end; and we may hope that the expulsion of Turkey from Europe will contribute as much to the cause of peace as the restoration of Alsace-Lorraine to France, or Italia Irredenta to Italy, or any of the other territorial changes indicated in the allied note.

Must Change Methods.

"Evidently, however, such territorial rearrangements, though they may diminish the occasions of war, provide no sufficient security against its recurrence. If Germany, or rather those in Germany who mold its opinions and control its destinies, again set out to domineer the world, they may find that, by the new order of things, the adventure is made more difficult, but hardly that it is made impossible.

"They may still have ready to their hand a political system organized on a military basis; they may still accumulate vast stores of military equipment; they may still persist in their methods of attack, so that their more pacific neighbors will be struck down before they can prepare themselves for defense. If so, the hopes for the future of the world entertained by the president will be as far as ever from fulfillment.

Says Berlin Glorifies War.

"There are those who think that, for this disease, international treaties and international laws may provide a sufficient cure. But such persons have ill learned the lessons so clearly taught by recent history. While other nations, notably the United States of America and Britain, were striving by treaties of arbitration to make sure that no chance quarrel should mar the peace they desired to make perpetual, Germany stood aloof.

"Her historians and philosophers preached the splendors of war; power was proclaimed as the true end of the state, and the general staff forged with untiring industry the weapons by which at the appointed moment power might be achieved.

"So long as Germany remains the Germany which, without a shadow of justification, overran and barbarously ill treated a country it was pledged to defend, no state can regard its rights as secure if they have no better protection than a solemn treaty.

Belgium an Example.

"The case is made worse by the reflection that these methods of calculated brutality were designed by the central powers not merely to crush to the dust those with whom they were at war but to intimidate those with whom they were still at peace. Belgium was not only a victim; it was an example. Neutrals were intended to note the outrages which accompanied its conquest, the reign of terror which followed on its occupation, the deportation of a portion of its population, the cruel oppression of the remainder.

"And lest the nations happily protected either by British fleets or by their own from German armies should suppose themselves safe from German methods, the submarine has [within its limits] assiduously imitated the barbarous practices of the sister service. The war staffs of the central powers are well content to horrify the world if at the same time they can terrorize it.

"If, then, the central powers succeed, it will be to methods like these that they will owe their success. How can any reform of international relations be based on a peace thus obtained? Such a peace would represent the triumph of all the forces which make war certain and make it brutal. It would advertise the futility of all the methods on which civilization relies to eliminate the occasions of international dispute and to mitigate their ferocity.

Disclaims Blame for War.

"Germany and Austria made the present war inevitable by attacking the rights of one small state, and they gained their initial triumphs by violating the treaty guarantees of the territories of another. Are small states going to find in them their future protectors or in treaties made by them a bulwark against aggression? Terrorism by land and sea will have proved itself the instrument of victory.

"Are the victors likely to abandon it on the appeal of neutrals? If existing treaties are no more than scraps of paper, can fresh treaties help us? If the violation of the most fundamental canons of international law be crowned with success, will it not be in vain that the assembled nations labor to improve their code? None will profit by their rules but powers who break them. It is those who keep them that will suffer.

"Though, therefore, the people of this country share to the full the desire of the president for peace, they do not believe peace can be durable if it be not based on the success of the allied cause. For a durable peace can hardly be expected unless three conditions are fulfilled.

Three Peace Conditions.

"The first is that existing causes of international unrest should be as far as possible removed or weakened.

"The second is that the aggressive aims and the unscrupulous methods of the central powers should fall into disrepute among their own peoples.

"The third is that behind international law and behind all treaty arrangements for preventing or limiting hostilities some form of international sanction should be devised which would give pause to the hardiest aggressor.

"These conditions may be difficult of fulfillment. But we believe them to be in general harmony with the president's ideas, and we are confident that none of them can be satisfied, even imperfectly, unless peace be secured on the general lines indicated (so far as Europe is concerned) in the joint note.

"Therefore it is that this country has made, is making, and is prepared to make sacrifices of blood and treasure unparalleled in its history. It bears these heavy burdens not merely that it may thus fulfill its treaty obligations, nor yet that it may secure a barren triumph of one group of nations over another.

"It bears them because it firmly believes that on the success of the allies depend the prospects of peaceful civilization, and of those international reforms which the best thinkers of the new world as of the old dare to hope may follow on the cessation of our present calamities."

Aid to Wilson Appeal.

Great Britain's note was entirely unexpected by officials here, but was gratifying because they interpreted it as a step toward the world federation to preserve peace which President Wilson, both in his speeches and in his peace note, has pledged the United States.

AMERICAN NAVY TO HAVE SHELLS 'ENGLISH MADE'

British Concern Gets Contract for $3,140,000—Makers of U. S. Too High.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—Contracts for armor piercing navy projectiles of the fourteen and sixteen inch type totalling $3,141,000 today were awarded by Secretary Daniels to the Hadfields Limited, the English munition company.

Bids from American firms were more than $200 a shell in excess of the bid submitted by Hadfields. In announcing the award Secretary Daniels said the department had made every effort to secure reductions in prices which would enable it to give a contract to an American concern, but had failed to obtain satisfactory bids.

Shipbuilders Submit Case.

The five big shipbuilding companies with whom the navy department has negotiated unsuccessfully for construction of battle cruisers laid their side of the controversy before the house naval committee today and declared that whether the vessels were built at private or navy plants the $16,000,000 limit of cost set by congress eventually would have to be increased.

Because the private builders would not promise construction within the authorized limit, Secretary Daniels has asked for an appropriation of $12,000,000 to equip navy yards for the work. Representatives of the companies argued today that such a step would not be in the public interest, pointing out that two private concerns, the Fore River and Union Iron companies, had offered to build the vessels at any price the federal trade commission considered fair.

Naval Extensions Submitted.

Retention of all existing navy yards, establishment of submarine bases on the Atlantic, gulf and Pacific coasts, and a thorough aeronautical survey of the coast of the United States and its possessions were recommended to congress today in a preliminary report by a special commission of naval officers appointed by President Wilson.

ENTENTE FORCES GREECE TO BOW

ATHENS, Jan. 15, via London, Jan. 18.—[Delayed.]—Sir F. E. H. Elliot, the British minister, today established the first direct contact between the ministers of the powers, guarantors of Greece, and the Greek government since the delivery of the entente ultimatum Dec. 14 by coming to Athens this morning and holding a lengthy conference with Premier Lambros.

The minister made it clear to the premier that the entente was not obliged to accept any modification in the clauses of the ultimatum on Jan. 8, referring to the release of followers of former Premier Venizelos, the minister insisted that all charges against the latter be dismissed, maintaining that their release on bail would be insufficient.

The government is preparing a categorical acceptance of the demands. Meanwhile the transfer of Greek troops from Thessaly, which, according to the ultimatum, must be completed by Jan. 23, is proceeding rapidly.

TAGORE LEAVES "DARING, CRUDE" AMERICA BEHIND

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 17.—Sir Rabindranath Tagore, winner of the Nobel prize for poetry, sailed for India from here today after a tour of the United States which he said he found unpleasant.

"America has the daring and inexperience of youth," he said. "She is like a 4 year old child just beginning to ask questions.

"I have found much impoliteness and crudeness. Why do Americans laugh at me because I wear my country's clothes? Much of the time I had to stay in my room and take my meals there to avoid the staring, whispering, and laughing.

"In Japan nobody laughed.

"If you encouraged various modes of dress your country would be more picturesque. Do not try to Americanize every alien.

"Your women have more leisure than any women in the world. They could use it well in study and improvement. Do they?

"On your soil will be the greatest nation of the world."

RAILROAD HEADS SUMMONED IN CITY COAL CRISIS

Presidents of All the Chicago Roads Called Before the State Commission.

Presidents of all the railroads centering in Chicago were summoned yesterday to meet this morning at 10 o'clock before the state public utilities commission in the Insurance Exchange building, where the commission has been in session for several days investigating the coal shortage in Chicago.

The commission purposes going thoroughly with the presidents into the problem which has brought the city face to face with a coal famine.

The rail heads will be asked the causes of the unusual situation. They will be asked to explain the extent to which their yards are congested with undelivered coal cars and to offer opinions and advice for the relief of the fuel crisis.

Mayor Also Acts.

Mayor Thompson also took action which may be expected to bring relief ultimately, but that at the expense of all freight traffic except coal, oil, and perishable goods.

Acting on a suggestion by C. G. Burnham, traffic director of the Burlington railroad, the mayor sent a letter to the railroad executives requesting that they place a seven day embargo on all freight movements into Chicago except fuel and perishable goods. A drastic embargo of this kind was put into effect by the Burlington road last night.

Traffic officials of the roads held a joint conference with the dealers in the mayor's office in the afternoon. Disclosures at the meeting showed that a network of embargoes overspread the terminals here and that coal is being transferred from one road to another only as these are lifted.

Many officials asserted that the tieup is due not to their inability to handle their coal traffic but to that of switching companies or connecting roads to receive the shipments. Some of the roads are switching their cars two and three times in the effort to find a loophole through which they ultimately can be delivered to consignees.

Need for Coal Grows.

Meanwhile, the need for coal throughout the city increased, and retail dealers made almost superhuman efforts to relieve the straits of their customers. Only soft coal was to be had, and a thick cloud of smoke and soot spread over the city. The city smoke inspection bureau declared that it would not make prosecutions for smoking chimneys because of the fuel situation.

"I suggest that all railroads consider the advisability of at once taking an embargo against the loading on their lines or receipt from connecting lines, of any freight destined to Chicago or beyond other than coal, live stock, and perishable freight," said Mayor Thompson in his letter to the railway executives. "I suggest that this be done for a period of one week, as in that time relief given the terminal lines probably will enable them to clean up accumulations here and avoid a repetition of the present deplorable conditions."

U. S. Agents Busy.

Agents of the federal trade commission reached here in the forenoon and went into conference with Hinton G. Clabaugh, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice. While acting independently of the department, the commission's representatives were given access to the data which investigators for Mr. Clabaugh have collected this week. The purpose of the agents here was not announced.

The public utilities commission did not receive reports from the railroads showing the total number of loaded coal cars in terminals here, and the causes for nondelivery, as it was announced they would do. Instead, the commission continued its hearings on the proposed order affecting reconsignment charges on coal.

Urgent Messages Sent.

Despite urgent messages from Chicagoans praying for action, the interstate commerce commission failed to take any steps looking for relief. The general order on the car shortage situation, which was expected, failed to materialize, and may be held up for some time.

Members of the commission said they realized the gravity of the Chicago crisis, but, when asked what they intended to do about it turned to some other topic of conversation.

As far as could be learned at Washington, the only hope for relief rests in the railroads themselves.

Officers of the American Railway association said that the branch office here had full power to act to relieve matters. This power, it was admitted, extends only to the railroads, and other relief measures must be taken by some other organization—the interstate commerce commission, for instance.

Burlington Embargo.

Under its embargo the Burlington road will accept freight for Chicago only for delivery on its own tracks. It will not accept freight on its own lines or from connecting lines, for delivery to any switching company or other road at points this side of Aurora.

"Somebody is getting coal here, because we are bringing it in by trainloads," asserted Mr. Burnham to the mayor. "During this month we have brought 9,945 loaded cars into Chicago, an increase of 20 per cent over the same period last year."

Intimations were made that dealers who are keeping cars loaded for the purpose of boosting prices will be denied new shipments.

The Wabash railroad is holding 200 cars here for delivery to connecting lines which won't take them.

The Erie railroad has a general embargo on all freight into Chicago except coal. One of the troubles encountered by this road is that many retail dealers have switch facilities for only one car at a time, and buy from six to twelve at once.

Alton Has 440 Cars.

The Chicago and Alton road had 440 cars on hand for connecting lines and 160 for reconsignment. They were able to deliver coal to connecting roads only when turned over in solid train loads.

Empty coal cars were moved out of the city by some of the roads in preference to box cars loaded with other freight. This particularly was true of the Erie road.

EVERY ONE SAID HER HUSBAND WAS DROWNED

On July 25, 1915, the clothing of Carl W. Overhulzer was found on the beach at Santa Monica, Cal. He was mourned as dead by his wife, Mrs. Essie Overhulzer, and her small son.

As time went on Mrs. Overhulzer became possessed of a premonition that she would see her husband again. She communicated this to her friends, but they sadly shook their heads. Before long poverty began to press upon the wife, who was compelled to support herself and her son Charles.

Sues for Divorce.

Then she sought the advice of Harry Polglace, an attorney of Los Angeles. He advised her that as long as there was any doubt in her mind and as long as her husband did not appear to support her, she had best begin an action for divorce.

This was done, and notice was served on the "dead" man by publication. There was no answer to the published notice of the divorce suit and the matter went to trial, where a default was taken.

To make sure that the missing Overhulzer was advised of her action, Mrs. Overhulzer caused an advertisement to be published both in the far west and in THE TRIBUNE. In a few days Mrs. Overhulzer was almost overcome when she received a letter in her husband's writing. There was no address.

Posted in Council Bluffs.

The letter explained that the writer was alive and should not be regarded as an object of concern. The postmark was that of Council Bluffs. It was believed that Overhulzer read THE TRIBUNE want ad near Chicago and dropped a letter in Council Bluffs in making a change of residence.

"If you want to communicate with me," read the letter, "insert an ad in THE TRIBUNE Jan. 17, 1917."

In yesterday's TRIBUNE there appeared this want ad:

PERSONAL—CARL: FILED ACTION FOR divorce; ground desertion; service by publication before receipt letter; time for appearance has expired; your default not entered; will leave open ten days from this date; you may appear any time; action No. B-42,826 Superior court, Los Angeles county. Will you help support Charles; need badly. Where can I write you? ESSIE.

There's the Answer.

There is the answer, Carl. You have ten days in which to hurry back to Los Angeles and revive yourself. You will find Essie and Charles glad to see you, and there is a big chance the action entitled B-42,826 will be expunged from the records.

P. S.—In case you haven't a new suit, the old one has been all pressed and cleaned for you.

Shoe Prices Will Remain High and Perhaps Go Up

New York, Jan. 17.—No relief in the high price of shoes can be looked for this year, it was declared here today by John S. Kent of the Packard Shoe company, Brockton, Mass., before a convention of the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' association, of which he is president. Reduction in hours of labor and increases in wages will advance materially the cost, he said.

POPE APPEALS FOR BELGIANS

LONDON, Jan. 17.—With a view to preventing further Belgian deportations and bringing about the repatriation of those already sent to Germany, Pope Benedict has made representation to the imperial government, according to a letter from Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, to Cardinal Mercier, primate of Belgium, which has been given out here.

The pontiff has also directed Cardinal Mercier to do all in his power to alleviate the sufferings of the Belgians and the cardinal has instructed the priests to defend the interests of civilians and provide material comforts to the families of the deported men.

Large Estate Left by Former Chicago Resident

Laporte, Ind., Jan. 17.—An inventory of the personal property left by Charles W. Hotchkiss, Chicago, New York, and Indiana capitalist, was filed today in the Laporte Circuit court, showing a total of $308,239.83, consisting of nearly $100,000 in cash and the remainder in stocks and bonds.

His heaviest holdings were in the Eastern Indiana company, the Rail Joint company of New York, and the United States Steel corporation. The real estate is listed but not appraised, but it is understood its value will exceed $100,000.

The property is placed in trust, with W. J. Riley of East Chicago, Ind., as trustee, the chief beneficiary of the trust being the widow.

JUSTICES PASS LIE IN COURT

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—The lie was passed between justices of the North Dakota Supreme court today, when Chief Justice A. A. Bruce, assuring attorneys arguing before the court that the court was not given over to the practice of deciding cases prior to their final submission, also took Justice J. E. Robinson to task.

"Cases," Justice Bruce said, "are decided in the Supreme court, and not in hotel lobbies," the chief justice having reference to an interview given several days ago by Justice Robinson, declaring the Nonpartisan Political league's proposal to establish a new state constitution illegal.

Justice Robinson insisted that in the case before the court a "travesty upon justice" had been perpetrated. Justice Bruce then insisted that the court should hear the case finally submitted, and Justice Robinson's reply brought the charge from Bruce that Robinson had in two instances recently presented decisions to the court in cases that had not been submitted.

"That is an untruth," Justice Robinson said, but further hostilities were averted when other justices interfered.

DISRESPECT TO WILSON HISSED

New York, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Lawrence Grossmith, English comedian, was hissed tonight in the Shubert theater after singing a stanza of a topical song which coupled President ...son's name with "pence leak."

In the third stanza Mr. Grossmith referred to the president as "Woodrow" and sang about secret news, advance news, and "pelf." This seemed to displease most of the audience. It provoked continued hissing in various parts of the theater.

Sazonoff Named Russian Envoy to Britain, Report

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Reuter's Petrograd correspondent says it is reported in the Russian capital that Sergius Sazonoff, former foreign minister, has been appointed Russian ambassador to Great Britain.

TENANTS SHIFT FOR SELVES WHEN JANITORS QUIT

Rising Temperature Relieves Acute Suffering of Women and Children.

Oil stoves and gas ranges were put into service in apartment buildings affected by the janitors' strike yesterday as a means of protecting families from the cold. Warmer temperature during the afternoon reduced the suffering among women and children.

The strike became effective early in the morning, when 1,200 janitors, it was estimated, banked the fires under their furnaces and joined the walkout. The only instance of violence during the day was at 2747 Hamilton court, where steam pipes exploded after water had been drained from the boilers. Several families were driven from their apartments.

Schuettler Details Men.

Chief of Police Schuettler took steps to prevent clashes by stationing policemen at many of the buildings affected.

Officials of the janitors' union remained firm in their demands for an increase in wages, which the property owners refused to grant.

Neither side made overtures for a settlement after the strike was called. Officials of the janitors' union stood firm in their demand for increased wages, which the property owners refused to consider. The only steps known to have been taken by the owners were found in newspaper advertisements asking for men to take the place of the strikers.

William F. Quesse, president of the union, said agreements covering the wage increase asked were made with some of the property owners after the walkout. He expressed the belief that other agreements would be entered into today.

Renting Agents Troubled.

Chilly apartments caused the telephones of rental agents to tingle throughout the day. Irate lessees whose contracts call for heat during the winter months insisted on this clause being fulfilled, notwithstanding the strike.

Mrs. Elwin H. Kidder of 4621 Woodlawn avenue took matters in her own hands by going to the basement and replenishing the fuel under the boilers. Eighteen families in the building escaped discomfort because of her efforts.

HIGH OFFICIALS IN RUSSIA CLASH

PETROGRAD, via London, Jan. 17.—A dramatic clash between M. Protopopoff, minister of the interior, and M. Rodzianko, president of the duma, is described by the Novoe Vremya. According to this story, M. Protopopoff approached M. Rodzianko during the New Year's reception at the Tarskoe Selo and offered his hand in a conciliatory way. The head of the duma turned away with a curt "never."

The friends of the minister of the interior say a duel is inevitable, but M. Rodzianko has not received a challenge.

U. S. Assumes Sovereignty Over Danish West Indies

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—The Danish West Indies passed today under the sovereignty of the United States. Negotiations continued for over half a century came to a conclusion with the exchange of ratifications of the treaty of cession by Secretary Lansing and Danish Minister Brun. Formal transfer of the islands, with the raising of the American flag, will take place as soon as the $25,000,000 purchase price is paid over, some time within the next ninety days.

BELGIUM GRATEFUL

Thanks of King Albert Conveyed to Americans Who Signed Declaration of Sympathy to Nation.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 17.—The thanks of King Albert of Belgium for the expression of sympathy for his country which was embodied in a recently published paper known as the "address to the people of the allied nations," signed by 500 American citizens, is contained in a letter made public today from Count F. de Jehay, chief of the king's cabinet, to Dr. Morton Prince of this city, one of the signers.

"Belgium," Count Jehay wrote, "owes much to America. Since the beginning of this frightful war the United States has taken an interest in a people cruelly tried for having done only what it believed to be its duty. The Belgians know that without the inexhaustible, well planned, and efficient American generosity their lot, already so terrible, would have been still more unhappy.

"But the solicitude of your noble country was not confined to material help. Lovers of equity and justice, the citizens of free America have wished to proclaim the judgment dictated by their conscience, to affirm that the cause of Belgium was the cause of right and civilization.

"This impartial and disinterested testimony is the most precious and the most comforting tribute which Belgians could desire. And this tribute could not be expressed in better terms than those of such convincing moderation employed in the 'address to the people of the allied nations.'

"I am instructed to request you to be the bearer of his majesty's sincere thanks to all the signatories of the address, assuring them of the value which the king attaches to a manifesto of such great moral and intellectual weight."

BERLIN ORDERS REPRISALS ON THEIR CAPTIVES

BERLIN, Tuesday, Jan. 16, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y., Jan. 17.—The following official statement was issued today:

"The recent unworthy treatment and lodging of German prisoners in the firing zone of the French district of operations was recently pointed out and at the same time it was made known that the government had taken measures to remedy this intolerable state of affairs.

"As the French government had not answered at the end of the time set—Jan. 15, 1917—it is announced that the reprisals will now be carried out. These reprisals will continue until the German requests are complied with by the French government."

ENDS GERMAN PEACE PARTY

BERLIN, Tuesday, Jan. 16, via London, Jan. 17.—Time enough having elapsed since the publication of the ententes' reply to President Wilson to permit German opinion to crystallize, the effects of the announcement of terms which the entente allies regard as a necessary result of the war are clearly evident.

In the first place the pronunciamento of the allies, together with earlier interchanges of opinion on the peace proposals, may be regarded as having virtually eliminated the peace party in Germany except for a small minority of Socialists, some of whose newspaper organs still see the possibility of continuing the discussions after the entente's reply.

'LEAK' EVIDENCE HALTED; COUNSEL WILL SEEK FACTS

Rules Committee Given Thirty Days Longer to Report on Result of Inquiry.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—Empowered to employ counsel and expert stock exchange accountants, and given thirty days longer to report, the house rules committee today temporarily halted its peace note leak hearings to consider what lawyer shall be sought to direct the broadening inquiry.

It was announced that there would be no public session tomorrow, and probably no other testimony will be heard until the new plans have been perfected and counsel familiarized with the situation.

In the meantime the prominent financiers and bankers summoned as witnesses probably will be permitted to return home to await a further call.

Action by the house in granting counsel followed statements on the floor by Democratic members of the committee that they already were embarrassed as investigators in view of the dragging in of names of high government officials.

Chairman Henry Is Absent.

Deliberations in the house and in the committee were conducted in the absence of Chairman Henry, whose veracity regarding his confidential conference with Thomas W. Lawson was challenged yesterday by the Boston financier. Representative Pou acted as chairman.

There was an hour's discussion in the house when the committee presented its resolution providing for the employment of counsel and extension of time. Representative Howard of Georgia promptly opposed the plan, saying he understood Samuel Untermyer of New York was to be retained. Representative Moore of Pennsylvania suggested the name of Charles Evans Hughes.

Mann Bars Hughes and Untermyer.

"I am convinced," Republican Leader Mann said, "that the employment of either Samuel Untermyer or Mr. Hughes would be an act of such gross impropriety that it would not be considered for a moment by the committee."

Late tonight the Democrats of the committee adjourned their conference until tomorrow without reaching any conclusion. It is understood that they talked over the qualifications of a half dozen noted lawyers and the possibility of getting their services. There are intimations that some of the men under consideration do not care to take the job.

Representative Focht of Pennsylvania, Republican, assailed the inquiry as a "colossal farce," denounced Lawson as a Wall street tout, and declared congress ought to wash its hands of the whole affair and "throw out the evidence as worthless, damaged goods."

COMEDY KEEPS FRENCH SOLDIER IN HAPPY TUNE

Social Life in the Trenches Beats Clubs for Spice and Interest.

BY ROBERT HERRICK.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—The French can always laugh at themselves, see their life under the illumination of irony. That, probably, has given them the courage to stand the squalid trench war.

A farce which has been running at the Palais Royal for many weeks gives an amusing and truthful picture of some sides of this abnormal army life. It is called "La Marraine et Son Filleul" (which means pretty much "The Lady and Her Adopted Son"). It is built on the humors of the fashionable custom of adopting some lonely soldier by the comfortable and idle woman in the rear.

The Run of the Story.

In this case the lady is married to an "embusqué," that is, a young man who has contrived to get into the "auxiliary service" and safely drives a government official's motor in Paris instead of doing his "bit" in the trenches. His wife is not pleased with his prudence and when her adopted son of the trenches presents himself at her house for his five days of leave she installs him in the best guest room, embraces him altogether too affectionately for such a recent acquaintance—and all the rest of it.

But not quite all, because, as the program carefully points out, although there are three possible combinations of sin inthe piece, nothing really happens, and all is explained morally in the end. I will not further expose the play, which probably will reach Chicago one of these days as a musical comedy.

Following the Impostor.

Of course, the graceful poilu who wins his "godmother's" affections is an impostor, a gay young architect who has borrowed a comrade's papers and "marraine" in order to enjoy himself in Paris. After complications to order the real poilu, who is by profession the regimental cook, turns up to get back his papers, without which he is liable to arrest, and there begins the fun.

The real Brichot, as he is named, is a true son of the trenches, shrewd, humorous, crude, and simple. He does not care for Paris. After a day and a night of the metropolis, all he wants is to recover his papers and return as soon as possible to his companions of the trenches.

As he explains when he is asked why he does not like the cafés, "There's no conversation here. In the trenches I have for comrades a duke, a big business man, a shopkeeper, etc. . . . There's lots of talk in the trenches; but here there's no conversation."

And having got back his precious identity book, without which a man is lost in Europe these days, he goes away to his trench shaking his head and muttering: "No good talk here, 'pas de conversation!'"

Social Life Attractive.

The "cuistot" (cook) touches lightly on a large matter. It is perfectly true that the trench has been a school of liberal education to many a simple French lad. In spite of dangers and constant labors, there has been ample opportunity for the exchange of ideas in the long hours of enforced idleness. With the extremely mixed character of conscripts, every regiment having all the talents, as an officer once said to me, the social life must be more stimulating than that of any labor union or rich man's club.

You may well believe that the poilus talk politics and have very positive convictions on the way their government is conducting this war, although they are not permitted to express their views in print. But the time is coming when they no longer will be muzzled by military regulations. Many a French politician must wonder what is going to happen to him when the poilu gets back—also those young gentlemen now driving motors for staff officers in Paris!

Of Trench Politics.

"For as a French soldier said to me—one who had volunteered at the start, although he had five children and was past the military age—"There is trench politics, a trench opinion on all these matters. And one day France will hear from it, you may be sure!" So the trenches are giving Frenchmen something more than boredom, death, wounds, or good health. It is giving him a political education of the finest sort. From the army will in all likelihood emerge a definite series of convictions on a number of fundamental questions which the politicians now play with. For one, the soldiers are not for the making of wars in any one of the belligerent countries; this one, to the finish "because it has to be," but never again.

Any flamboyant orator or smooth diplomat who undertakes to play the old game for a generation is likely to get short shrift. After the war a wholesome wind from the trenches will blow through the governments of Europe.

Michigan Avenue Case Up.

Presentation of evidence and data in the Michigan avenue widening hearing before Judge Fond in the County court was resumed yesterday by attorneys for the city.

BORDER VICTIM

Joseph Doubek, a Chicagoan, Who Was Murdered While Doing Duty During the Mexican Crisis, Will Be Buried Today.

Joseph Doubek

The funeral of Joseph Doubek, a private in the Thirty-seventh infantry, United States regular army, will be held today from the undertaking rooms of Charles Kriz, 4316 West Thirty-first street. Doubek, who was sent down to the border when the Mexican crisis arose, was attacked on the night of Jan. 9 while off duty by a man with a knife and killed. His assailant, who was caught later, is in jail at San Antonio waiting trial on the charge of murder. According to the captain of the company, Doubek, with some of his comrades, was returning to camp when he was attacked without warning.

Doubek had been serving in the regular army for three years and was a member of the Thirty-seventh since it has been organized. He served a year in Alaska as a private in the regular army. He was an expert marksman and had won several medals. He was 31 years old and lived at 2423 South Springfield avenue.

LAW REGULATING PRIVATE BANKS BEING PREPARED

Senate and House Leaders and Gov. Lowden Determined to Enact Measure.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—This session of the Illinois legislature will enact a private banks bill. The precise form in which a law will be formulated is not distinguishable at this time, but the determination of senate and house leaders, backed by the efforts of Gov. Lowden, is to push through to enactment a law that will bring all private banks within the control of the state auditor's office and eliminate the possibility that any new private banks will be started.

Before any bill becomes a law an affirmative referendum vote of the voters of the state is required under the terms that apply to amendments to the general banking law.

Compromise Measure Expected.

"Some sort of a private banks bill will be enacted, in my judgment," Speaker Shannahan said tonight.

The outlook now is that there will be a compromise measure as between the two extremes—that element of the private bankers which wants no regulation and the forces that seem bent on driving the private banks out of business.

The Republican senate caucus committee has agreed to a rough draft of a bill that is to be put into shape in Senator Pervier's commitee and reported out within the next fortnight.

Bank Bill Offered in House.

The Thon bill, changed in some of its features as compared with the bill he had up at the last session, went into the house today. The bill provides that all private banks must reorganize and come under state supervision within a three year period, during which time the assets must be converted into assets that will answer the requirements of the state banking law. Publication of a statement of such a bank's assets is not required until after a lapse of two years. The capital stock required is placed at $10,000 for places under 500; $25,000 for places between 500 and 10,000; $35,000 for place between 10,000 and 100,000, and $50,000 for all places over 50,000.

CHICAGO BILLS IN LEGISLATURE

Glackin Measure Would Abolish April Election—Civil Service Provisions.

HIT AT PRIMARY LAW.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Chicago bills clogged the hoppers in senate and house today. On the first roll call for introduction of bills in the house forty-one were produced by representatives. Thirty-two new ones made their appearance in the senate.

Senator Glackin offered his bill that places the city clerk of Chicago under civil service and makes the city treasurer appointive by the mayor at the end of the terms of the present officers.

It abolishes the April election this year by an emergency clause; extends for one year the terms of all aldermen whose electfon comes up in April; provides a three year term for aldermen elected in 1918, and a four year term for all aldermen elected thereafter. It went to the municipalities committee, of which Senator Barbour is chairman.

Cook County Civil Service.

Representative Carter introduced a Cook county civil service bill in the house. It provides for a commission of three, places all county offices under the merit law, but contains no blanket clause. It provides that for six months employés in offices that go under civil service shall be permitted to qualify by new examinations.

Representative Scanlon of La Salle introduced a bill that knocks out completely the direct primary law and reestablishes the delegate convention system, with provision for the election of delegates on the same day. It is the same bill he introduced two years ago.

In the senate Senator Jewell of Fulton had a bill that eliminates all municipalities of less than 2,500 inhabitants from the primary law.

Representative John S. Burns of Cook introduced the lengthy registration bill that is backed by the board of election commissioners of Chicago. It kills the present system of registration before each primary and election and substitutes a permanent registration system, with four offices in each ward.

Sunday Closing Bill In.

Mayor Thompson's bill providing for penitentiary sentence of not less than five years for violation of the Sunday closing law was introduced by Representative Dahlberg of South Chicago. Tomorrow Representative Dahlberg will have a bill to prohibit breweries from owning saloon licenses.

The high cost of living was reflected in two senate bills by Senator Glackin regulating cold storage products.

Representative Scanlan reintroduced his bill for the license of dealers in stocks, bonds and investment securities.

An important bill came from Representative Gregory bringing the state of Illinois and all county and municipal governments within the provisions of the employers' compensation act.

Abolition of capital punishment is provided in three bills introduced by Senator Canaday.

Representative Jackson introduced a bill for $650,000 to pay members of the Illinois National guard for the difference between federal and state pay during their service on the Mexican border. Representative Ellis of Kane introduced a bill for a $60,000 armory at Elgin.

CLEAR THE WAY FOR CONVENTION ON CONSTITUTION

Senate Republicans Agree to Push Measure—Vote Is Expected Next Week.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—The senate Republican caucus today determined to give the right of way to the Curtis constitutional convention resolution. Senator Smith of Sangamon, chairman of the senate committee, to which the resolution was referred, has agreed to call a meeting of the committee for Tuesday afternoon.

Unless something unforeseen occurs, the resolution will be reported favorably Tuesday and a vote in the senate may be expected before adjourment for the week.

Senate leaders are confident the resolution will have the necessary thirty-four votes, but nothing is being left undone by the friends of the convention proposition to line up every possible senator for the affirmative column.

Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout and Mrs. J. W. McGraw, representing the Illinois Equal Suffrage association, are on the ground conducting a campaign in favor of the resolution. Mrs. Trout said tonight she feels there is every prospect of victory in the senate and an excellent chance of getting the required 102 votes in the house.

The separate suffrage amendment, backed by Catharine Waugh McCulloch, was introduced in the senate this morning by Senator James J. Barbour of the Evanston district. It is the same amendment that has been offered in previous sessions. It takes off all limitations on suffrage in Illinois.

Whether Mrs. McCulloch will appear before the senate committee today, either for or against the constitutional convention resolution, is not disclosed.

Benson Ranking Officer; May Head General Board

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—Admiral William S. Benson today became ranking officer of the navy and probably will be designated to succeed Admiral Dewey as president of the general board, retaining also his duties as chief of naval operations. Admiral Benson was next in rank to Admiral Dewey.

STATE PAYROLL CUT TO BONE AND INTO MARROW

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—The legislative payroll, as it existed in the good old days, has been pruned, sliced, and almost slaughtered. Its best friends will scarcely recognize it. The Supreme court decision in the Fergus suits administered the final wallop, and today there are not enough janitors and other employés to sweep the floors at the capitol.

One of the hardest blows came this afternoon when Chairman Thomas A. Boyer of the house contingent expense committee announced that there would be no issue of state stationery to legislators.

Lieut. Gov. Oglesby couldn't locate enough payroll attachés to sweep and dust the senate chamber this morning, and two of the cloakroom men were detailed to clean up the hall before the senate reconvenes next Tuesday.

Civil War Veterans Join to Save Mrs. Grant's Home

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 17.—Union and confederate veterans joined forces at a meeting of the Dent-Grant Memorial association tonight in an effort to preserve the home of Mrs. Julia Dent Grant, where she married Gen. Ulysses S. Grant in 1847. An executive committee of thirteen members will be formed to look after the business of the association, which will strive to preserve the property for public exhibition.

BRUNDAGE FINDS OFFICE "BROKE"

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Attorney General Brundage's office is so "broke" that Gov. Lowden had to send a special message to the legislature today begging for an immediate special appropriation that will permit the attorney general to maintain his organization.

Gov. Lowden's message informed the general assembly that the appropriations for current expenses in the attorney general's office had been practically expended and that of a total of $231,000 appropriated for six different items only $45,000 remains to run the office until July 1.

Prompt action is expected in passing a deficiency bill as soon as the appropriations committees are organized.

Hassel's "Knickerbocker" $5 New York's Latest

Trade H Mark

The "Knickerbocker" is a new one that has just arrived. Give it an extra good look; you can see at once it has an exclusive custom design; every point carefully developed. The beautiful two-tone "effect"; a black gunmetal vamp with mahogany pigskin or tan Russia tops, or, if you prefer, with battleship gray kid tops. These make a handsome combination. We also have it in all plain leathers—black, tan or dark mahogany calfskin.

THE meaning of the word "satisfaction" has not changed at Hassel's. It still means getting the right shoes, well fitted—or your money back promptly and cheerfully.

And satisfaction doesn't cost any more here than it ever did—in spite of leather advances and such things.

Leather is going up, but we bought right. So, whether you pay $3, $4, $5, $6 or higher, you'd better come here for your shoes. That's good, sound advice; act on it today.

CROWD CHEERS RUSSIAN HYMN AT WAR BAZAAR

M. Constantine Onou Represents Czar's Ambassador—Lithuanians Share Day.

It was Russian day at the Allied bazaar in the Coliseum yesterday, and when Russia's national hymn was sung from the court of honor balcony there was much enthusiasm.

The day at the bazaar also was given over to Lithuanians, jointly with the Russians, and people of these nationalities flocked from all over town to the Coliseum.

Representing the Russian ambassador in Washington, Mr. Constantine Onou was present with Mme. Onou. They went to the bazaar in company with Antoine Volkoff, the Russian consul in Chicago.

Guests at Booth and Tea.

The visitors were guests at the Russian booth which is in charge of Mrs. Hamilton McCormick, and Mrs. John A. Spoor. At 5 p. m. Maj. and Mrs. Robert R. McCormick gave a tea for Mr. and Mme. Onou at the Coliseum, at which Mme. Marguerite Berizа of the Chicago Opera company sang. There also was Russian dancing.

Among those in the executive box while the Russian officials guests were present was Col. Murragh O'Brien, representatives of Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador at Washington.

Story Book Romance.

The incredible story-book romance has come out of the bazaar.

Handsome Jack White, English private who was sent over with the war exhibits after passing several months in a hospital for the wounded, sat in the midst of the wrecked aeroplanes and guns yesterday afternoon.

"Why, dear boy, why—this surely isn't you! How did you come here?" It was a tremulous squeal at the last words, full of happiness and surprise. Jack White's face was handsomer still as he jumped to his feet with most apparent delight—and as red as his silk sash.

Mary!

"By jove, Mary!"

Mary Gilney was one of the American Red Cross nurses who left Chicago months ago for the war zone. Jack White was one of the boys brought in from the front, wounded seriously and scheduled for long weeks of recuperation in the army hospital. Whatever their weeks of friendship meant to them in those days, this is the Chicago chapter. Miss Gilney returned to the bazaar in the evening and has promised the young soldier to be there every day to help him explain the engines of war which were the first means of bringing them together.

A little woman stopped short before the booth of the British Red Cross and bowed her head, weeping. She lifted her head again and gazed at a piece of sculpture representing a riderless horse, with its master, a young man in the uniform of an English regiment, lying dead at his feet. "That is my nephew," cried the little woman. "That looks just as he would—and he was killed in the war."

The group is the work of Miss Kathleen Wheeler, a young English sculptor now living in Chicago, whose animals in bronze have won the praise of the queen mother, Alexandra.

Some Valuable Letters.

Collectors of autograph letters had another favorish day. A signed Mark Twain letter was offered to the booth of the fatherless children of France by Miss Elizabeth Wallace of the University of Chicago, who is addressed in it as "Dear Betsy" by the idolized American humorist.

Charity double-barreled was a development of the day, when Mrs. Edward F. Swift at the grocery booth took in over $2,500 in $100 donations, with which goods are to be bought from her booth, the groceries to go to Chicago charities, the money to the bazaar fund. The groceries, by the way, and the cakes and all the eatables in the various booths in the place are selling out at a marvelous rate.

Mrs. James W. Thorne did a thriving business in crackerjack and peanuts and Mrs. Howard Linn paraded around with a sign announcing some feature events.

Frederick Palmer, recently returned from the Somme front, paid a visit to the Coliseum during the day, and found much to comment on. He said it was his belief the war will continue indefinitely, so far as the outcome of any present peace negotiations are concerned. Mr. Palmer expects to pay a return visit to Chicago before leaving for the east again.

At the Cabaret.

The cabaret, presided over by Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, was, as usual, the center of attraction for the crowds. Members of the Russian Trinity church choir sang the Russian national anthem and also took part in Russian group dancing. Miss Emma Carus, introduced by Chauncey McCormick as "a real German girl with a big heart, who wanted to help all the boys," was given a rousing cheer when she sang an Irish ballad.

DR. BARTLETT, ONCE PLYMOUTH PASTOR, IS DEAD

The Rev. William Alvin Bartlett, D. D., died on Monday in New York City. He was born eighty-five years ago in Binghamton, N. Y., and was pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, at Twenty-fourth street and Michigan avenue, at the time of the great fire here and for a number of years after. The church is now situated at Fiftieth street and Drexel boulevard. After leaving Chicago he held a pastorate at the K Street Congregational church in Washington, D. C., and among the members of the congregation was President Benjamin Harrison.

For the last ten years he had been without a pastorate and made his home with his son in New York Mills, N. Y.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Walcott Bartlett, and one son, Walcott Bartlett. Frederick H. Bartlett, city treasurer of Chicago, is his nephew.

Ogden Armour, Mr. Antoine Volkoff, Russian consul in Chicago; Mr. William G. Beale, Mr. Cyrus McCormick, Mr. Julius Rosenwald.

Mr. Rosenwald will be the host of Mr. Onou today at a luncheon at the plant of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

EAST ACCEPTS RULE OF SOUTH

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Apathy marks the attitude of the delegations in congress of eastern states outside of New England on the question of giving northern voters as much voice as southern voters in the conduct of the government as proposed by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

To each of the senators and representatives from New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania and West Virginia THE TRIBUNE addressed a letter asking him if he will insist on legislation to wipe out the rotten borough representation of the south or if he believes that southern voters should continue to exercise several times as much influence in the government as northern voters.

In these states there are ten senators and ninety-eight representatives. Only two of the senators, both Republicans, replied that they would work for the reform; one Democrat was noncommittal, and seven—three Republicans and four Democrats—did not answer.

Fourteen representatives—twelve Republicans and two Democrats—responded in favor of the reform; one Democrat against it; nine members—five Republicans, one Socialist and three Democrats, were noncommittal, and seventy-four members—fifty Republicans and twenty-four Democrats—did not answer.

ONE SEEKS RING; IT'S A HANDCUFF FOR ANOTHER

Wedding Band Plays Jekyll-Hyde Role in the Lives of Two Women.

BY AUDRIE ALSPAUGH CHASE.

The slender gold band that custom and sentiment decrees for the third finger feminine plays a regular Jekyll-Hyde role, though an inanimate article. It isn't its intrinsic worth—its significance gives it its value. For some women it shines as a haven of refuge, for others it means prison more symbolically than prison bars.

Rosa Sirova would rather have such a ring than anything she can think of.

"In the Church."

"He was goin' to marry me Sunday, in the church, not this Sunday, you know, but the next one, an' now he's run away. It was goin to be in the church," she declared, vehemently. "He promise, an' we plan it all. In the church An' now he go away," she shrugged. "He leave me like—like this. I know him so long, an' he use to say he like me," her lids fluttered for a moment down over her dark eyes, hiding their reminiscent visions.

"But I don' know. He surely don't now, or he wouldn't go 'way like this."

She was peasant type, a slow, phlegmatic person, but she flashed into something of fire.

No, I don' like him any more—not after he treat me like this. But I'd like to get him back—so we could be married in the church."

Too Much of the Ring.

Marriage has stamped Katherine Bilden with misanthropy. Her matrimonial theory, developed through five years' experience, is this, "It's too much hard luck." Her slender prettiness has been corroded by her service to the ring. Lines have worn into her fine features, her large brown eyes look hardly, not softly, at the world.

"I was happy just three days." She said bitterly. And that was all. Her tone of voice filled in the burden of the other 362 days and four years.

"Nice! They're all nice before," is the other bitter canon of her creed.

Typewriter could never achieve, no matter how giftedly propelled, the acrid cynicism of her comment on more marriage. "If I were free? No, never again." Words are only a faint shadow of it. With her little 4 year old son she is facing the world, a hopeless, embittered woman, wrecked by the ring.

HOBOS CHEER MARY GARDEN

AIR IS PRETTY THICK.

Mary Garden sang last night for the hoboes at their college at 917 West Washington street.

In the building three rooms were crowded to capacity with hard boiled persons in soft boiled shirts. They would not let you pass the gate if you wore a white starched collar unless you paid a dollar. White collared individuals beat a retreat into the cold open, took off their collars, returned, and were admitted.

In two automobiles the singers came, and there was a rush of eager "collegians" to open the doors of the cars. Between twin walls of ragged, dirty men, whose eyes shone with the spirit of anxious, deferential hospitality, walked Miss Garden, Hector Dufranne, and Marcel Charlier of the opera association.

A tremendous cheer rose as the operatic trio entered the recital room. The auditors strained in their seats to gain a glimpse of the famous Garden. The gracious Mary made an involuntary grimace, but she gamely advanced with her confrères to the platform

The Rev. Mr. Tucker "did the honors." M. Charlier took his seat at the piano. He poised his fingers. Miss Garden stood up and waited for the cheering to subside. She gazed about her.

In the Boxes.

On the mezzanine stools were to be seen St. Louis Lou, who wore with distinction a pair of corduroy trousers patched with burlap and a superannuated smoking jacket; Ted the Tank, at ease in a dark blue overcoat with brass buttons; Coast to Coast Carl, debonair in an afternoon frock coat enclasped with dashingly novel safety pins

M. Charlier's poised fingers came down on the keys of the upright and the bird, sans footlights, sans orchestra, burst into the melody of the "Habanera" from Carmen. Smiling, dimpling as she sang, she caroled her way into the hearts of the frowsy host. In the front row a shabby critic, with ear cocked, kept time with his nodding head to her execution, and in his eyes was unqualified approval. Eyes gleaming, mouths open, feet shuffling agitatedly, they listened.

Again the rickety building shook to its rafters with the roar of applause. The social secretaries, two big coppers, lifted their clubs in admonition of silence, but the hobos howled their approval without restraint. There was the boom of many flashlights.

The Marseillaise.

"Marcyless."

There came the echo from the mob:

"Marzelouse!" "Merciless!" "Merseloos!" "Marceling."

Miss Garden excitedly: "O, let us indeed give them the Marsayoose!"

So they dueled the sublime internationale, and a gray derelict in the rear wept hoarsely. The audience stampeded for an encore. They joined in the chorus. The social secretaries looked apprehensively at one another. Then it was over.

The Rev. Mr. Tucker thanked the artists.

TWO AMERICAN COWBOYS KILL SIX MEXICANS?

Nogales, Ariz., Jan. 17.—Six Mexicans were killed Sunday by two American cowboys thirty miles west of here when they were fired upon while herding back cattle "rustled" by the Mexicans, according to reports to the sheriff here.

A troop of Utah cavalry, stationed here, is on the way to the ranch of the Aravaca Land and Cattle company, on the American side of the border, owners of the cattle.

Villa Offers Protection.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 17.—Francisco Villa has offered to protect the American border from raiding bands of Mexicans and protect the residents of the district now occupied by the American punitive expedition when the American troops withdraw, according to a Villa partisan here, who claimed to have received a letter from Villa at Satevo making this offer.

The letter, he said, was forwarded to the New York junta Saturday.

Villa, while advancing toward Chihuahua City, was defeated by Carranza forces and turned back at San Andres, some thirty miles west of the city, according to an unofficial report reaching Juarez tonight.

GOMPERS DEFIES PROPOSED STRIKE PREVENTION ACT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today told the house committee on interstate commerce that if congress enacted compulsory strike prevention legislation he would be one who would violate it.

"You can't and won't prevent strikes by making them illegal," declared Mr. Gompers in stating that compulsory arbitration laws in Australia and Canada had not diminished the number of strikes.

"You may prescribe direct penalties, but you won't prevent strikes. If you enact such a law you may count upon me as one of those who will violate it. The spirit of all such legislation is enervating and disintegrating to the principles upon which this country is founded."

The interstate commerce committee of the senate today considered the proposal by Chairman Newlands for a law to penalize any act in the nature of obstruction of commerce. The senator has advocated a law to apply the same penalties to persons who interfere with commerce as are now applied to those who obstruct the United States mails.

The sentiment developed in the committee was decidedly favorable.

DEWEY AND HIS PERIOD.

George Dewey gave the American nation one of its great moments of exaltation. For a short period Americans had the golden Elizabethan emotions of adventure and power. They felt themselves pushing down walls and stepping into wider places with the confidence and strength of youth. Dewey was Drake or Frobisher in far off seas, making new frontiers. All the circumstances of his victory pleased the imagination of an egotistic nation. The hopelessness of the situation of the Spanish fleet when Dewey once had entered the bay was ignored. The daring and efficiency of American sea power in Asiatic waters destroying the remnants of an old colonial empire quickened the pulse of the people.

We believe that the most intensely nationalistic moment the American people have had in fifty years was when the news of the victory in Manila bay came after suspense, came as if brought by a swift frigate from a battle far out at sea. It was evidence of that emotion that Dewey remained a thing set apart in American life. His personality was in a glamour of romance.

The Spanish war closed a period in American life. Possibly it is because we so recognized it that we selected Admiral Dewey as representative of the glories of the period and held him in affection that ordinarily is reserved for men who are dead.

This is not the confident, assertive nation that was exalted by the news from Manila bay. We were foolish in our thoughts of ourselves then, but it was a magnificent sort of foolishness, although it might have led to great disaster.

In the period which has gone the American people were vainglorious. They sang of the flag "When she's up, she's up to stay; when she's down, there's hell to pay." They had no thought of singing of boys who were not raised to be soldiers. They never dreamed of being too proud or too timid to fight. They thought they were the natural born fighters of the world. They paid for this folly in the concentration camps in the south, in the plague and fever camps, and in Cuba.

George Dewey smashing the Spanish fleet was the perfect realization of the American dream of triumphant power. When we learned that he had threatened to smash a German fleet as well the egotism was warmed into another glow. We threatened with a gloved hand and thought it was the mailed fist.

This folly was terrible, but, recalling it, we wish that the spirit had remained and had gained intelligence. We have grown in caution and lost in confidence. We are not so certain of our desire to be a strong and assertive nation as well as a just and righteous one. We know that we like to be a comfortable nation. The pacifist has arisen and attacked the morale of the nation.

It is a period of doubt which we think will be resolved into a resolute policy with intelligence back of it, but the people are stumbling forward now. They know more of their weaknesses, which is fortunate, but they are uncertain whether they ought to become strong.

George Dewey represented a time that is gone. He was one of the valiant, resolute, daring little band which includes Perry, MacDonough, Decatur, Preble, Farragut, etc., whose exploits in the navy were absorbed into the emotions and consciousness of the American people and thus represented each individual's courage and resourcefulness. Dewey was one of them and Dewey was each American's thought of himself.

The period has gone. The nation must rebuild the ideals of courage and devotion which it thought all citizens shared with the men who went into Manila bay.

"GOOD RAW MATERIAL."

Only the conviction that it is better than nothing can account for the solicitude with which the government is treating the returned guardsmen. Like the jam in Alice in Wonderland, the new federal oath is to be taken tomorrow, must be taken tomorrow, but never today.

This opinion of the national guard system is not the result of theoretical argument about national defense but of a set of specific inspections of all the militia organizations on the border after they had been in training several months. Here is a sample of what one high officer thinks about it:

Most pronounced lack of individual training from privates to general officers; most pronounced lack of training as specialists in all departments; most pronounced lack of collective training from company to division; most pronounced lack of equipment and clothing and knowledge of their use and care.

Most pronounced ignorance and carelessness in administration and supply; most pronounced ignorance and neglect of military discipline; laxity in admitting physically unfit.

Among the good qualities of the guard are enumerated two—a less marked tendency to get drunk than in former years, and the remarkable fact that the individual soldiers are good raw material.

These are admirable qualities. But they will not do to fight with. Good raw material which does not soak up alcohol as often as it used to might be of some use five or six months after invasion if, in the meantime it was trained and equipped. The invader would probably recognize sobriety and intelligence as quickly as we have and put our excellent young men to work behind the lines.

What the army officers saw in Texas was the result of eighteen years of national guard training. Unanimously and without a question in their minds they pronounced the result bad. All the systems had done when the guardsmen reached the border was to teach a lot of fairly intelligent men that they knew something about soldiering. That had to be unlearned.

What the experts saw in Texas opened two courses concerning the national guard system—to kiss it or kill. Just now they are kissing it.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The resolution for the submission of the question of calling a constitutional convention is now in the state senate. If the legislature in both houses adopts it, then the male voters of the state a year from next November will decide whether a convention shall be called.

If they decide that it shall, the legislature which meets two years from now will determine a method of electing delegates to the convention. This election may be deferred until the general election of 1920. That is nearly four years from now. The convention when constituted would not meet until 1921.

Such delay is in prospect even if this legislature does its utmost to hurry the process along. The constitution betrays its faults in increasing number every year. If this legislature does not act, two more years must be added to the most reasonable prospects. If a few more sessions of the general assembly reveal an obstinate resolution not to allow the people to say whether or not they want a revision, the present generation of adult citizens of Illinois may as well give up all expectation of living to see a change in the fundamental law of the state.

The restrictive power of the assembly is complete. Its constructive power has many checks upon it. It can do nothing positively more than allow the state to decide. Negatively it can be absolute.

RAILWAY STRIKE LEGISLATION.

The vote of the senate committee on interstate commerce against legislation to defend the public from a general paralysis of transportation ought to wake up the public. The truth is that the situation developed last August remains unchanged and the danger avoided then is latent but all the more serious now. The politicians ran up the white flag then. They are running it up again now.

Opposition to defensive legislation is organized, concentrated, and violent. The public whose security is at stake is vague and far away. The politicians are supposed to be representing it, but they are looking out for number one.

It is significant of the present condition of the American people that they will shirk such an issue as is presented by the railway strike peril. At the moment the country is prosperous and peaceful. We have no time to waste remembering dangers past or problems to come. It is pleasanter to spend with both hands and let the future take care of itself.

Meanwhile we have one pointed remark to make on this matter. We are hearing a great deal about a league to enforce peace. The president has come as near as possible to committing the nation to it. The plan proposed is that we shall agree with other governments not to make war until after a period for calm thought, discussion, and negotiation has passed by, but to make war upon any nation that resorts to force before this period is over.

This is exactly the plan of the proposal to prevent industrial war on the railways. Employers shall not lock out, employes shall not strike, until a period for inquiry, discussion, and negotiation has passed by.

What is the sense of proposing such a plan as a preventive of war among nations until we have shown intelligence and power enough to establish it in our own country?

A FINE NIGHT FOR MURDER.

Perhaps Chief Schuettler's rifle squad will demonstrate to those who need the demonstration that any night in Chicago is not a fine night for murder. A rifle bullet well aimed does not admit of argument, and Chicagoans disposed to kill jovially, commercially, or out of irritation or anger may be somewhat deterred. Confronting a sociological judge and a soft hearted jury is much less terrible, especially with a board of pardons in the background.

Shooting down criminals may be desirable in some ways. At least, it saves money in reformatory processes. But its attraction as a method of enforcing law is that it is sure. If there were any other sure way of stopping criminals in their careers Chicago would not think of adopting it. The fact that we are not only considering it, but welcome its adoption by the police, is a confession of failure in law administration.

There are said to be more trial courts in Chicago alone than in all of England. It is notorious that our trial courts are behind in their work.

Their processes are so uncertain that few Americans have any real confidence in them. Exoneration by them is almost impossible, because so many guilty persons are freed in one way or another. They are not final.

That is why no one is horrified when the policeman is made judge and jury and his bullet the executioner. It is a measure of desperation and a confession of our failure.

Editorial of the Day

HE NOBLY BEARS HIS LOAD.

[From The New York Times.]

From every newspaper office there will be a flow of warmest sympathy for the editor of the Williamsville (N. D.) Item. As so often happens in the troubled realm of journalism, he has brought upon himself a reprehension that will not be in the slightest degree mitigated out of consideration for the excellence of his intentions—he has offended a reader whom he was trying to please and he has the dreary consciousness that his apologies are useless.

For the printed, like the written, word remains, and wrong once done cannot be wiped out. Still. The Item's editor has done his poor best to set himself right, and in doing so he tells the whole tragical story—thus:

> We wish to apologize to Mrs. Orlando Overlook. In our paper last week we had as a heading "Mrs. Overlook's Big Feet." The word we had ought to have used is a French word pronounced the same way but spelled fete. It means a celebration and is considered a very tony word.

There speaks a warm, honest heart, bowed down by sincere grief. But will Mrs. Orlando Overlook relent and forgive? It is easier to hope that than to expect it, for she has suffered the ultimate pangs, and, after all, it is but poor consolation for her to learn that her cruel wrongs were due to the search for a tony word.

There would have been a better chance of escape for this unfortunate editor if he had left the task of explanation unattempted and followed the time honored habit of putting the blame on the compositor and the proofreader. Their lot is naturally an unhappy one, and no single increment of their responsibilities adds appreciably to the total.

BALLADE OF OLD-TIME CLOWNS.

To Bernard Shaw, Prince of Jesters.

"Ou sont les pitres d'autrefois."—H. D.

WHERE (as ballades so oft begin)
The classic clowns of yesterday?
Where Guillaume of the famous grin,
And eke the gifted Gaultier?,
And Tabarin, whose equine-play
Appealed to foreheads high and steep?
Gentles, we hand them this bouquet:
It was to laugh and not to weep.

Where is the fool whose wagging chin
Whiled for his King the hours away?
Vanished into the great Has-Been
L'Angely the clever, and Triboulet.
And Scaramouche, the protegé
Of Lou the Great—he earned his keep.
To hear that blithesome donkey bray,
It was to laugh and not to weep.

Where are the zanies, fat and thin,
Who joyed the groundings—where are they?
Gone, like the monarch's harlequin,
They who tickled the common clay.
Gone the bumpkin who owned their sway;
Clown and rustic together sleep.
This is the tribute we may pay:
It was to laugh and not to weep.

Prince, I have but this word to say:
The old-time jester's wit was cheap,
BUT—(here's the point I would convey)—
It was to laugh and not to weep.

As far as can be learned there is not a full dress suit in Wellsville. But a number of the business men, and some of the younger crowd are seriously considering buying Tuxedos, half brothers to the full dress suit. There are many advantages to the Tuxedo, which can be used at informal as well as at most formal occasions, and which will answer for a good Sunday suit. Several who would like to have and wear these suits have agreed to buy one if as many as fifteen or twenty others will buy at the same time. To further the good cause a local merchant has agreed to let the buyers have them at cost, if a considerable number will join in ordering.

"WELL, what WOULD be interesting in an automobile page?" asked the automobile editor. Well, for one thing a series of articles on skillful driving, containing information that would be useful in the many emergencies that arise. For example, when starting up on an icy pavement, with the rear wheels lower than the forward wheels, nine drivers out of ten feed in too much gas, and then wonder why the wheels spin around without taking hold.

FEW CASES OF PARALYSIS.

REQUEST comes for information as to the present dangers of infantile paralysis. The statement is made that there is a scare on in Chicago just now and the inquirer wants to know whether there is any basis for the scare. Emphatically, there is none. The records of the health department show two deaths from the disease during December and three during November. Only three cases were reported during December and five during November. Two deaths would indicate that there were about ten cases. Of these three were reported and seven were concealed.

In December, 1915, two cases were reported. The two and a half million people in Chicago are about as free from infantile paralysis as is any similar group in the United States.

During the week beginning Dec. 9 there were six cases of infantile paralysis reported in New York City. San Francisco had the second largest number; four. Boston and Cambridge, Mass., had three each; Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Grand Rapids, and Cincinnati two each. No other city had more than one case. The largest number of cases reported to the public health service during November (bulletin public health service, Dec. 29, 1916) from any state was fifty from Minnesota.

The great epidemic is a thing of the past. The country is as nearly free from infantile paralysis as at any time in the last fifteen years. Infantile paralysis is a summer disease. It has never spread during the winter except on one or two occasions, in Norway and Sweden.

Drs. Emerson, Frost, and Chesly, a committee of the American Public Health association, reported the following six requirements for the control of infantile paralysis.

1. All recognized and suspected cases should be promptly reported.
2. Patients should be isolated in screened premises. The duration of infectivity being unknown, the period of isolation must necessarily be arbitrary. Six weeks has been recommended by authorities and is generally accepted throughout the United States.
3. All bodily discharges should be disinfected.
4. The movements of intimate associates of the patient should be restricted as far as practicable. This should include at least exclusion of the children of the family from schools and other gatherings. Protection of children as far as possible from contact with other children or with the general public during epidemics.
6. Observation of contacts for two weeks after the last exposure.

This report is issued by the public health service as Reprint No. 373 and is available.

PROBABLY NOT CONSUMPTION.

Consumptive writes: "I want to ask you if you can't say something for the poor consumptives to keep people from being so afraid of them. I am one of them, and feel deeply the way persons avoid me and never come to see me. I have had consumption twelve years, and have fever and cough every morning. I don't cough at all at night. I have been examined several times, but no germs were found in my sputum. I am growing weaker. No one uses anything in my room, and I burn all the sputum."

REPLY.

There is no danger in visiting a careful consumptive provided the visitor is reasonably careful. There is danger in close contact with a careless consumptive. I am reasonably certain that you are not a consumptive provided you have been correctly informed. You might have chronic bronchitis or bronchiectic cavities or specific disease in your lungs. It is not probable that a person would have consumption with fever, abundant cough, and abundant sputum for twelve years and not have bacilli in the sputum.

HAVE AN EXAMINATION.

J. S. writes: "Is a sustained temperature of 98.8, which every day at 3 p. m. reaches 99.4, of any importance? A year and a half ago I had a bad hemorrhage from stomach ulcer. I recovered apparently and gained eighteen pounds and felt well, but for six weeks I have had the above temperature. I am not especially ill now, but am not strong and am nervous. Could nerves cause this temperature?"

REPLY.

Such a temperature range is of some importance. You should have an examination.

TREATMENTS WILL CURE.

L. B. writes: "Can syphilis of thirteen years' standing be cured? Last summer I had a blood test with a positive return, but I have had two tests since which were negative. Can I be cured in two or three years? I am treating with 606 and mercury. Are these treatments injurious?"

REPLY.

If you continue your treatments for two or three years you can be reasonably certain that you will never have a relapse. You are not infectious now and the probability is that you never will be again. Why worry?

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1917: By the Brentwood Co.]

ALTHOUGH a determined attempt has been made in England, as well as in France, to induce the respective governments of these two countries to withdraw their military forces from Saloniki and from the Balkans and to devote them to the task of driving the Germans out of France and Belgium, nothing of the kind is likely to take place, notwithstanding all dispatches to the contrary, for a withdrawal would mean the abandonment of Venizelos and of all the members of his provisional Greek government at Saloniki to their fate.

That the entente powers have no such intention is best shown by the fact that the Earl Granville, who is a lord in waiting of King George and a minister plenipotentiary in the diplomatic service, has just been dispatched to Saloniki, carrying with him credentials addressed to the president of the provisional government and accrediting him to the latter as the diplomatic plenipotentiary of Great Britain.

This means a confirmation of the news contained in these letters some weeks ago to the effect that the powers of the entente or, rather I should say, Great Britain and France, had granted full recognition to the Venizelos provisional government of northern Greece. And Lord Granville would assuredly not have been sent out to Saloniki to take up his residence there if there were any expectation of an Anglo-French—Russo-Italian withdrawal therefrom.

Lord Granville is preeminently qualified for the difficult and delicate mission with which he has been intrusted, for since the beginning of the war he has been counselor and chief of the staff of the British embassy in Paris, the alter ego of the ambassador, Lord Bertie, and chargé d'affaires in the latter's absence. He is thoroughly acquainted, therefore, with all the views of France, as well as of England, concerning the Venizelos provisional government and cognizant of the negotiations which have taken place between London and Paris on the subject.

Moreover, he has a very intimate knowledge of Germany and of her methods and aims, for he spent, prior to the war, several years attached to the British embassy at Berlin, being persona grata at court there and always attached by his government to the suite of the kaiser on the occasion of the latter's numerous visits to England.

Lord Granville is the eldest son of the late earl, who served a number of terms as secretary of state for foreign affairs. Tall and good looking, he has been stationed in turn at Cairo, under Lord Cromer; at Vienna, and at The Hague; was a lord in waiting, both of Queen Victoria and of the late King Edward, and is married to Nina Baring, whose father, a younger brother of Lord Cromer, was for so many years British envoy at Buenos Aires.

Lord Granville has a keen sense of humor and possesses many accomplishments, including that of legerdemain. He was already an adept in this art when a boy and while in the performance of some conjuring trick inadvertently swallowed half a crown. All attempts to recover this silver coin, slightly larger than a silver half dollar, proved of no avail. The late Lord Granville took his boy to the leading specialists in England and on the continent. But they were able to do nothing for him and it is therefore quite possible that the earl, the third of his line and representing a junior line of the family, of which the Duke of Sutherland is the chief, still has the money about him, so that he could never, therefore, be described as altogether penniless.

The earl has no children and his next heir is his only brother, Capt. the Hon. William Levison-Gower of the British North sea fleet, who married last summer Lady Rose Bowes Lyon, daughter of Lord and Lady Strathmore, at their ancestral home in Scotland, Glamis castle, so celebrated for its mystery.

Gen. Lord Binning, a veteran of a number of England's wars, and for many years commander of the Royal Horse guards, has predeceased his wonderful old father, Scotland's "grand old man," eleventh earl of Haddington, and now in his 91st year. Lord Binning leaves an eldest son, hitherto known as George Baillie Hamiton Arden, 23 years of age, at present serving at the front in France as an officer of the Royal Scots Greys, who now becomes next heir to his grandfather's earldom and large estates in Scotland, which comprise some 70,000 acres, extending through five counties of the northern kingdom. He will be very rich, for his mother, the now widowed Lady Binning, daughter of the multi-millionaire, William S. Salting, was accounted at the time of her marriage one of the greatest heiresses of her day.

The fortunes of Lord Haddington's family may be said to have been founded by Thomas Hamilton, who, although his grandfather fell in the battle of Pinkie, commenced life as a commoner, became a lord of session in 1592 as Lord Drumcairn, was created Lord Binning and Lord Byres twenty years later, and was then raised to the Earldom of Melrose by James I. in 1619. But his family considered the name of Melrose to be of ill omen and so in 1627 he obtained the permission of the crown to change the name of his earldom to that of Haddington. As king's advocate, lord clerk register, secretary of state for Scotland, and holder of all sorts of other offices and sinecures, he succeeded in accumulating a very large fortune, which he was able to triple and quadruple by the lucky find of some valuable minerals on his estates.

The present Lord Haddington, who has no English peerage, has sat in the house of lords for over forty years as a representative peer of Scotland, is a brigadier general of King George's famous Scottish bodyguard of archers, and until reaching the age of 90 was still accustomed to hunt and even to play polo. Indeed, he was thrown and kicked by one of his polo ponies on the eve of the present war, while two years previously he had broken his collar bone in the hunting field.

He is very unconventional. Some years ago he wanted to attend a matinée performance at an Edinburgh theater, but was unable to find a conveyance to take him from his club in Princes street, all the available cabs having been requisitioned by football enthusiasts, the occasion being the match between Scotland and Ireland at Inverleath park. Catching sight of a passing grocery cart he hailed it and the driver, who curiously enough was a former hackman, at once agreed to give him a lift. Lord Haddington's appearance is familiar to every man, woman, and child in Edinburgh and his drive from his club through the streets of the Venice of the north on the grocery cart and his arrival at the theater in that conveyance was in the nature of a triumphal procession and created a good deal of amusement.

CITIZENSHIP AND FOREIGN RESIDENCE.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—[To the Friend of the People.]—As an American citizen by reason of naturalization would I be under the protection of the United States if I should return to my birthplace, Germany? Would I be subject to military service? How long would I be allowed to remain in Germany before forfeiting my citizenship? A. R.

[An American citizen, whether by birth or naturalization, is entitled to such protection in foreign lands as our government affords. An alien who has become a citizen of this country may return to the foreign state from which he came and reside there for a period of two years. At the termination of such period he shall be presumed to have ceased to be an American citizen. Such presumption, however, may be overcome by the presentation of satisfactory evidence to diplomatic or consular officers under such rules and regulations as the department of state may prescribe. No citizen is allowed to expatriate himself when this country is at war.]

SOUTH SIDE "L" SERVICE.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I wish to protest against the service we are receiving on the South Side L. Passengers boarding the L at Sixty-first street are compelled to stand up every morning, notwithstanding the fact that Sixty-first street is not far from the end of the line. Up to about two months ago, this was not the case, and it would therefore appear that the company is running fewer trains. M. M. A.

I am advised that owing to the unusually heavy traffic just before Christmas the service could not be maintained at its usual standard. The elevated people assure me that the service conditions are coming back to normal, and I believe that even now an improvement can be noticed.

INCORPORATING UNDER DELAWARE LAWS.

Richmond Hill., N. Y., Jan. 11.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Why do so many corporations incorporate under the laws of Delaware when they are apparently foreign to that state? J. L. Douglas

The advantages of incorporating in Delaware are due to the comparatively lenient requirements of the Delaware corporation laws, permitting the organizing of new corporations under much less stringent requirement than other states. Such, for instance, is the requirement as to the amount and kind of capital necessary to be subscribed as prerequisite to doing business.

ART IN THE MOVIES.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Allow me to take exception to your editorial, "Art in the Movies," wherein you make the sweeping statement that "producers have learned to photograph scenes but not to tell stories." I think you are entirely wrong.

There has never been any medium of expression through which stories of all kinds, humorous, grotesque, tragic, and epic, have been so lucidly portrayed as producers of pictures portray them today. Producers may produce the wrong variety of entertainment, but the art of telling the story is at its zenith.

Because producers have learned really to tell stories and visualize the very heart of the story, making an epic of all their endeavors, countless thousands of men and women, who would otherwise remain in ignorance of the classics, are as well informed as many a studious reader.

The vitality of theme in literature, to retain which incipient details are necessary, but which are so tiresome and bewildering unless written in a masterly manner, are in pictures entirely obviated. The working of the human mind is clearly and concisely shown. We first see the "close up" of the human face in a rage; then the knife on the floor—the incentive to kill is established—the man picks it up, drops it, and flees. Ten laborious pages of Balzac unfold such an incident; the movie shows it in thirty seconds, concisely, clearly, forcibly, perfectly. We can't mistake the story or the man's caliber; his soul is bared to us, and his every movement and facial expression are vivid finger posts in lucid dénouement.

WARREN K. WAIT.

A REAL GOVERNOR.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Gov. Stanley of Kentucky is a real governor and no make believe or sham. Some of the spineless executives of the nation could well afford to draw a lesson from his attitude with respect to the recent Judge Bush-Smith-Lube Martin affair. It is alleged that he said in this controversy: "If there is any lynching done the mob will have to lynch the governor first." This statement carries with it more than the promised protection of several human lives. It brings out the individuality and character of the man. It enlarges our ideas with respect to the upholding of the law. C. W. MILLER.

SOUTHERN REPRESENTATION.

Sullivan, Ill., Jan. 15.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I wish to take a few seconds of your time and tell you how I appreciate the fight you have started on the Negro vote proposition of the south. I hope the work will never stop until we have this stopped. I say let the Negro vote or stop counting him to get the electoral vote. F. W. DRAKE.

A CRITICISM OF THE BAZAAR.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Here is the wrong in the Allied bazaar. The heart of it is wrong. The animus is not charity, but hostility. The posters are not charity, but war posters. The war exhibits, the cannon, the German flying machines, the helmets of fallen and wounded Germans are not symbols of pity, but trophies.

From all the partisan arguments, evasions, and distortions these facts will in the future stand out in our midst, immovable and terrible:

Wherever we lay the blame for the war, we cannot lay it on the widows and orphans of Germany and her allies. There are many more widows and orphans in Germany than in France, probably more than in England and France combined; for half of Germany is fighting against all of France and England combined, while the other half is holding off most of Russia. And these widows and orphans are suffering much greater deprivations than those of the allied nations. And hundreds of thousands of them have become widows and orphans through the only products which we have sent there in abundance.

They are of the race than which none has a larger and more honorable share in the foundation, development, and defense of our country. They are our common blood relations.

And this enormous enterprise, undertaken "for the relief of the suffering of Europe," has nothing to offer to these widows and orphans except a war cry in the name of charity.

MARTIN SCHWAB.
1373 East Fifty-seventh street.

JEWS AND MONGOLIANS.

Chisago, Jan. 16.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Citing the Japanese question in your editorial, "Russia and American Jews," I believe is not quite to the point. In the mind of those who object to the unrestricted influx of Mongolians such a thing would endanger the very existence of this nation. Measures preventing it are therefore based upon the primal right of defending one's life.

The Russian government even with all its well known powers of sophistry can not bring forth such an argument as a refusal to place American Jews on the same level with American citizens of other religions will therefore always remain the plain, unvarnished reason of intolerance and injustice. In the matter of renewing our treaty with Russia we are simply confronting an impasse.

Our position from a point of honor and justice is unassailable. It is for the other party to give way unreservedly. Unless it does, the United States must maintain its place even at a sacrifice of material profit which, should it be obtained by our giving in directly to the demands of the country, would always be tinged with the blemish of dishonor.

CRITICISM OF THE BAZAAR.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Here is the wrong in the Allied bazaar. The heart of it is wrong. The cause is not charity, but hostility. The posters are not charity, but war posters. The war exhibits, the cannon, the Gerflying machines, the helmets of dead and wounded Germans are not objects of pity, but trophies.

Does all the partisan arguments, evasions and distortions these facts will in the future stand out in our midst, implacable and terrible:

Wherever we lay the blame for the war, we cannot lay it on the widows and orphans of Germany and her allies. There are many more widows and orphans in Germany than in France, probably more than in England and France combined; for half of Germany is fighting against all of France and England combined, while the other half is holding most of Russia. And these widows and orphans are suffering much greater deprivations than those of the allied nations. And hundreds of thousands of them have become widows and orphans through the only products which we have sent there in abundance.

This is the race than which none has a larger and more honorable share in the foundation, development, and defense of our country. They are our own blood relations.

Is this enormous enterprise, undertaken "for the relief of the suffering of women and orphans except a war cry—in the name of charity.

MARTIN SCHREYER,
1377 East Fifty-seventh street.

JEWS AND MONGOLIANS.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Citing the Japanese question in an editorial, "Russia and America" believe is not quite to the point. In the mind of those who object to the unrestricted influx of Mongolians, the thing would endanger the very existence of this nation. Measures protecting it are therefore based upon the inherent right of defending one's life. The Russian government even with all the well known powers of sophistry usually set forth such an argument; for it refuses to place American Jews on the same level with American citizens of other religions will therefore always remain the plain, unvarnished result of persecution and injustice. In the matter of renewing our treaty with Russia we are simply confronting an impasse. Our position from a point of honor and justice is unassailable. It is for the Russian party to give way unrestrictedly. Whether it does, the United States must maintain its place even at a sacrifice of material profit which, should it be obliged by our giving in directly or indirectly to the demands of the opposing party, would always be tinged with the finish of dishonor.

OUCH! RUB BACKACHE, STIFFNESS, LUMBAGO

Rub Pain from back with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacob's Oil."

Does your back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin. Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.—Advt: sement.

MURRAY CRANE FACES A BATTLE; COUP RECALLED

Plans Afoot to Call Entire G. O. P. National Committee to Undo Chicago Trick.

New York, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Plans are afoot for the summoning of the entire membership of the Republican national committee to undo the work of W. Murray Crane's executive committee by which, two days ago, the Crane-Smoot-Hemenway coalition again seized control of the Republican party machinery for the old guardsmen.

The battle for liberalizing the party machinery, which came to its first crisis when the Crane-Smoot-Hemenway forces elected John T. Adams of Iowa vice chairman of the national committee, is of far reaching consequences. It involves the organization of both the house and senate in the new congress, the readjustment of delegate representation from the southern states, and control of the next Republican national convention, with the naming of the party candidate for president in 1920.

Sequel to Chicago Deal.

The upheaval that followed the election of Adams vice chairman, it is now revealed, is the direct sequel to a deal Crane himself put over in the closing hours of the Republican national convention in Chicago when everybody seemed to be unaware of the importance of what was up.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, it also is brought out now, exclusively exposed the Crane coup in Chicago three days after the national convention adjourned. The Democratic national convention was on at the time and little attention appeared to have been paid to the warning printed then.

On June 13, the Tuesday following the adjournment of the Republican convention in the Coliseum, THE TRIBUNE, under the caption, "Power to Name Officers Seized by Crane Coup," told the whole story.

THE TRIBUNE went on to give the details.

On the Saturday afternoon of convention week, it related, when all was confusion, there was a hurriedly called meeting of the new national committee. When the committee gathered in the room of Charles D. Hilles at the Coliseum they found Crane in the chair. One of the committeemen inquired by what right Crane was presiding, and it was explained that it was customary for the oldest member of the committee in point of service to call the meeting to order.

Crane Grabs Control.

Then before any one realized what was on, save the old guardsman members, the committee had adopted a resolution empowering Mr. Crane to name a committee of eight members, this committee to name subsequently the members of the new executive committee of the national committee. Then the resolution carried the real milk in the coconut, which empowered the executive committee, when named by Crane's committee of eight, to name all officers of the national committee. This was the first time that this authority had ever been usurped by the executive committee. It went through, as THE TRIBUNE set out at the time.

Crane thereupon named himself chairman of the committee of eight to name the new executive committee, and the following members of the committee:

Ralph E. Williams, Oregon; Alvah H. Martin, Virginia; Charles B. Warren, Michigan; John T. Adams, Iowa; Reed Smoot, Utah; Boise Penrose, Pennsylvania, and James A. Hemenway of Indiana.

This committee named the executive committee. The danger of the situation soon was brought to the attention of Mr. Hughes, who sought to set his house aright by personally naming Howell of Nebraska and Hert of Kentucky on the campaign committee, by which the Crane combination partially was nullified, so far as the campaign went, and in which the Crane group temporarily acquiesced.

The executive committee, however, under the domination of the Crane-Smoot-Hemenway coalition, was back in the saddle after the election of Nov. 7, and they at once proceeded, as recent events disclose, to rivet down their control of the party machinery.

Hoped to Oust Willcox.

Liberal leaders say the old guard forces hoped to so humiliate Chairman Willcox by naming Adams that he would resign, thereby placing Adams at the head of the committee possibly for the four years. There are many Republicans, who formerly were by no means in full sympathy with the Progressives, who want Will H. Hays of Indiana elected chairman of the national committee, if, for any reason, Chairman Willcox should resign.

The Crane-Smoot-Hemenway group are moving heaven and earth to acquire ironbound control of the full committee, as well as the executive committee. Control of the national committee in a large measure may determine control of the next Republican national convention.

Ultimatum by Perkins.

Fortified by telegrams and letters sent to him by Progressives from many parts of the country, George W. Perkins today laid down an ultimatum to the Republican leaders that the harmony plan proposed by the subcommittee would not be acceptable to the Progressives.

Among these telegrams he made public one from Coleman Du Pont, Republican national committeeman from Delaware, reading:

"You are right. The action of the executive committee yesterday worked a great injury to the Republican party." William Allen White of Emporia, Kas., wired: "Glory in your spunk. Go to it." Among others who sent messages of support were Francis W. Bird of Boston, Mass., Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore, Md., Alexander P. Moore of Pittsburgh, B. F. Harris, Champaign, Ill., and Roy C. Woodruff, Bay City, Mich.

Hammond Asks Session.

John Hays Hammond, president of the national Republican league, wrote to Chairman Willcox urging him to call together the Republican national committee to take up the situation, Mr. Willcox said today that he had as yet taken no formal action in connection with the harmony plan controversy, but had met and talked with many Republicans and Progressives about it.

MIDDLE ROAD POLICY URGED BY M'CORMICK

Advocates Medium Between "Blind Reactionaries" and Radicalism.

A middle road between the "blind reactionaries" on the one hand and "foolish radicalism" on the other was advocated last night by Medill McCormick, congressman at large elect, as the ideal road for the American government to follow after the European war. He spoke at a dinner given for him at the Midday club in celebration of his election to congress.

He said that between the two extremes there is an "intelligent liberalism" that should be adopted by the government in working out the complex problems the nation will face shortly and already is facing.

Gain to Nation.

"Chicago, Illinois, and the nation," Mr. Baker said, "will gain by having Medill McCormick in Washington. He adds to a brilliant mind an incorruptible character, a wide experience, and a common sense that will make him of great use to his country as well as a source of pride to all who had a share in electing him to this high office."

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho was unable to come and wired his regrets. His place was taken by Prof. Samuel N. Harper of the University of Chicago, who spoke of his recent experience in Russia, and declared that no spot on the earth offered a greater field for American capital and enterprise than this.

Sketches Aspirations.

John T. McCutcheon combined a speech with a number of sketches of Mr. McCormick and made the only reference to the reported senatorial aspirations of the new congressman. He did this by sketching a large chair, over which was the word "Senatorial." Within the chair he drew a quick outline of a trembling gentleman with individualistic whiskers and contracted brows, and just around the back of the chair was peeping the face of Mr. McCormick. The guests got the idea and applauded.

Mr. McCutcheon elicited several laughs by his running comment on the sketches and particularly when he said:

"While I think a great deal of Medill, I haven't been thinking so much of him lately." Amid the laughter some one said out loud that McCutcheon was going to be married next Saturday.

Regrets Wired.

George F. Porter, one of the promoters of the dinner, said that it was "a slight way of expressing the esteem in which McCormick is held by his Chicago friends."

Telegrams of regret were received from Charles Evans Hughes, Theodore Roosevelt, Gov. Hiram Johnson of California, Senator Sherman, Gov. Lowden, and others.

In his telegram of felicitation Col. Roosevelt wired that he considered McCormick "one of the most useful public servants in the United States," and Mr. Hughes expressed his gratitude over the aid the new congressman brought to the recent campaign and predicted for him a career of great usefulness at Washington.

DRY PARTY WILL KEEP IDENTITY

WANT TO BE SURE.

The Prohibition National conference yesterday debated all day over the problems of reorganization and the proposed opening of the doors to an amalgamation with all the other anti-rum organizations in the United States for the drive on the liquor traffic in 1920.

The old prejudice against submerging the Prohibition party indentity was strong and overrode much of the effort of the liberals to get away from party name and unite in any form against the liquor traffic.

The consensus of opinion was that the party will retain its identity for the congressional elections of 1918 at least, although ready to coöperate with other societies for the time being.

Pro and Con.

Unless one or the other of the old parties adopt the national prohibition platform and do it in good faith, the leaders argued, they should not take the chance of having the Prohibition party swallowed up.

Several speakers indicated they would like to retain the Prohibition party organization at least until after it has been determined whether William Jennings Bryan can swing the Democratic party to the prohibition platform in 1920.

The liberals, led by Oliver W. Stewart, who take the position that the destruction of the liquor traffic is primary and the perpetuation of a party name is secondary, argued for letting down the bars, but a straight out resolution offered by Stewart that they combine their forces with any anti-rum organization in the next campaign was voted down.

Still on the Fire.

The following resolution, however, offered by O. S. Bishop of New York, is still under consideration and may be acted upon by the national committee today:

Resolved, That the Prohibition party hereby welcomes the proposition made by the Intercollegiate Prohibition association and requests that the national committee, through its chairman, appoint a committee to confer with other prohibition, temperance, reform, and church organizations looking to a national dry federation.

SUNSTROKE AT 25 BELOW ZERO

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 17.—Thermometers in Virginia yesterday registered 25 degrees below zero, but Walter McKenzie, a traveling man from Chicago, was a sufferer from sunstroke.

McKenzie sat down in a big leather chair in a hotel lobby and fell asleep. The winter sun, through the thick window glass, fell full upon his face. Several hours later a clerk tried to awaken him, but was unable to do so.

A physician was summoned and he relieved McKenzie from stupor and asserted that he was suffering from sunstroke.

FORMER BELLBOY AT BLACKSTONE HELD IN SOUTH

What is said to be a "by-product" of the so-called "blackmail syndicate" of a few months ago bobbed up yesterday in the arrest of Carl Smith, or Schmitt, 19 years old, formerly a bellboy in the Blackstone hotel, and his two companions, James Dolan and Harry Condow, or Freeman. The arrests were made in Henderson, Ky., where warrants were obtained by Carl P. Geibel, a real estate dealer, charging attempted blackmail.

Dolan and Condow escaped after arrested, but Smith is being held by the Henderson police, according to dispatches last night. The Chicago police have been asked to keep on the lookout for the two men who escaped.

Smith and Geibel are said to have become acquainted last summer when Geibel was a guest and Smith was a bellboy in the Blackstone. Later, it is charged, Smith and his companion planned to extort money from Geibel, but he called the police.

Why men are turning to "Light Hearted Havanas"

SMOKING habits are changing. For years we have been following the trend of these changes. We have noted that men are becoming more and more moderate in their use of heavy cigars.

There is a good reason for this: Heavy cigars, if smoked too freely, injure a man's cigar taste, and worse, they tend to spoil his future enjoyment of all cigars, whether mild or heavy.

So it is natural that the tendency of thinking smokers is towards a type of cigar whose Havana filler produces smoking effects which are invariably mild and pleasant and light hearted.

Among cigars of this "light hearted Havana" type, Tom Moore is a dependable example.

We say, dependable, because its high place in cigar smokers' esteem has been won by twenty years of thoughtful study and painstaking manufacture.

WHEELER URGES A HIGHER TARIFF BEFORE BANKERS

Says Nation Should Profit by Industrial Lessons from European War.

A demand for federal aid for American industries by tariff protection and intensified coöperation between the government and large business interests was made last night by Harry A. Wheeler, who addressed the Illinois Bankers' association.

About 300 bankers of Chicago and elsewhere in the state attended the annual banquet of the association at the La Salle hotel.

"The vision of the United States before 1914 was turned away, from its own shortcoming and it took the war to alter this condition," said Mr. Wheeler.

Before the war, he said, the country was finding out enough about itself to satisfy attacks on business. The war made the nation self-reliant and able to depend upon its own industries, he declared.

Keep Leadership in Future.

"Hereafter the United States should not relinquish this position of leadership; the government should regard it essential to aid industries," he continued.

"There is a new confidence in this country with respect to finance. The federal reserve system has made this possible, not from the fact that it averted a war panic but because it was a law to stabilize financial conditions. There was less effort to horde money and fewer withdrawals from banks than in any crisis before."

A plea for greater community coöperation was made by R. P. Shepard, president of the Community Service Bureau of Chicago.

"America will never be a nation in the true sense of the term," he said, "until community effort is solidified to the utmost."

Co-operation Is Needed.

Mr. Shepard urged closer relationship between the producer—the farmer—and the retailer as one aid to community harmony.

First hand experiences in the trenches of the European war were related by Capt. Ian Hay Beith of the British army.

Senator William E. Borah, who was slated as a speaker, wired he could not attend on account of press of business. Charles H. Ireland was toastmaster.

"BATH'S" TALK SWAYS VOTES

Coughlin Nearly Defeats Nonpartisanship Measure in Committee.

HIS POLITICAL THEORY.

Theorists who favor nonpartisan municipal elections were staggered yesterday. Ald. John Coughlin, poet laureate of the First ward, told them where to get off.

So effective was his assault that he almost put to sleep in the judiciary committee of the city council the draft of a bill to take the offices of mayor, city clerk, city treasurer, and alderman from beneath the party circle. Only by Ald. Otto Kerner's recourse to the chairman's right to vote was the bill saved. His voice made the committee vote a tie. Now the question whether the bill will be recommended to the legislature will be considered by the entire council.

But a minute later the twelve aldermen present voted unanimously for the nonpartisan election of Municipal judges. Ald. Coughlin voted for that bill as carelessly as though he were ordering a swissonrye.

"The Bath's" Argument.

Here is the logic used by "the Bath" in his attack on the first bill called up.

"Gentlemen, this doesn't seem like a very fair proposition to me. It doesn't promise us any improvement over the old methods.

"If you want to destroy the Democratic and Republican parties, crush them to smithereens, this is the way to get at it. But, gentlemen, this attacks the basic principle of our present government—the ward organization—and, furthermore, if you are elected in this way you go in as no man's man."

"Pardon me," asked Ald. A. A. McCormick, gently, "but whose man are you?"

"Bobbie Burns'," answered Coughlin.

To me also it looks like a dangerous proposition——," began Ald. Herman Miller, fast becoming known as "Lawyer" Miller.

O Tempora, O Mores.

"It would make mugwumps of us," interrupted Coughlin. "As it is now, you can become very independent after your election."

Those who voted for the bill were Werner, McCormick, Kimball, Buck, Blaha, and Kerner.

BIRTH CONTROL FAN PETS CAT; BEATS HUSBAND

Mrs. Harmeson Attacks Mr. H., but Court Attaches Stop the Battle.

"The trouble with my wife," said Mr. Harmeson to Julia L. McGuire of the Court of Domestic Relations, "is that Nellie is always petting a cat and she believes in birth control. She has no children and that makes her peevish."

The Harmesons, who live at 4130 Park avenue, were in court because Mrs. Harmeson accused her husband of cutting down her monthly allowance from $60 to $56 a month. Harmeson had been ordered to give his wife $50, but he said he would make it $60 and the order was accordingly made.

"The reason I paid her $56, he told the court yesterday, "is that I have been paying $4 a month for the coal she uses. That makes $60 even."

"There is no fault to find with your conduct," said Miss McGuire. "The charge is dismissed."

The Harmesons turned to leave the court when suddenly there was a commotion.

"Strike me if you dare," Mrs. Harmeson was heard to shout. Court attachés ran out expecting to see Mrs. Haremson in danger of a castigation. It was the other way about.

Instead of Mrs. Haremson, her husband was stepping away from her with his hands and arms covering his face and Mrs. Harmeson was lambasting him with a right good will, the whiles calling out:

"Strike me if you dare."

They were separated and the Harmesons went their way.

ALLEGED THIEF TO FACE TRIAL

Samuel L. Jones, formerly assistant cashier of the Barber Asphalt company, 7 South Dearborn street, was returned yesterday from Cincinnati, where he was arrested accused of larceny by embezzlement, sworn to by William J. Lang, manager of the firm.

Jones disappeared last November, his accounts short $1,190, it is said.

UNSUSPECTING FUGITIVE TAKEN AFTER 13 YEARS

For more than thirteen years the United States government has been looking for Jock Coe, a Chinese. Yesterday Immigration Inspectors Ward Thompson and Howard D. Ebe, found him working in a laundry a 5211 Broadway. This brings to a climax one of the most remarkable fugitive cases on record, for Coe did not know he was a fugitive.

The Chinaman was arraigned and his bond fixed at $2,000. The government wants him deported on the ground that he gained entrance to the United States illegally.

In 1903 Jock Coe and six other Chinese were arrested in Cleveland. The judge ruled that the immigration inspector could not testify that the prisoners were Chinese because he was not an expert on races.

Word "Liar" Costs Doctor Witness a Fine of $25

Dr. F. H. Schmidt had testified in a suit brought by Mrs. Helen Faber asking $35,000 of the Chicago Surface Lines for personal injuries.

Attorney R. J. Slater, counsel for the defendant, in his argument to the jury quoted Dr. Schmidt as saying the "spinal column was like a bursting auto tire."

"You're a liar!" shouted the doctor.

"Twenty-five dollars' fine," ordered Judge McKinley.

ATTACKS FINES COOK IMPOSES IN CITY COURT

Abraham Rubenstein, recently fined $500 by Judge Landis for contempt of court, yesterday filed a petition for a writ of mandamus in the Superior court in behalf of his client, Harry Leiberman, attacking all judgments rendered in the Municipal court as unconstitutional. He contends that the records are improperly kept by the clerk of the Municipal court.

"Judge Wells M. Cook assessed my client $147.80 some months ago," Rubenstein recited in the bill. "The clerk has only one record book in which this is kept. The law requires that they have in addition a judgment book, a fee book, and other record books."

The attorney appeared before Judge Cook Jan. 10 and asked that he vacate the judgment. The judge refused.

"I refused to grant his appeal because I didn't think it deserving," Judge Cook said. "There may be some delay in the transfer of records from the abbreviated form to the more complete records, but this is to be expected. We have the record on a record book, a file slip, and a minute book."

Two Checks for Firemen.

The firemen's pension fund was increased yesterday by the receipt of checks totaling $300 for efficient work done by firemen in two recent fires, as follows: David Berg & Co., packers, West Thirty-seventh street and Normal avenue, $100 for service in a fire Dec. 21; Charles H. Besly & Co., brass dealers, 118 North Clinton street, check for $200 for service in a $50,000 fire Jan. 13.

INDIAN ROMEO MUST PAY COST OF RAISING BABE

Thomas St. Germain, an Indian, former football star of Carlisle school and later a Yale assistant coach, was found guilty on a serious charge yesterday by Judge John Steik in the Court of Domestic Relations. Miss Jeanette Black, daughter of a realty man of Philadelphia, said that St. Germain was the father of her 2 year old son. Miss Black is staying at the home of Joseph Ilg of Oak Park, general freight agent for the Grand Trunk railroad.

The warrant for the arrest of St. Germain was issued Jan. 8, the day that the defendant went to Crown Point with Janet Wilkins, a graduate of Rockford college, and a social worker, to whom he was married that day. It was the day set for his marriage to Miss Black.

St. Germain was held under $1,100 bonds until this afternoon, while he arranged to give surety that he would make the payments of $550 in nine years for the support of the child.

Expect Capt. O'Brien to Be Reinstated Today

Capt. W. P. O'Brien, suspended from command of the Cottage Grove avenue police district last October on charges of failing to suppress vice, probably will be reinstated today.

"We find," read the decision of the civil service commission yesterday, "that the evidence is insufficient to warrant the removal of Capt. W. P. O'Brien from the police department, and we order the case referred to the general superintendent of police."

Chief Schuettler said he would confer with the commission today. It is believed he will restore O'Brien to duty without punishment, as the commission failed to find him guilty of the charges against him.

Saloon, Said to Belong to Skidmore, Loses License

Mayor Thompson yesterday revoked the license of a saloon at 1958 West Lake street. The license was in the name of William Hayes; but State's Attorney Hoyne holds that the owner is William H. Skidmore, recently indicted in the police graft scandal.

CUBS WHO FAIL TO START TRIP WILL LOSE JOBS

Weeghman Sore at News Team's Getaway Will Open B. B. Strike.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

President Weeghman of the Cubs entered into the fight against the Baseball Players' fraternity for the first time yesterday when he asserted in quite positive fashion that any of his players who didn't board the train for the California training camp on Feb. 20 would be without a job all season.

It is supposed that about sixteen or eighteen men of the Cubs' squad of thirty-five are fraternity members and if the clubs is declared on that day and all the members stand by their colors, the Cubs' special train will depart with only about seventeen or nineteen athletes on board. Most of them will be recruits going out on trial.

B. B. Fuss None of Weeghman's.

"I have been fair with all of my players," said the Cubs boss, "and I have told what all this baseball fuss is about. I have received no information as it whatever from headquarters and there is nothing I could do to adjust matters. Under those conditions, I feel justified in taking decisive action in the matter, so I will declare that if any of my players do not go on the trip they can figure they are through.

"It is true that some of my players received a cut in salary and have refused to sign their contracts, but I understand this fus has nothing to do with the salary question. We had the biggest salary list last season that any ball club ever had. Many of the players possessed war time contracts which were entirely out of proportion to their worth. I think the new contracts sent out are just and fair. We could not live and pay such salaries as have been the rule for the last two or three years."

General Cut in Pay Slips.

Rumors there was a more general cut in the salaries that was at first suspected yesterday it developed that Leslie Mann was among those who had returned his contract unsigned because of a big cut. Mann was a strong and reliable all player for he Cubs last year and showed improvement—more, in fact, than any man on the team. However, it is said he was drawing $5,000 per year, which is as much or more than the outfielders of the old Cubs, were drawing when pennants and world's championships were common on the west side. Few would say that Mann classed with Sheckard, Hofman or Schulte as an outfielder.

Mann wrote a letter to a friend in Chicago telling of his refusal to sign and hinted that he would quit the game before he would play for what was offered.

Williams Signs for Commy.

In contrast to the news from the Cub headquarters came the quiet announcement from Comiskey park that Pitcher Claude Williams, one of the finds of the last season, had sent in his signed contract for the coming season. Williams was a real star in the American league last year, even if it was his first season as a big leaguer, and although the figures of his contract weren't announced, it would be a safe guess that they aren't as big as the one objected to by Leslie Mann.

MAJORS TO PUT FRAT UNDER BAN

New York, Jan. 17.—In retaliation for the action of the Players' fraternity in refusing to grant its players permission to sign, Presidents John Tener of the National league and Ban Johnson of the American league have decided that hereafter their leagues will refuse to recognise the Players' fraternity or have any dealings with it, it was announced here today. President Johnson left this afternoon for Chicago.

"We could take no other action," said Tener. "We cannot longer have dealings with an organization which is guilty of the rank injustice of the present action of the fraternity in attempting to interfere with, hurt, and ruin our business."

When he learned that the major leagues considered their agreement with the fraternity broken and would no longer recognize it, President Fultz of the fraternity said:

"They will be only too glad to recognize us after this case comes to a head. I also can see how long organized baseball will attempt to fight the American Federation of Labor and attempt to play semi-professional players as strikebreakers. They had better give in now, as the situation is growing more tense all the time."

E. Collins Happy; Frat Membership Has Lapsed

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 17.—Edward T. Collins, who drawes more salary than any other ball player in the ranks except Tyrus Raymond Cobb, said today he would report to the White Sox camp on time next spring. "I was a member of the fraternity," explained Collins, "and am therefore subject to any orders from Secretary Fultz. I am working under a two year contract with Mr. Comiskey and will be the most enthusiastic man in the country when reporting time comes.

"I once belonged to the fraternity, but terminated my membership to lapse for the simple reason that I was not interested about it. I never had a grievance in baseball. The Athletics and Connie Mack always treated me right and Comiskey is doing the same now. Now, don't think I am antagonistic to the fraternity; I am not, but am simply explaining my position."

NEW BOXING BILL IS INTRODUCED AT SPRINGFIELD

"TRIBUNE" DECISIONS

At Youngstown—Battling Levinsky beat Bob Moha (12).

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—The Illinois boxing bill was introduced in the house today by Representative Jacob W. Epstein of Chicago and was referred to the committee on license and miscellany, of which Representative Emil Festerling of Rockford is to be the chairman. There is a well defined feeling that there is better than an even chance that the bill, possibly amended in some features, will be passed by the house. Its fate in the senate is much more doubtful.

The committee of the senate that will consider it, the committee on license, is headed by Senator Wood of Jefferson county. He, as a representative two years ago, fought the boxing bill on the floor of the house.

Not Like Bill Beaten in 1915.

The bill, as introduced, is considerably different from that which went to defeat in 1915. Safeguards and protective provisions have been inserted, it is claimed, that will obviate to great degree objections that were raised in the battle of two years ago.

The Epstein bill provides for the creation of a state athletic commission of three members, at salaries of $3,000 each, with a secretary at $2,400. Licenses may be issued by the commission to duly incorporated clubs for the purpose of staging "athletic, boxing, and sparring matches." No license shall be issued to a club unless it shall have owned or held a lease on a building or shed in which it is proposed to have an exhibition for six months consecutively prior to the date of the license. A permanently established club having a clubhouse may use a theater or hall for an exhibition, but an outdoor exhibition is prohibited.

Scale of Licenses.

The license fee is $25 for a club in a city or village of less than 5,000, $50 for cities of less than 50,000, $100 for cities of less than 100,000, and $200 for cities of 200,000 or more.

Within twenty-four hours after an exhibition a sworn statement must be made to the state treasurer of the gross receipts, which must be counted in the presence of an official inspector of the commission. Five per cent of the gross goes to the state for the general fund.

The bill permits ten round matches, no round to be longer than three minutes' duration. Five ounce gloves is the maximum permitted, there shall be no Sunday matches, and bouts are to be held only in an inclosed building.

Jennings Says Players Will Lose by Striking

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 17.—In a talk here tonight Manager Hugh Jennings of the Detroit team of the American league went on record as saying that the ball players are wrong in their present strike attitude and that if the movement is carried out as threatened the men are bound to suffer in the end. Hughey said he knows that one of the demands is uncalled for. He said:

"In my long experience in the major leagues, both as a player and a manager, I never heard of a big league magnate refusing to pay a player who was hurt in the service of his employer."

Jennings does not expect the players to carry out their strike threat, saying that he thinks the rank and file think too much of their jobs and the money to resort to such extremes.

Houlihan Gets Average of 227 and 279 High Game

Tom Houlihan, with a 279 game and average of 226 2-3, was the feature performer on the local bowling circuit. He rolled with the Bull Frogs of the Semradek league and the team won three straight from the Western Blues. The Bull Frogs averaged 965 2-3.

The Commodore Barrys dropped the first half of their special match with the Vermonts at the latter's drives, taking the small end of a total pin series, 3,260 to 2,888. The second half of the match will be rolled next Wednesday night at the Thoma alleys, the home of the Barrys. Wolfe was the only member of the Vermonts that did not get an average better than 200, while Miller was high with an average of 233 2-3.

In the Wake of the News

by RING W. LARDNER.

INTERESTING FACTS.

ONE of the latest inventions known to science is the pedometer. From the Latin, pes, pedis, meaning foot; and the Swiss, meta, meaning measure. But a pedometer does not measure one's foot. The instrument that does that is called a shoe salesman. A pedometer records the distance one travels afoot.

Ben Kendall gave us a pedometer for an Emancipation day present. It was our intention at the time to carry it round a golf course. But we forgot.

In looking through our dresser for the third white vest button the other day, we came across our pedometer. We tried it in the vest, but it was too big for the buttonhole. And then we wondered what use we could put it to.

The result of our cogitation was that we loaned it to Gay Milliken, with the request that he wear it at Tuesday night's dance. From the Latin, gay, meaning giddy; and the Persian, milliken, meaning marathon dancer. Mr. Milliken is a gentleman who dances every dance; even when it is ladies' choice.

Mr. Milliken wore the pedometer, but the test was hardly fair. A cotillion consumed most of the evening and a cotillion leaves many persons idle much of the time. Moreover, Mr. Milliken discovered that the pedometer did not record when he was dancing smoothly; only when he hopped. And Mr. Milliken, dear friends, seldom hops; hops, in fact, only to avoid injuring a neutral toe.

Mr. Milliken went on the floor at 9:10. The dance ended at 1:10. He took half an hour off for victuals, and was resting an hour and a half besides, during the cotillion and normal intermissions.

Mr. Milliken probably danced two hours of the four. The pedometer credited him with five and a quarter miles of travel.

Well, now, suppose there had been no cotillion, and that the dance had lasted longer, and that the wearer of the pedometer had been a leaper.

Fifteen miles is perhaps a low estimate for the average distance covered by a popular dancer in the course of an evening. You pay to do it, too.

FAME.

There is a firm on South La Salle street whose officers we know personally. The firm wanted to reach us by mail. The firm's letter was addressed to us in care of the World Film company, New York. The World Film company forwarded it to the Curtis Publishing company, Philadelphia. The Curtis Publishing company forwarded it to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. We got it.

TWO RING CLUBS FOR MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—The state boxing commission has decided to allow another club in Milwaukee to stage boxing contests, thus busting the trust enjoyed by Tom Andrews' club. Joe Ornstein and Frank Mulkern, a promoter of the first shows under the state boxing law, are the heads of the new concern, which announced that its first match will be a battle in February between Jeff Smith and Bob Moha.

Last night's fight between Freddie Welsh and Richie Mitchell caused a death, that of Patrolman Lawrence Preisinger, who was on duty at the fight to preserve order. He dropped dead of apoplexy due to excitement after the show.

Freddie Welsh need not worry over the attachment of $11,000 of the gate receipts of last night's fight, for even with this deducted from the champion's share of the proceeds he was able to put $5,200 in his sock after he reached his hotel. The total receipts were $15,098, and Welsh received about $6,800 for his share. Richie Mitchell's end was just a few dollars under $5,000.

There was no action taken today in the garnishee action against Welsh by J. A. Brahany of Minneapolis. Details of the case are not known here, all of the cases are not known here, as the only papers are a notice of attachment.

H. S. FIVES DRAW BASKET CHARTS FOR 49 SQUADS

BY OTTO ENGEL.

Forty-nine basketball teams, equaling the record number of last season, will compete for three titles—heavy, light, and bantam weight—in the Chicago High School league this season, according to the schedule drafted at a meeting yesterday. There will be seventeen quintets in each of the bantam and light weight sections and fifteen in the heavyweight class.

The preliminary season will open Feb. 1 and close Feb. 20. The two leading teams in each section will qualify for the semi-finals, in which there will be two divisions of each weight. The winning teams of each section then will meet in a championship combat about the third week in March. Hugh L. Ray of Wendell Phillips is the chairman of the faculty committee. Following are the schedules:

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

Bert Tredick of Conklin's room made a flying finish in the Chicago Billiard league series at the Dearborn room, defeating Graumann, 20 to 44, in eighty-seven innings. Each player had high run of 6. Tonight Lundgren of Petersen's will play La Gros at the Casino room.

An unfinished run of eight by Daniels gave a spectacular finish to the team match at Mussey's last night. Daniels is paired with Rahn and this sprint at the finish enabled them to defeat Lauben and Rickard (48), 38 to 30, in sixty-two innings.

Clarence Safford won both his games at the Adams room, defeating J. Matt, 150 to 95, in the afternoon and T. Burns, 150 to 71, at night.

SENN QUINTETS WIN PAIR FROM PARKER TEAMS

Maloney's Basket in Last Minute Decides Heavy Tilt—Englewood Double Victor.

BY PREP.

Maloney's basket in the last minute of play won the most exciting prep game of the season yesterday when Senn heavyweight nosed out Parker, 6 to 4, in the former's gymnasium. Senn was held to two baskets and Parker one, which gave the visitors a lead of 2 to 0 at half time. Senn minors downed Parker, 21 to 2, holding the invaders without a score in the second half.

Englewood scored a double triumph over Tilden, winning the heavyweight game, 24 to 2, featured by the shooting of Palmer with a seven baskets, and the lightweight game, 14 to 9. De La Salle 135 pounders overcame a 10 to 6 lead at half time and defeated Wendell Phillips, 17 to 14. De La Salle seconds won from St. Patricks, 32 to 8. The Catholic 105 pounders won from St. Patrick's Cubs, 14 to 8. Calumet bantams downed Parker, 9 to 4, after getting off in front, 5 to 2, at half time. Lineups:

Lewis Fives Land Pair; Collegians Top League

Lewis institute, Chicago district college conference champions, went into the lead by defeating Crane college, 42 to 16, at Lewis yesterday. Stillwell, with nine baskets, and Taylor, with eight, featured Lewis' fourth straight victory. The Lewis ponies won from Crane lightweights, 22 to 15, making their third straight game. Seven minutes before the finish the score was tied at 15 all.

De Paul university won its second district game, downing Lane college, 50 to 6, after getting away to a 27 to 4 lead at half time. Russet and Kearns featured with seven baskets each. Lineups:

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special correspondence.]—If you know your style catechism for the winter of 1917 you answer promptly "red" and "medieval" when you are asked anything about evening gowns.

The above exemplification of the mode, worn by one of the fashionable women at the opera, observes both decrees of fashion. The gown is of red velvet, opening over black and gold net. The long medieval silhouette is broken only by the quaint barreling of the hips by a gold chain of antique workmanship. Observe, too, the persistent length of the sleeves, another token of Moyen age sentiment.

Red has, in fact, waked all the fashionable world with its colorful drum beats, and one sees at every evening assemblage any number of sumptuous velvet wraps of the geranium's own bright crimson.

Comes Kathlyn Again in the Sticky Drama

"REDEEMING LOVE"

THE CAST.
Naomi Sterling.....Kathlyn Williams
John Bancroft.....Thomas Holding
Hugh Wiley.....Wyndham Standing
James Plymouth.....Herbert Standing
Naomi's Aunt.....Jane Keckley
Katie.....Helen J. Eddy
McCarthy.....Dom Bailey

BY MAE TINEE.

THIS first picture selected by the Morosco company as the vehicle for Kathlyn Williams in her first appearance under their banner is as trite as its title. However much you may have cared for Miss Williams in the past, and for Thomas Holding, who co-stars with her, you are not likely to go into ecstasies over their work in this new feature. Miss Williams, while she looks rather surprisingly young in the first scenes, and carries out fairly well the illusion of young girlishness, hasn't much of a part at its best, and Mr. Holding has had thrust on him the rôle of a sanctimonious preacher. He goes around with a sweetly patient and martyred air, that makes you long to trip him just to see if, by any possibility, such a thing as a "rise" might be gotten out of him.

Not to go in the least into detail, the story is that of a country girl who, though she really loves the minister, elopes with the gay stranger from the city. There she becomes hardened, and is soon the notorious "queen" of a gambling resort. The minister, settling in the same place—meaning the city—his object being to reform the masses, meets and finally, of course, reforms her. That's the story, and, I ask you, isn't it trite?

Speaking of "romantic" figures in filmdom, Kathlyn Williams is undoubtedly one of these. She is a pioneer of the screen, and has shown much ability and versatility in the past. But, then, she has had some pretty good stories to work on. She needs to be careful in the future that no more of the present sort are palmed off on her. And if she must have Mr. Holding for her lead, may he never, never be cast again as a gentleman of the cloth!

KATHLYN WILLIAMS AND THOMAS HOLDING

Real Love Stories.

A Glad Song Hushed.

A young girl of 19, whose career as a concert singer promised future glory, lost her father and was left without means to carry on her life work. Her mother persuaded her to marry a man much older than herself, and assured her that she could continue her studying. The girl finally consented and the marriage, though loveless, was not unhappy, for there were three babies, and the career was forgotten. But one day a terrible explosion occurred in her husband's factory, and he was carried to the hospital unconscious. After months of suffering he died and the girl was left a widow at 24.

The doctor in charge of the case, assuming that the deceased had left a fortune, rendered a bill which was so exorbitant the widow could not pay.

The doctor grew restless and sent a lawyer to see what could be done toward a settlement. Afterward the lawyer said to his mother: "When I opened the door and saw that little woman standing dressed all in black, with a baby in her arms and two clinging to her skirts, I knew from that moment I would have to take care of her and protect her."

A year from that time they were married, and then followed the happiest years of the woman's life. The little home in the far west was full of childish laughter, there were five little mouths to feed, but there was also much happiness, and even a song or two.

I wish I could end my romance here, but, no—tragedy knocked again in that happy home. Reverses in fortune necessited a long journey back to the big city.

A fresh start, then a golden opportunity which meant thousands to the little family that had sacrificed so long. The father, on his way home jubilant, was struck down by a careless driver "doing fifty an hour."

Five wondering little children, a weeping woman, and that cry:

"I would do anything—live in one room, go out and work with my hands—anything to have my husband back."

When to Go Home.

"Dear Miss Blake: How late should a party which young folks of 16 and 17 are attending last, providing this party is well chaperoned and the young ladies have escorts?

K. G."

I would say that the party should break up about 11 o'clock, unless it is a dancing party and the dancing begins at 9, in which case, with the chaperon's permission the going home hour might be extended until 12.

ART

BY LOUISE JAMES BARGELT.

YESTERDAY was a day of action at the Art institute. Crowds stood two and three deep before the collection of French masterpieces from the Luxembourg. These paintings were only half of them hung on the walls as the institute authorities had ordered them rehung. But the fact that they stood in various attitudes about the floor in no way deteriorated from the general effect nor lessened the enthusiasm and rapt admiration of the hundreds of visitors who viewed them.

The finest paintings in the Luxembourg of the last decade are there and these paintings are many of them among the world's acknowledged masterpieces. There are portraits by such men as Leon Bonnat, Eugene Carriere, Jean Paul Laurens, and Edouard Manet.

Claude-Oscar Monet's spirituelle impressionistic glimpses of cathedrals are there and by their side the inimitable, impelling war canvases of Neuville and Morot. Renoir's best portrait, according to many authorities, may be seen in the picture "Mme. H." and near it is Alfred Philippe Roll's painting of the Dragoon, grim and terrible.

Other artists whose names are almost equally world known are Desboutin with his portrait of Mme. Cornereau; Jules Ernest Panis with his "Man with the Violin"; James Tissot with his "Young Woman in Red Jacket," and Ziem with his impressive canvas of Antwerp. There are some eighty paintings in all and the work of some sixty artists represented.

Nor should the collection of medals in the cases at the head of the stairs be overlooked. Alexander Charpentier, Daniel Dupuis, Victor Peter, and Louis Roty are among the distinguished artists whose medals are shown.

Bright Sayings of the Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Write on one side of the paper only. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

One day when my mother was suffering from a severe headache my little brother was told to stay in the house in order to answer any calls from visitors. Along in the afternoon he wanted to go outside and play and so thought of the following method of telling visitors that mother was unable to receive them. He procured two large cards and had sprawled across each of them the following inscription, "Nobody Home" and placed one card on the front door and one on the back door so that visitors could see the inscription before they reached the steps.

It's Still to Be "Lonesome Club."

THE Lonesome club has doffed the incognito of "The Chicago Social club" and is again the good old fashioned, openhearted, fank Lonesome club. At a meeting of the officers of hte club last night many advantageous changes were made in the affairs of the club, and the first of all was the return to the original name of the organization.

The change was not made without discussion. "It's a handicap to social ease to have yourself labeled lonesome" was answered by the indisputable "But every one IS lonesome or he or she wouldn't want to join the club."

It was also decided that the club should be very strict about its membership, that two good references would be required of each applicant before he (or she—we'll call them all "he" after this) would be admitted to membership.

The more benevolent male arguers stood out for the mere requirement of an eagerness to find companionship on the part of the applicant. The saner feminine contingent demanded that the applicants be unquestionable as to character before they were admitted to membership.

By the unanswerable argument that nobody would want to belong to a club that anybody could belong to the strictists won.

It was decided that the club should be self-supporting and should accept no endowment from any source. A statement was issued declaring that the object of the club is not, as has been suggested, matrimony; that it is merely a chance for lonely men and women to meet socially under proper chaperonage. But it was admitted that "when men and women meet Cupid's darts are fleet."

It was also decided that no announcement of the meeting place would be made through the newspapers; that the members would be notified of the place of meeting, either by post card or by telephone, a convenient time before the meetings, which will continue to take place on the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

As the club enlarges its membership neighborhood branches will be established. With the final decision on a dinner dance, tickets for which will be $1, as the entertainment for Feb. 6, there closed the most momentous meeting of the officers in the history of the Lonesome club.

It is pleasanter not to mention the price of potatoes; turnips are still 3 cents a pound, or ten pounds for 27 cents.

German Fried Potatoes.

ANOTHER daily reader writes: "Will you kindly give a recipe for frying raw potatoes, commonly known as German fried, which I understand are not fried in deep fat, as the French fried? My sister says that water is added, but I think she is mistaken. Anyway, I have never succeeded in getting mine as good as some I have eaten. While I know that potatoes prepared this way are unwholesome, still I do not believe they will do any harm once in a while, for adults, where the digestion is good, in an otherwise wholesome diet."

For the kind words following these I thank you "Daily Reader." We all like encouragement and suggestions, too. There is enough of suggestion above for four times the space I have to give.

Since German fried potatoes gained their popularity through the hotels and restaurants we may go to that prime authority, Filippini, for a recipe that will settle the discussion between sisters or between a sister and a brother. Under the title "German Fried Potatoes" he gives this: "With the aid of a round cutter one inch in diameter, cut four good sized, sound, raw peeled potatoes. Then take the potatoes and cut them into slices as thin as a 50 cent piece. Wash well and drain; then plunge into boiling fat for eight minutes. Lift them out, drain, and immediately place in a frying pan with half a ounce of clarified butter and gently fry on the range until they have obtained a nice golden color, which will take about six minutes. Drain them well, sprinkle half teaspoon salt over, dress on a hot dish with a folded napkin, and serve."

An excellent way to fry raw potatoes is to fry a little fat salt pork, put the potatoes into the pan when fat is almost up to smoking point, turn them after they have begun to brown, brown a few minutes after the turning, then reduce the fire, cover pan, and cook until the potatoes are tender. Only a little steam will escape from the potatoes after they are browned thus, so that at the end they should be rather crisp. On no account have fire enough to burn potatoes. They cool the pan at first, so it must be genuinely hot in order that they may brown, but later the fire can be low while they are finishing, a low fire retaining the original and correct temperature.

Get the Fresh Air Habit and You'll Give Up Shivering

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Did you try my method for reducing as outlined for Mrs. Eva Lane, who lost thirty-six pounds in six weeks? How much did you lose? Did you stick to it for any length of time, or did you fall from grace after a trial of a week or two? I want to hear your experiences, whether you were successful or not in reducing. "The Tribune" will pay $1 for every letter published. Your chance for earning the dollar will be as good if you slumped on the reducing job as if you stuck until you got rid of pounds of flesh. Names and addresses will not be published. Address Antoinette Donnelly, care of "The Chicago Tribune."

SHIVERS: I fear you will continue to shiver and shake until warm weather comes unless you get the fresh air habit and get out more and walk. Fresh air is essential to good health and cannot be indulged in to excess provided the body heat is protected. Provide yourself with a pair of broad toed, comfortable shoes with a common sense heel, and begin right now to walk a mile and a half every morning. Clothe yourself warmly and walk briskly. You will probably shiver and shake for the first quarter of a mile until you get accustomed to walking in every kind of weather; after that you will feel warm enough to want to open your coat. Do not do it, however, for fear of taking cold, but walk more slowly, and I am sure it will not be long before you will not be happy unless you are walking.

MISS LOUISE D.: YOU DID NOT tell me how tall you are, so consequently I cannot tell you whether you weigh too much or not. However, I am printing for you an exercise for reducing the bust; Stand erect with knees stiffened and arms raised high over head. By bending the body at the waist only try to touch the tips of your fingers to the floor on the opposite side to the hand you use. Alternate with the other hand. Begin with five times each and increase to fifty or seventy-five.

WRITER: Stamped, addressed envelope, please. I will send you the article on the doubling process, too, if you wish it. Glad to do it.

R. K. L.: In "The House Built Upon Sand," in which Lillian Gish starred, Roy Stuart took the part of David Westbrooke. William H. Brown was the attorney. Kate Bruce was David's housekeeper. It's my job to answer questions. Write and ask as many as you please. I like to be busy.

Formula for Hard Soap.

"K. C. ASKS for a formula for hard soap. I have not saved the recipe for which she asks, but send in one that has been used in my family for years with great satisfaction. The ingredients are the same as those she mentions. Heat the grease; when lukewarm add the lye dissolved in cold water, one quart to one pound of lye, stirring constantly. Add ammonia and borax dissolved in a small amount of water. Stir until it is as thick as honey. Put paper in the bottom of a dripping pan and pour in the mixture. In about five hours mark into squares. After a day or so break apart. This soap is white. I do not find it hard on the hands.

Mrs. S. H. R."

Song of Long Ago.

"I should like to ask your help in obtaining an old song entitled "Lorena" or 'Sweet Lorena.' I am not certain which. It was published during the civil war. I have tried in divers ways to get a copy.

FLORENCE H."

Thus the Corner has never so much as heard of "Sweet Lorena" does not indicate that the song may not be familiar to old beloved by scores of ballad lovers. The demand for songs is unusually active today. Has the season with its opportunities for social functions and the coziness of winter evenings at home anything to do with this?

VOGUE

$4 now. $5 after February 15th

Owing to the tremendous increase in the cost of paper, labor and materials, Vogue—rather than lower its standard of production in the slightest degree—will raise its price on February 15th, from $4 a year to $5.

Vogue is not an extravagance as mere fiction magazines are. It is an economy, rather. Its advance fashion information and authoritative advice insures you against "clothes mistakes" and save you many times its subscription price.

$4 invested in Vogue
a tiny fraction of your loss on a single ill-chosen hat or gown
will save you $400

The gown you buy and never wear is the really expensive gown. Gloves, boots, hats, that miss being exactly what you want are the ones that cost more than you can afford.

Consider, then, that for $4—and $4 surely is a tiny fraction of your loss on a single ill-chosen hat or gown—you may have before you throughout the whole year this world-wide fashion authority, thereby insuring the correctness of your gowning and saving you from costly mistakes.

VOGUE'S service cannot be compressed into one copy a month—its timeliness, its speed, and its determination to give the last authentic word DEMAND that it be published semi-monthly.

Even at the $5 rate, Vogue, giving 24 issues a year, is the least costly of the better magazines. While the price of other "class" magazines ranges from $3 to $5 for 12 issues, you spend for Vogue only $2.50 for 12 issues—$5 for 24 copies. But if you take advantage of Vogue's Last Chance Offer (a full year at $4) you are spending at the rate of $2 for 12 issues—less than 17 cents a copy.

Trench Life Doesn't Hurt the Appetite.

BY CINDERELLA.

If Capt. one's heart good the other day to look Capt. Ian Hay Beith, just home from the trenches in France, eating a good square luncheon at the Blackstone. For the captain has filled and worn look even if he is smartly dressed and his black mustache is fashionably shaved down to a mere suggestion.

The captain is to give a talk called "The Human Side of French Warfare" tomorrow morning at eleven in the Blackstone ballroom. Afterwards a very good, unique collection of war posters will be auctioned.

Also at the Blackstone on Tuesday the Hillphalet W. Cramer was lunching a half dozen Milwaukee friends who had assisted Mrs. Walter Brewster and Mrs. Russell Tyson at their booths in the Allied bazaar the night before. To meet these Milwaukee women, were included Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. W. P. Martin, Mrs. Orville Babcock. Not far away, Mrs. John Runnells had a small luncheon for Mme. Stavko Grouitch, who looked extremely well and pretty, considering that Serbia, her beloved country by marriage, is entirely in the hands of the enemy just now. M. Grouitch is, and undoubtedly still, chief of Serbia's foreign affairs.

It may be that other things than the allied bazaar are happening in Chicago, but certainly not such picturesque ones. To Mrs. Edward Swift belongs the credit of having the youngest sales person at the bazaar.

She was a baby boy of three with a mop of blond curls, whose daddy had been sent to assist Mrs. Swift in the booths.

Baby was quickly seated in a tall chair behind a pile of cocoa tins, on which his name shone like gold. He cried shrilly "cocoa, is good, cocoa is good," and sold $18 worth of it to a delighted public.

Another mystery was cleared up by the counselor of the Russian embassy, when he appeared in the Russian booth yesterday. In it were Mrs. Herman Gade and Mrs. David Cook Jr., both in red satin Cossack costumes, trimmed with short baggy red trousers and shiny high black boots. They looked very stunning, everybody thought and told them, and so they were very proud of their Cossack outfits until M. Onou told them in the bland and childlike way that Russians have that they were Cossacks all right from the shoulders down, but quite some other kind of Russians from the feet up. Who cares anyway as long as the kopecks and roubles roll in?

WEDDINGS

The marriage is announced of Miss Gertrude L. Owen of Oak Park to John H. Freed of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Freed will be at home after March 1 at 319 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park.

Mr. and Mrs. David Maier of 4350 Michigan avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Jeanette, to Herman Adolph Strauss.

IN THE GOTHAM SMART SET

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Miss Mary Elizabeth Alexandre, daughter of the late J. Henry Alexandre, will be married to Nathaniel E. C. Rutter tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in St. Agnes' church. A reception will be held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. John E. Alexandre, 15 East Fifty-second street. Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Wood Thurber are a dinner tonight at 104 East Thirty-ninth street for their debutante daughter, Miss Evelyn Thurber. The guests included Miss Isabel Warren, Ida Lila Daniell, Miss Rhoda Higgins, and Louis Carreau, Ridgely Bryan, Kenneth Fisk, and Wilber Tovell. Dr. and Mrs. Thurber took their guests to the theater and then to the Biltmore for supper and dancing.

The engagement of Miss Adelaide Flint, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Austin Flint of 51 West Fifty-second street, to Reginald L. Whitman, son of Mrs. Charles L. Whitman of 48 Park avenue, has been announced. Miss Flint is one of last year's debutantes and a member of the Junior league. Mr. Whitman was graduated from Harvard in 1914.

Visiting Nurses' Association Meets.

Stereopticon views showing the districts of the city in charge of the Visiting Nurses' association were shown by Mrs. Ed B. Grannis as a feature of the annual meeting of the association in the Blackstone hotel yesterday.

The report of Mrs. Arthur T. Aldis, president, showed that during 1916 members of the association made 240,037 visits to the homes of 34,537 patients, which included 102 cases of infantile paralysis and 1,561 children stricken with measles, scarlet fever, and diphtheria. The association also supplied a staff of ninety nurses during the year, who cared for the sick poor of Chicago.

The study and care of infantile paralysis was explained by Dr. Hugh T. Patrick.

The talks were made by Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy of the nurses' committee, Mrs. James O. Heyworth of the substation committee, Mrs. Eugene Buffington for the office work, Mrs. Bertha Belden for the auxiliary, and Mrs. Grannis for the publicity committee.

The members were entertained at a tea by Miss Helen Drake after the business meeting.

The officers elected for 1917 were:

President—Mrs. Arthur T. Aldis.
First vice president—Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy.
Second vice president—Mrs. Bertha Belden.
Recording secretary—Mrs. Robert McGann.
Corresponding secretary—Mrs. George Fayerweather.

PHOTO. KOEHNE

The engagement is announced from London of Miss Violette Selfridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gordon Selfridge of that city, to Ripley Wilson of the American consular service, now on duty in London. The wedding is to take place in the spring.

It was a surprise to even Miss Selfridge's most intimate friends. Only last month Miss Selfridge, who is 19 years old, made her debut at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. Frank R. Chandler of 744 Rush street.

She returned to her home in London with her mother shortly before Christmas. She was accompanied by Miss Ermina Carry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Carry.

Ripley Wilson is American consul for the port of London. He is a Chicago boy. His father, the late John R. Wilson, was proprietor of the Chicago Journal from 1878 to 1896.

Miss Selfridge lived in Chicago with her aunt, Mrs. F. R. Chandler, for several years after her father disposed of his Chicago interests and opened a department store in London.

"I am amazed at this reported engagement, but I don't credit it," said Mrs. Chandler.

Here and There in the Society World

OLD friends from far and near, including many men of national importance, are to be present at the bachelor dinner given this evening at the Blackstone hotel for John T. McCutcheon, who will be married to Misst Evelyn Shaw on Saturday. The committee for the dinner consists of Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, Charles G. Dawes, John C. Shaffer, Clifford Arrick, and Rufus C. Dawes.

Miss Shaw will give a dinner party for the young women in her bridal party this evening at her home, 1130 Lake Shore drive.

A list of distinguished patrons and patronesses will be present at the debut of Leo Sowerby, the Chicago pianist, which takes place this evening at Orchestra hall. Sixty members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Eric De Lamarter, former TRIBUNE musical critic, will aid Mr. Sowerby in presenting his compositions.

Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde of 1524 Astor street will be at home for the Thursday morning reading class.

The South Shore Country club will observe the first anniversary of the opening of the new clubhouse this evening. Dinner will be served at 7:30. Dancing will begin at 9:30. A. D. Plamondon will lead the cotillon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Sprague, who were married on Jan. 6 in St. Thomas' church, New York, have returned to the city and are occupying their apartment at 11 East Division street.

Mrs. Pauline Palmer will give a tea for Charles W. Hawthorne tomorrow from 4 to 6 at the Cordon.

The Evanston Country club will have a stereopticon lecture by Frederick Palmer tomorrow evening.

Mrs. F. Valentine Johnson of 3963 Grand boulevard will entertain the New Hampshire colony and Illini village this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Colburn will leave Saturday for a tour of the orient.

Mrs. Horace Gray of Boston, formerly Katherine Meeker, is to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker of 3030 Lake Shore drive, within a fortnight.

Mrs. Paul Blatchford and the Misses Blatchford of 104 Bellevue place will be at home next Monday, Jan. 22.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once if bilious or constipated.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.

"THE HUGUENOTS" SUNG WITHOUT GALLI-CURCI

A SPOTTY, snapless, here-and-there revival was last night's of "The Huguenots," a work which reacts only to complete preparedness. Meyerbeer devised it to be a big show in all ways: he provided seven parts for as many singing-actors of the first class, and laid out an exacting plan of performance. Done in his way, it is forbiddingly expensive; Grau, if I be not in an error of memory, found it worth while only by all-starring it and charging seven dollars a seat—with the De Reszkes, Plançon, Maurel, Sembrich among the stars.

Galli-Curci and her doctor decided in the course of the day that she would be foolish to take a chance by singing until completely recovered; but I am not of the opinion that her presence would have made good the general deficiency, which had to do with ensemble rather than with individuals. Nor could her being in it have made a reasonable Raoul of Crimi, whose Creator never meant him for parts of the kind.

But the performance had aspects of excellence: Miss Raisa's Valentine, for one; and Arimondi's expert, full-flavored Marcel; and Campanini's conducting, which, in this case, was of uncommon value. It was not alone that he knew just what was in the score, and set himself to get it out, but that he knew the stage-requirements, also, and went as far as a man otherwise so engaged might go in directing the players. There was nothing in the proceedings to indicate that the stage was in charge of anybody else; only Miss Raisa and Arimondi seemed to be at all clear as to what ought to be done in one scene or another.

A singer new to Chicago, Jessie Christian, took Galli-Curci's place as Marguerite; she has, according to entr'acte information distributed by one of the Opera historians, sung the part, with others, in the Paris Grand. She found her way accurately through the difficult aria in the second act, and enthused the "house," which was big. She impressed me as deficient in personality, although the part is an indefinite implement, save for this one bravura opportunity.

Miss Sharlow gave Urban's song well, but made the page a prim stripling, which is not, I suspect, what it ought to be. However, it is safe to list her with the other victims of insufficient or inept stage-direction. De Nevers is too low for Maguenat's light, high baritone. Venturini led the male choristers through a good delivery of the a-cappella "Rataplan": the tenors in this were capital. F. D.

DEATH NOTICES.

Trustee Wins Opening Round of Fight Against Scheme of Statistician.

Trustee Charles S. Peterson yesterday at the meeting of the board of education frustrated an attempt to place Morton MacCormac on an equal with Secretary L. E. Larson and Supt. John D. Shoop. Mr. MacCormac has been statistician, but, after he advised the board that his bureau did not deal with statistics, an effort was made to establish a department of efficiency and organization with Mr. MacCormac at the head.

The effort to take Mr. MacCormac's bureau out of the jurisdiction of the secretary and to have him report directly to the board was led by Michael J. Collins, chairman of the audit committee.

"Plan Unbusinesslike."

"Such an arrangement," said Mr. Peterson, "is bound to lead to trouble. A private business managed in such a way could not continue and it is a mistake to try it on the board."

The question was defered two weeks.

The board ordered an educational survey and appointed the former committee to report on probable cost.

Two resolutions from the Chicago Woman's club were read. One asked for the administration building downtown and the other for a new building on the site of the Jones school at Harrison street and Plymouth court, which should contain the present elementary school and school for adults, which might be used as an administration building. The resolutions were referred to the superintendent and to the committee on administration building.

Protest Militatry Training.

A protest from the German painters and paperhangers' union No. 275 against military training in the high schools was read.

Capt. Edgar Z. Steever visited the Austin, Harrison, Crane, and McKinley High schools yesterday and talked to the boys. Nine-tenths of the boys at the Austin High school indicated they would take the course provided their parents consented. In the other schools about 80 per cent of the boys indicated a desire to take the work.

CITY MAY FORCE ACTION BY ROAD

John F. Wallace Says Illinois Central May Be Called On to Comply.

EXPENSE ONLY BARRIER

Chairman John F. Wallace announced yesterday that the railway terminals commission is of the opinion that the city would be justified in insisting upon the complete electrification of all the Illinois Central tracks inside the city limits within ten years.

"From the standpoint of the railroad company," he said, "electrification is simply and solely a matter of cost. There is nothing to prevent the complete electrification of the I. C. except the expense, which would amount to about $20,000,000. The electrification of the suburban service alone would cost $5,000,000.

Co-operation Necessary.

"The railway terminals commission always has advocated a large terminal on the lake front and the ultimate electrification of all railroads entering the city can be simplified greatly by cooperation between the I. C. and the other roads."

Mr. Wallace presented to the committee on railway terminals a resolution demanding the electrification of the company's suburban service within five years and the electrification of all its tracks in Chicago within ten years. There was a motion made that the committee concur in the resolution, but action was deferred.

Schwartz Would Limit Grants.

Action also was postponed on a resolution by Ald. U. S. Schwartz providing that no terminal privileges be given the roads using the La Salle street, Dearborn street, and Grand Central stations unless they cooperate on a plan for general electrification.

Charles H. Markham, president of the road, attended the meeting.

"The committee places too high a value on the privileges being granted the Illinois Central," he said.

BIRTH CONTROL ENVOY GUILTY

Cleveland, O., Jan. 17.—Dr. Ben L. Reitman of New York today was found guilty of distributing birth control literature after the jury had deliberated thirteen hours. Police Judge Cull fined Reitman $1,000 and sentenced him to six months' imprisonment in the workhouse. He was held in jail under $2,500 bail. A motion for a new trial will be heard Jan. 20.

The favorite train for Akron

Every night at 10 o'clock a great number of business men from Chicago and roundabout take the Baltimore & Ohio train to Akron, O.

They have had the evening for business or social purposes; they board the Akron sleeper any time after 9. p.m.

They reach Akron at 7:30 a.m.—giving them time for breakfast in the dining car, where the cooking is fine, and the ham and bacon are delicious.

The business day in Akron starts early, so they are bright and ready for work. By noon they may have wound up their business, and can then run up to Cleveland and get in an afternoon's work there, returning to Akron in time to board the sleeper for the return to Chicago at 10 p.m.

Try this train of ours for your next trip to Akron or Cleveland. Tell your salesmen to make a note of it also. It's a time-saver and a business help—to say nothing of its convenience.

Telephone our city ticket office, Wabash 3242, for reservations. Our staff understands the needs of the traveling business man and is obligingly prompt.

BOY DEFIES OWN FATHER TO GET AN EDUCATION

Greek Bootblack Shows Spartan Courage in Fighting Parent and Boss.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

The TRIBUNE yesterday received a letter which is printed below. In somewhat imperfect English it tells an interesting story. It also throws light on a vexed and important question.

It was written by a Greek boy who is 18 years old. It is the inspiring record of a fight against great odds, of himself, individually, the battle is well on the way to being won.

The young Greek appeals for aid for his brothers, who are less ambitious or less determined, and who, like him, are "hiden by the bosses in the shoe shines."

He will be glad to learn that a plan already under way, backed by the united efforts of the national government and of the local school board, to remedy the conditions of which he complains.

Against Father's Wishes.

It is significant that in the case of the letter writer the hardest opposition he had to overcome was that of his own father. In many cases overdraft on the part of immigrant parents or other relatives is responsible for bad conditions in the foreign colonies.

The letter follows:

I am now taking the chance in writing to the Chicago's and world's greatest newspaper with the hopes that I may save many of the Chicago Boys who are kept hiden by their employers in shoe shining and many other places.

I am a Greek boy 18 years old and living in this country for 42 months. When I first come over in this country my father put me to work in one Greek barber shop. I was working then from 6:30 A. M. to 6:30 P. M. and until 11 P. M. on Saturday and until 6:30 Sun. with a salary of $12 a month, my board and room.

His "Young Days" Going.

I were very ambitious to go to school and as the days were passing by I were very sorry for my young days were going and not getting an education because I knew what education means. I was then 14 years and 10 months old.

When some police was coming after me in forcing me to go to school my boss said "He is 16 and one half years old." One day I told him to send me to school but he and my father were against school and he refused. I wrote many letters to my father but he answer and telling me to keep quite and working. I never had the chance to speak English with the American boys.

Threatened the Boss.

I suggested in telling my boss this way—the police say if you will not send me to school you will be in jail in 30 days. He scared and wrote letter to my father in telling him that if they will not send in school they will arrest them. He then answer his letter and telling him to register me in school as 16 years old, to send me for a while and then to take me out again. He did so.

After while my father moved me to some other city in shoe shining parlor because after I start the school I was only getting $7 a month. I was living terrible in the new place to move me again. I could not go to school. I were trying hard to find some place where I can work and go to school.

He Finds a Friend.

At last God's light came and I found a friend and he is a good men. I talked to him and telling all my story. He were then trying hard to find a place for me. He found a place at some other city at Y. M. C. A. When I first get the place I escaped from the place I used to work and nobody knew my address then because if they knew they was going to take me away. I were then with American peopple going to school eight hours and working six hours a day. After 2 months they gave them my address and my father came and talked to me terrible because they could never realize what school means, but I knew.

I stayed there until I finished seventh grade. Then after I thought to start now and work at some office, for I could not efford to go to day school, for I was without clothes, coat, shoes or anything. So I started to work at some office in Chicago and I am now going at 8th grade in schools. I am going during the night. If I only could go to day schools, that the only thing that will make me happy, but I can't.

Father Sees Light.

Yesterday, for being the Greek Christmas I went to see my father. He was very happy. Then he took me in restorant to eat. After a long talk he told me his great mistake for being against school because he sees that I am doing well after going to school.

I have always been hiden by my bosses in shoe shines. I know many other boys that were in my same condition and hiden in shoes shines. I know now one boy in city who is only 13 or 15 years old and working in restaurant. Perhaps, the editor, he can save some of the Chicago foreign boys.

CURTAIN

PHOTO MONFORT

The marital difficulties of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph J. Gloor of 1058 Loyola avenue are ended. At least that is what they both said yesterday in the office of Mrs. Gloor's attorney, Richard Gavin, in the Unity building.

"Any charges I have made against Mrs. Gloor were made hastily and without foundation," said Mr. Gloor. "My wife is a good, pure girl. We will go housekeeping tomorrow."

"My attorney will withdraw my bill for divorce tomorrow," said Mrs. Gloor. I have charged him with many things. I take them all back."

So the curtain rings down on the melodrama that has been enlivening the newspapers for two months.

LIVER & ONIONS WRECK HIS LIFE

After Ten Years of Freedom They Shatter the Marital Bliss of Wm. Paul.

Ten years ago William Paul and Mary Davis contracted what formerly had been recognized legally as a "common law marriage. There was just one stipulation, and it was that liver and onions never were to be placed before William as food. He more than detested liver and onions.

They lived happily. A baby came. But recently William began to suspect that Mary's interest in him was waning. He did not hold his suspicions to himself, but voiced them the other night at supper. Mary promptly beat him up. When he regained consciousness a half hour later Mary was sitting in a chair nearby. Upon noticing that William's eyes were beginning to blink she reached down and pulled off one of her high heeled shoes.

With the high heel part she banged William on the head. Darkness again descended on William. When light came Mr. Paul found that Mary had left the flat. On the table was a note. It read:

William seized his hat and staggered out into the night. He headed toward the Thirty-fifth street police station, but on the way stopped into a barroom for something to "brace him up." In the rear was a cabaret. William got a glance inside. And what he saw almost stopped the beating of his heart.

Mary was fox trotting with a fireman. William didn't care for another look. He stumbled on to the station and told his tale. The police told him to get a lawyer, and as he had no place to go he walked around till morning near his home at 2304 State street until he saw Mary leave. Then he went in and went to bed. Two hours later the door bell rang. It was an officer with a summons to Judge Kersten's court. Mary had made some kind of complaint.

Judge Kersten heard the evidence of how Mary and William had been living together and he ordered William to pay her alimony to support the child. William said he wouldn't. He was sent to jail.

And on top of all of this the supper in the county jail last night consisted of liver and onions.

ALD. DE PRIEST NAMED 'KING OF THE BLACK BELT'

Hoyne Accuses Negro Alderman of Receiving Gamblers' Cash.

A Negro who had lost his money shaking dice started out to "get" the south side "graft syndicate." He met a woman who told him that a member of the trust had a private telephone wire into the office of Stephen K. Healy, then captain in command of the Stanton avenue station.

Hoyne Hits Five.

And Mr. Hoyne after leaving the county grand jury room yesterday, where Alfred J. "Mexican Frank" Gordon, former proprietor of a gambling joint, had recited the story of his unsuccessful fight against the "syndicate," made the sensational statement that evidence had been presented to the jurors against these men:

Arthur Codozas, fomer partner of Jones and proprietor of the Elite No. 1, another "black and tan" café.

Others Under Fire.

In addition to seeking indictments against these men, evidence was presented to the jurors yesterday against between fifteen and twenty others, including police captains, lieutenants, sergeants, politicians, and gamblers. Mr. Hoyne stated. He would not make their names public, however, nor would he confirm rumors that several true bills had been voted.

The state's attorney's exposure of citywide graft shifted to the south side yesterday and the grand jury inquiry was directed almost solely at the Stanton avenue district.

"Evidence was submitted by numerous witnesses tracing the payment of money directly to the hands of Ald. De Priest," Mr. Hoyne declared in a statement bristling with charges. He asserted further that "money was paid to De Priest for the restoration of saloon licenses."

Says De Priest Controls.

"The political division of the Second ward," the state's attorney said, "seems to be that the 'black belt' belonged to De Priest; that he was in full control and other politicians, among them Ald. Norris, were not able to obtain any consideration."

Teenan Jones Mr. Hoyne named as the "head" of the syndicate, and practically "all the money collected from Negro gambling joints passed into his hands," he said, although William R. "Billy" Skidmore, arrested in the raid on Tom Costello's "payoff joint" at 109 North Dearborn street, is said to have done some collecting in the black belt.

Police protection, Mr. Hoyne charged, was "furnished by Capt. Healy through Ald. De Priest." Jones and Lewis, he said, were the "unofficial representatives of the syndicate."

Besides "Mexican Frank" Gordon other witnesses before the grand jury were Archie Fields, former partner of Art Codozas; Dr. Brown, Negro physician with offices at Thirty-fifth and State streets; Joseph Davis, a federal street politician, and others.

Rumors Name Alderman.

Archie Fields, who preceded them into the grand jury room, had an interest with Codozas in the notorious Tammany club, a Negro establishment on Thirty-first street, and rumors have it that Ald. De Priest also had an interest in this club.

Fields, according to a statement made to THE TRIBUNE, told the grand jury that he acted as the "go-between" between Capt. Healy and Art Codozas.

Ald. De Priest at night made a denial of the charges.

"There is nothing doing in that line as far as I am concerned," he said.

Run Wide Open.

Regarding saloon law and gambling violations, over which the "syndicate" exercised supreme authority, Mr. Hoyne says this:

"Most places operated as open gambling houses. The more important places had several cappers and these congregated on transfer corners, in front of shoe shining stands, and in front of saloons at the closing hour to solicit business.

"Some places were operated from noon to 4 and 5 a. m. There were also a number of saloons that never opened until 5 or 6 p. m. and ran until 5 a. m. These were frequented by as high as 300 or 400 people a night and a long string of autos could be seen at the curb outside. Police were constantly passing back and forth and entering bars."

Mayor Thompson yesterday revoked the saloon license of William Hayes, 1968 West Lake street, said to have been operated by "Billy" Skidmore, arrested in the graft investigation. Chief Schuettler recommended the revocation at the suggestion of the state's attorney.

Bell Makes Statement.

Assistant State's Attorney Hayden N. Bell later announced that he would go before Judge Joseph Fitch, chief justice of the Criminal court, this morning and ask that George Brown, a grand juror concerned with Albert Mohr, south park commissioner, in charges of a grand jury "leak," "and others" be held in contempt of court and punished.

MOTHERHOOD

Joliet Aroused by Nurse's Story of Impending Marriage of Girl Said to Be Mentally Deficient.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 17.—Florence Baldwin, community nurse here, last night asked a meeting of persons interested in public health to prevent the marriage of a girl believed to be mentally deficient.

The girl is Minnie Miller, member of a large family, all of whom, according to Miss Baldwin, are wanting mentally. Her sweetheart is Thomas Shaw, 22 years old, who rooms with the Millers.

Community feeling is aroused to the point of planning a lobby for the passage of a eugenic marriage law in Springfield this session.

NILES JUSTICE ACCUSED OF KEEPING FINES

Fred Beisswanger, justice of the peace of Niles, Ill., again is accused of indulging in so-called "justice shop methods" and will appear before County Judge Scully on Friday to answer to the charge of withholding money paid in fines.

Beisswanger was one of the justices named in the "justice shop investigation" five years ago wherein a number of the country magistrates were fined for malfeasance. This time Beisswanger is accused of specializing in automobile speeding fines.

The charges are made by Theodore A. Kolb, attorney for the village board of Niles. Mr. Kolb filed the charges yesterday, and said that Beisswanger several times has been called before the board to explain his conduct, and each time has promised to turn over the money due the town, but later has failed to keep his promise.

"We will startle the county with some of the charges against the country 'judges,'" Kolb said. "Beisswanger is not alone in the practice of retaining fines imposed on motorists. It has offered a fat field."

Judge Scully said he would hear the charges tomorrow, and if sufficient evidence is produced he will not hesitate to impose a severe penalty.

BROWER OBTAINS HABEAS CORPUS

New York, Jan. 17.—Counsel for Oliver A. Brower, indicted for conspiracy through the alleged kidnaping of Frederic Gump Jr., for which Harry K. Thaw is under arrest at Philadelphia, obtained a writ of habeas corpus in the Supreme court here in an effort to have reduced the $15,000 bail fixed for Brower. The writ is returnable tomorrow.

Brower's attorney submitted an affidavit in which he set forth that the offense for which Brower was arrested is a misdemeanor and therefore he held the bail to be excessive.

Mister Ring W. Lardner, Riverside, Ill., Sir:

Frank C. Siebert, engr. & supt. of your metreplius, has wrote THE TRIBUNE in regards to the water hydrunts which he says wasn't froze when they was a fire over to your place here some days back. He says he ast you to see about a retraction but knowing you he said he couldn't afford to take no chances so he writes again to say the pipes wasn't froze. Now ring if them pipes wasn't froze it was up to you to of said so and no let the whole world go on thinking they was froze. A man can't think mutch of his town if youre afraid to say the pipes wasn't froze. Anyhow we believe Frank and we want to state the pipes wasn't froze.

FOOD QUIZ HITS BOARD OF TRADE

Subpœnas Served on Grain Brokers; Three Investigations On.

Several members of the Chicago board of trade will be called before the federal grand jury today to tell what they know of the cause of the high cost of food and the manipulation of prices by dealers, it was learned yesterday.

Deputy marshals were seen in the board of trade building during the day. It was said they were serving subpœnas calling for the appearance of brokers with their books and records.

Three Investigations On.

Three separate government investigations are now under way in Chicago. The federal trade commission is investigating in secret, and the deparment of the census and Special Assistant Attorney Robert W. Childs are conducting the other two.

The federal trade commission is said to be working in harmony with Mr. Childs and District Attorney Clyne's office, but whatever steps are taken by the commission will be taken regardless of action by the department of justice.

Cost of Delivery.

The census bureau's activities are said to be centered upon ascertaining what part of the price of foods is represented in local delivery to the consumer. It is maintained that there is great waste in the existing system. The inquiry here follows a survey made in Washington, D. C. A like survey is under way in New York City.

It is asserted that the trade commission investigators already have laid out plans for invading railway yards to check up on the car shortage, locomotive shortage, and congestion of cars. Charges that foodstuffs have been allowed to rot rather than be sold at prices under those agreed upon in dealers' councils are under the eyes of the investigators.

MOTHER SEEKS COURT'S HELP TO VISIT BABY

Judge Charles M. Thomson in the Circuit court yesterday issued a "forthwith" writ of habeas corpus against Mr. and Mrs. William Springer of 2222 Milwaukee avenue directing them to produce their grandson, John William Springer, 20 months old, whom they are charged with holding from its mother, Mrs. Rose Springer of 4818 Berenice avenue.

New Faces Appear When Police Trial Board Meets

Two new faces appeared at yesterday's meeting of the police trial board. One was that of First Deputy Superintendent of Police Wesley H. Westbrook, who took Chief Schuettler's place on the board, and the other was that of Assistant Corporation Counsel George Kandlik, who has been assigned to defend accused policemen.

"No one is to be appointed for the present to fill the place formerly occupied by Robert E. Crowe, elected to a judgeship," said Acting Corporation Counsel Chester E. Cleveland. "I am informed that the plan is to give the position to Kandlik permanently, but he will not receive the $3,000 usually paid."

The board voted to fine Detective Sergt. John O. Siechter of the Hinman street station nine days' pay. Evidence showed he used abusive language to Mrs. Petronella Lasowski. He was charged with being intoxicated.

HOSPITAL

Chicago Medical Society Wants County to Establish New Pathological and Research Laboratories.

Members of the Chicago Medical society began last night at their meeting in the Marshall Field Annex building active efforts to secure a new pathological and research laboratory for the Cook county hospital. It was "Cook County Hospital night." The work of the last few years in the hospital was reviewed, including the advances in preparing a serum for infantile paralysis and the needs for the future outlined.

Dr. J. Rawson Pennington presented a resolution asking for a committee of forty to appear before the county board to ask for a bond issue for the laboratory. Dr. Pennington was made chairman of the committee by Dr. A. Augustus O'Neil. Among the other members appointed are Drs. Joseph L. Miller, Frank Billings, Charles S. Williamson, Maximilian Herzog, F. Robert Zeit, D. J. Davis, E. Wyllys Andrews, A. J. Ochsner, Karl Meyers, W. R. Cubbins, F. A. Besley, D. A. K. Steele, and Arthur Dean Bevan. The presidents of the branch organizations of the Medical society also were appointed.

Dr. O'Neill will appoint a commission to investigate the question of the discovery of the infantile paralysis serum for the sake of medical history.

"LINE IS BUSY, NUMBER, PLEASE," HER ONLY ANSWER

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 17.—Ella Peterson, 22 years old, a Wilmington telephone operator, has in her possession sundry articles embroidered with an initial "B," and a batch of letters, while William H. Boyer, a railroad trainman of Joliet, has notice of a $5,000 breach of promise suit filed by the girl's attorneys.

According to Miss Peterson's attorney, Boyer proposed marriage and made arrangements for a ceremony to follow the expiration of a two year period stipulated by the judge who granted his wife a divorce. Shortly after the expiration of the two years Mr. Boyer married his former wife.

According to Miss Peterson's attorney, Boyer is willing to make a settlement out of court in the way of heart balm, but his wife will not let him. Miss Peterson personally refused to discuss the case.

"Did you love Boyer?" she was asked today. "Number, please," was her answer. "Did he propose to you?" "Number, please." "Had you prepared a trousseau?"

Exhaust Venire of 75 Men at Erbstein Trial

The first venire of seventy-five men was exhausted yesterday at the trial of Attorneys Charles E. Erbstein and Patrick H. O'Donnell and five others before Judge Walker in the Criminal court, and no juror has been accepted. Another venire of sixty men was called by the judge. The defendants are charged with conspiracy to suborn perjury. The trial is the outgrowth of that of former Capt. James O'Dea Storen and former Detective Sergts. Michael Weisbaum and Frederick Roth.

South Chicago Doctor Angers Health Officer

Health Commissioner Robertson yesterday threatened to file suit against a South Chicago physician who transported a typhoid fever patient from Whiting, Ind., to the Washington Park hospital without notifying the health department. He refused to give the physician's name.

MRS. HAYWARD SEEKS DIVORCE

Says Berrien Springs Hotel Man's Desertion Must Be Voluntary.

Mrs. May M. Hayward yesterday filed a suit for divorce against her husband, James Alexander Hayward, wealthy hotel owner of Berrien Springs, Mich. In the bill she states that she has seen nothing of him since he drew $50,000 from his deposits in a Chicago bank and safety vault.

When Mr. Hayward left the home of his nephew at 1444 Winona street last fall he said that he was going to his home at Berrien Springs. He never reached there.

Believes Absence Voluntary.

"At first I thought my husband was sojourning at some health resort," said Mrs. Hayward to her attorney, George P. Guthrie. "Now I have come to the conclusion that he has deserted me."

At the time of his disappearance the police recalled Mr. Hayward's adventure into the night life of Chicago, about two weeks prior to the last time that he was seen. He had made an excursion into the cabarets of the city alone. He finally wound up in McGovern Bros.' cabaret, at 661 North Clark street. Here he opened large quantities of wine. He met Mike Shields of 1317 George street and Mrs. Eleanor Bell, an entertainer.

Woman Steals Purse.

Shields and Mrs. Bell accompanied him when he left the café, saying that they would see him home. At Chicago avenue and Clark street the girl grabbed Hayward's wallet and fled. She was overtaken by a witness and all three were arrested. Hayward got his money back and Mrs. Bell was sentenced to three months in the bridewell.

Mrs. Hayward is living at 1522 South Michigan avenue. She is building a hotel on the site of the old courthouse at Berrien Springs to be known as the Court hotel.

An agreement effected outside of court between Mrs. Mary Herrick and James P. Herrick of the firm of Herrick Bros. of 124 South Fifth avenue, who were suing each other for divorce, brought about a dismissal of the hearing begun yesterday before Judge Thomson.

"One Foot in Grave" Is Reality with This Man

Alleged Embezzler of $1,000 Returns to City

William H. MacFadden of 3332 Indiana avenue was brought back from Knoxville, Tenn., yesterday by Sergt. Patrick Loftus of the detective bureau. He was arrested on Sunday on a charge of larceny of $1,000 from the General Railway Signal company of 122 South Michigan boulevard.

Girl Blames Absence on Hypnotic Eye of Chum

"The hypnotic eye" of Evelyn Cohen, 12 years old, was blamed last night by Ida Finger, 11 years old, for her failure to return home from school on the day before.

After a citywide search by the police the girls were found last night when the Finger girl telephoned to her parents at 1232 South Sawyer avenue to come and get her.

NATION TO PAY ADMIRAL DEWEY HIGHEST HONORS

Army, Navy, and Officialdom to Participate in Funeral Services on Saturday.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—Funeral services for Admiral George Dewey, giving fitting expression to the nation's affection, were planned today by officials of the federal government.

It was decided to hold the public ceremonies on Saturday in the rotunda of the capitol, and to bring to Washington for an escort of honor all available forces of both the naval and military arms of the service. Congress will be in recess during the funeral and under an order issued by President Wilson the government departments will remain closed during the entire day.

The president sent a special message to congress today announcing the death of the aged Spanish war hero and declaring that "the people and the government will always rejoice to perpetuate his name in honor and affection." Both senate and house adopted resolutions of regret, appointed committees to represent them at the funeral, and adjourned before the usual hour to emphasize their expressions of regret.

All Flags at Half Mast.

Under the president's order flags on all American government buildings, forts, and naval vessels throughout the world will fly at half mast until after the funeral ceremonies. In a separate order Secretary Daniels directed that the navy department building here be draped in black and that all officers of the navy and marine corps wear mourning with their uniform for thirty days. The secretary also ordered each senior ship afloat to fire an admiral's salute of nineteen guns at noon on Saturday.

Naval officers said tonight that probably never before had such signal honor been paid a dead hero as that provided for Admiral Dewey in Secretary Daniels' order, broadcasted by the Arlington wireless station to American vessels and shore stations everywhere.

Thousands of messages of condolence were carried to Mrs. Dewey today at the Dewey home here, where the admiral died late yesterday and where his body will lie until it is taken to the capitol on Saturday for the funeral. President Wilson was among those who called to tender their personal sympathy.

Chaplain J. B. Frazier, who was chaplain of the flagship Olympia when Dewey won his place in history at Manila bay, will be in charge of the services at the capitol.

Senator Tillman's Tribute.

The resolution adopted by the senate and house was drawn by Senator Tillman and Representative Pagett, chairman of the naval committee. Senator Tillman, in presenting the resolution in the senate, took occasion to pay a personal tribute to Admiral Dewey

"His spirit was the spirit of John Paul Jones, of Stephen Decatur, of James Lawrence, of Oliver Hazard Perry, of David Farragut," said the senator. "He upheld and illustrated the traditions which these men and others like them established. He knew no fear. Admiral Dewey was a lineal descendent of the heroes who preceded him."

The President's Message.

"It is with deepest regret that I announce to the congress the death of Admiral George Dewey at 5:36 o'clock on the afternoon of yesterday, the 16th of January, at his residence in this city.

"It was as commodore that he rendered the service in the action of Manila bay which has given him a place forever memorable in the naval annals of the country. At the time of his death he held the exceptional rank of admiral of the navy by special act of congress. During the later years of his life he was the honored president of the general board of the navy, to whose duties he gave the most assiduous attention and in which office he rendered a service to the navy quite invaluable in its sincerity and quality of practical sagacity.

Courageous, Practical.

"It is pleasant to recall what qualities gave him his well deserved fame. His practical directness, his courage without self-consciousness, his efficient capacity in matters of administration, the readiness to fight without asking any questions or hesitating about any details. It was by such qualities that he continued and added luster to the best traditions of our navy. He had the stuff in him which all true men admire and upon which all statesmen must depend in hour of peril.

"The people and the government of the United States will always rejoice to perpetuate his name in all honor and affection."

Roosevelt Pays Tribute.

New York, Jan. 17.—Tribute to admiral Dewey was paid by Theodore Roosevelt in a statement issued here tonight. Of Dewey he said:

"Inasmuch as he was a typical American naval officer it is hardly necessary to say that together with absolutely dauntless courage and single minded devotion to the flag, he combined chivalric gentleness to the weak and the oppressed. He was equally incapable of submitting to wrong treatment by the strong and inflicting wrong treatment on the weak.

"The highest meaning of the terms he was an officer, a gentleman, and a patriotic American."

Illinois Senate Adjourns.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—The senate adjourned today by a resolution offered by Senator Edward J. Clackin, expressing the sorrow of the state at the death of Admiral George Dewey.

STOCKS RECEDE IN N. Y. MARKET FOLLOWING RISE

Apathetic Public Heeds Raider News More than Bullish Tone of Issues.

BY MARK WATSON.

New York, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Most of the stocks which yesterday marched a few points up the hill today marched down again. And on the return movement they failed as totally as before to arouse the interest of the public.

The bullish tone of many of the market leaders seems to impress the public less than the activity of the latest German raider, and after the apparent strength exhibited early in the session there were mild recessions pretty well through the list.

General Motors Lead Rise.

General Motors led in the early upward movement, continuing the advance predicted last week by interests with large holdings in this issue, but closed considerably below its top price. Chevrolet, which because of its holdings of General Motors stocks and the identity of the market interests back of both, was less fortunate and lost a couple of points from last night's close. The oils were stronger, the coppers weaker.

Interest in the coppers is pretty well concentrated on the situation in Utah and Kennecott, a merger of which continues to be talked with more pleasure on the part of Kennecott than the Utah stockholders. The Morgan and Guggenheim interests are powerful enough in their holdings to come close to assuring the merger, but small as the needed margin is it may be too great to be overcome.

Utah's Sales Explained.

This is thought to be the reason behind the recent buying of Utah for the Guggenheim account. That account already amounts to 200,000 shares, in addition to which can be counted the 400,000 in the Kennecott treasury, which the Guggenheims control. Utah's total stock is 1,000,000 shares.

Opposition by Utah stockholders is due to unwillingness to divide with outsiders the enormous profits Utah is piling up. Its 190,000,000 pound output last year must have meant $33,000,000 profits, which with the equity in Nevada Consolidated's profits would make a total of $40,000,000. This figures $25 per share.

Low Records on Exchange.

New low records for Russian and Italian exchange, which registered the greatest discounts since the outbreak of the war, was among the influences which made for restraint in today's irregular market.

The acute weakness of remittances to Petrograd and Rome, rubles being quoted at 29.05 and lires at 6.98, was attributed by dealers in foreign exchange to the inability or refusal of those countries to meet the requirements of our bankers. The recent sharp decline in Russian government bonds on the curb also accounts for the depreciation of the ruble.

Steadiness ruled in the limited bond dealings, international issues showing less activity. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

State's Attorney's Aid Asks Protection of Court

Asking citation of Attorneys James G. Cotter and Chester De Armond for contempt as the result of alleged slanderous charges, Robert M. Hogan, assistant state's attorney, yesterday appealed to Circuit Judge Bowles for protection from attacks in the Chicago Defender, a Negro newspaper.

The article in question deals with Mr. Hogan's acts in the case of Marjorie Delbridge, whom the state seeks to take from the care of her colored "mammy," Mrs. Camilla Jackson, 3226 Calumet avenue.

Attorney Cotter asked time in which to reply to the contempt petition, which was granted. Mr. Hogan asserts the charges of undue interest were published in a spirit of maliciousness.

GIVE OUT TERMS OF NEW LOAN TO GREAT BRITAIN

Credit of $250,000,000 Asked in This Country Backed by American Securities.

New York, Jan. 17.—Another new British loan, amounting to $250,000,000, will be floated in this country by J. P. Morgan & Co., that banking firm announced tonight. This is the third flotation, including the Anglo-French, of British loans in the United States since the outbreak of the war.

The new loan, secured by high grade collateral, will take the form of 5½ per cent convertible notes, dated Feb. 1, 1917, $100,000,000 to mature in one year and the balance in two years, according to the announcement.

It is thought the denominations will be in units of the American dollar instead of the British pound sterling, and that the offering price will be sufficiently below par to allow a yield of slightly more than 6 per cent.

Many Banks Join in Plan.

A country-wide syndicate composed of banks and trust companies, banking houses, and bond dealers has been organized to offer the notes to individual participants. The notes will be convertible at par at the option of the holder prior to maturity into a 5½ per cent bond of the United Kingdom maturing in twenty years.

The Central Trust Company of Illinois and the Continental Trust and Savings bank probably will be the only Chicago members of the underwriting syndicate, although Chicago branches of half a dozen New York houses will help in the offering.

The British government is understood to have agreed to keep the amount of the loan fully protected by collateral, the margin of safety being 20 per cent. The collateral will be in large part American railway securities, of which Great Britain still holds enormous amounts.

Announcement by Morgan Firm.

"Increasing ease in money conditions and the prevailing demand for high grade bonds," says the banking firm's announcement, "have led us to suggest to the British treasury the advisability of issuing at this time a security possessing the advantage of early maturity and at the same time giving to American investors, through the conversion privilege, the opportunity to obtain an obligation of Great Britain yielding an attractive interest return for a considerable period of years after normal conditions shall have been restored."

The new loan will raise the total of American money borrowed by Great Britain since the beginning of the war to $1,050,000,000, and this figure does not include loans to British banks, such as a single issue of $50,000,000 to the London joint stock banks.

MORE BUSINESS, LESS POLITICS

New York, Jan. 17.—An "unheeded and unhindered drift toward federal socialism" was portrayed as the problem confronting the country's largest industries by United States Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, in an address on "Commerce and Civilization" at the annual dinner of the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' association here tonight.

Senator Harding said the country today "needs less legislative milling and more commercial billing;" less political pestering with business" and more "sincerity of assault on crookedness," whether it is business, professional, or political.

Faces "Con Game" Charge.

Fred Severa of 2433 South Harding avenue was held to the grand jury under $800 bonds by Judge Mahoney in the South Clark street court yesterday on a confidence game charge, preferred by Blanch Haynes, 30 South Halsted street. She charges Severa obtained $25 on representation that on payment of $50 he would obtain the release of Harriet McLain and Laverne Nellis from the Joliet penitentiary.

TRACTION FUND INTEREST LOW

Bion J. Arnold Asserts Investment Income Should Be 5 Per Cent, Not 2.

Bion J. Arnold yesterday gave an emphatic reply to a question heard with growing frequency in recent discussions of the traction problem.

With Chairman William Barclay Parsons and Robert Ridgway, his associates on the traction and subway commission, he attended the second public discussion of the commission's report in the city council chamber.

"At the time the 1907 ordinances were passed," asked Ald. T. J. Lynch, "was it not argued by those who advocated them that by the expiration of the twenty year franchises the traction fund would be big enough so the city could take over the properties?"

"No, emphatically not," replied Mr. Arnold. "It never was thought that the city's 55 per cent would be sufficient for that purpose."

And he added a criticism of the manner in which the traction fund has been handled.

"That fund," he said, "would amount to several millions of dollars more than it does now if it had been invested properly. It is the fault of the aldermen that it has not been drawing 5 per cent instead of the 2 or 2¼ per cent the city now receives by loaning it."

Chairman Parsons summed up what he considered the chief advantages of the plan proposed by the commission

Third—City supervision over all construction work.

Fourth—A reasonable return for capital, so adjusted as to guarantee the city's acquisition of the entire property.

Mr. Parsons also put in a new way the meaning of the proposal that in the event transfers are issued between surface and elevated lines a charge of 2 cents may be made for such a charge.

"That is not a recommendation for a transfer charge," he said, "but a recommendation for a reduction of the present transfer charge. The present charge for a combined trip over the elevated and surface lines is 10 cents if one transfer is made, or 15 cents if there are two transfers from one type of service to the other.

"We recommend a reduction of 3 cents in the single transfer charge, so that a trip over the two kinds of service can be made for 7 cents, or, with two transfers, for 9 cents."

He said there now are 28,000 transfers between elevated and surface lines every day, and that these could not be given free on any sound financial basis.

CLEMENS ASKS ANNULMENT OF HIS WIFE'S WILL

Austin A. Clemens [illegible] Winchester avenue filed a suit in Circuit court yesterday against [illegible] Katherine B. Munroe, Edward Munroe, Della Kerwin, and William D. Ross, seeking to have set aside the will of his wife, Mrs. Annie Munroe Clemens, who ahot herself March 22, 1916, while in an automobile with her husband. The petition alleges Mrs. Clemens was under the influence of her mother and brother when the will was drawn.

Mr. Clemens was bequeathed $5,000 by Della Kerwin, a maid, $3,000, and [illegible] attorney, William B. Rawlins, $1,000. The remainder of the estate was left to Mrs. Clemens' mother, Mrs. Katherine B. Munroe, and a brother, Edward Munroe.

After Mrs. Clemens had shot herself Mr. Clemens was taken into custody by the police, but after the coroner's inquest he was released.

Repairs for Freighter Indiana.

The freighter Indiana of the Goodrich Transit company, released Tuesday from a seawall in the merged breakwater a mile off the Municipal pier, was towed by tugs yesterday to dry dock in Chicago for repairs.

THE FIRE OF AN OPAL

is only a figure of speech. There is water, but no fire in an opal, but everyone is familiar with its beautiful firelike reflections.

If you have never seen a Humphrey Radiantfire, this is as near as we can come to describing it to you. It bears no resemblance to a gas-log, or any other kind of gas grate. The Humphrey Radiantfire is an entirely new and original idea in heat radiation, and consists of a series of hollow porcelain tubes. Gas is introduced into these tubes through a bunsen burner, and when it is ignited this battery of tubes immediately becomes a glowing, incandescent mass. It consumes only a small amount of gas but radiates tremendous heat waves.

The air currents playing on this heat mass produce constantly changing colors, most fascinating to watch and comparable only to a gigantic opal.

The Humphrey Radiantfire is a flameless, odorless, noiseless gas grate equipment, capable of projecting heat waves which are easily perceptible at eighteen or twenty feet away from the fire. It is as effective as it is beautiful.

While it is a valuable adjunct to a millionaire's mansion, its cost is within reach of persons with moderate incomes, and it is quite inexpensive to operate. It has all the genial attraction of a wood or cannel coal fire without the dirt and bother, and can be operated at less expense.

THE HUMPHREY RADIANTFIRE

To convince yourself of the absolute novelty and extraordinary fascination of a Humphrey Radiantfire, visit our big basement salesroom in our downtown office and see one in operation, or if that is not convenient send us a postal card or phone Wabash 6000 and we will send one of our house heating experts to further inform you. Address: "House Heating Department."

VON FRANTZIUS ESTATE IS GIVEN NEW EXECUTORS

Following the resignation of Peter von Frantzius as executor of the estate of his father, Fritz von Frantzius, a meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the chambers of Judge Horner and plans were laid for liquidation of the estate.

Those present were: Charles A. MacDonald and Attorney Gustave F. Fischer, newly appointed executors of the estate; Benjamin Marcuse, a former partner of the broker; Sidney Stein, attorney for Mr. Marcuse, and several brokers and creditors of Von Frantzius & Co.

Peter von Frantzius resigned as executor of his father's estate and manager of the business of Von Frantzius & Co. because of his youth and inexperience.

Mr. MacDonald reported to the court that between 700 and 800 customers of the firm have been unable to close out open trades, or get money that is due them because there has been no one authorized to sign checks or do business for the firm. Many of these are carrying stocks on margin, and have refused to put up more margins until affairs are straightened out and they can close out their deals.

The firm, he reported, stands to lose large amounts in case the market goes against these traders, as under present circumstances it can neither close out the trades nor make the traders protect them.

The executors, whose bonds were fixed at $500,000, were instructed not to accept any new business, and were authorized to proceed in the liquidation of the estate, using their best judgment.

First and Refunding Mortgage Five Per Cent. Gold Bonds, Series "A"

Due January 1, 1947

INTEREST PAYABLE JANUARY 1st AND JULY 1st

Coupon Bonds in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100 each, with privilege of registration as to principal and exchangeable for bonds (in denominations of $500 and larger) registered as to both principal and interest. Fully registered bonds re-exchangeable for coupon bonds.

All but not part of the Series A Bonds outstanding may be redeemed on any interest date, on and after January 1, 1920, upon 90 days' notice, at 105 and interest.

For information as to this issue of bonds, reference is made to a letter, dated January 15, 1917, from Samuel P. Colt, Esq., President of the United States Rubber Company, copies of which may be obtained at the offices of the undersigned, which states in part as follows:

REPAYMENT OF MATURING BONDS—"All existing bonds, and liens upon the properties, of United States Rubber Company or subsidiaries, will be provided for at once and will be paid on or before December 1, 1918, except $2,600,000 6% Gold Bonds of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, Limited (hereinafter called the Canadian Company), which are not due until October 1, 1946, and except $9,000,000 debentures of General Rubber Company, due December 1, 1918. . . The debentures of the General Rubber Company are to be left undisturbed for the present as the Company has under consideration other plans for dealing with its important crude rubber interests. . ."

LIMIT OF ISSUE—"The Bonds are to be of an issue limited to the par amount of the Company's full paid preferred stocks and common stock now outstanding, plus any additional stock issued at not less than par for cash actually paid in; and further limited so that no bonds in addition to $60,000,000 presently to be issued (1) shall be sold or pledged prior to January 1, 1918 except with your consent; (2) shall be issued, except for refunding . . unless the unencumbered quick assets (as defined in the Mortgage) of the Company and subsidiaries exceed their aggregate debt (as defined in the Mortgage), including the outstanding Bonds and any increased indebtedness resulting from such issue; (3) shall be issued, except for said refunding, unless the annual net income (as defined in the Mortgage) of the Company and subsidiaries for three fiscal years next prior to such issue has been at least twice the annual interest upon the entire debt of the Company and subsidiaries, including interest on any increased indebtedness resulting from such issue; and (4) limited also to the amount of the present capital stock (about $97,250,000) except to the extent of any increase consented to by the preferred and common stocks."

"Of the balance of the authorized issue $10,000,000 Bonds may be issued for additional working capital, and for development and for other corporate purposes, subject to the restrictions above stated, and out of the remaining bonds now authorized reservation is to be made to provide for the $9,000,000 General Rubber Company 5% Debentures, due December 1, 1918, guaranteed by United States Rubber Company and Rubber Goods Company, until otherwise provided for, and the $2,600,000 Canadian Company Bonds, due October 1, 1946. Any additional Bonds and any Bonds not used for such refunding shall be reserved for capital expenditures made after January 1, 1917, for additions, betterments and improvements or for new properties (including subsidiary companies against the pledge of their mortgage bonds), at 75% of cost; or not more than one-third of such additional Bonds may be issued for other securities and stocks at 60% of cost; all as shall be defined and provided in the Mortgage."

SINKING FUND—"On January 1, 1919, and annually on January 1 thereafter, the Company is to pay to the Trustee as a sinking fund 1% in cash upon the face value of the Bonds then outstanding, plus the amount retired by the sinking fund. Bondholders shall be invited to tender Series A Bonds for the sinking fund, and the Trustee shall accept the Bonds tendered at the lowest prices, not exceeding 105% and interest, to the extent of the moneys in the sinking fund available for Bonds of Series A, but to the extent not procurable at or below 105% and interest upon such tenders (or thereafter during the year in the market), the Company shall be relieved of its obligation for that year in respect to the sinking fund applicable to Series A Bonds and any balance remaining in the sinking fund for such bonds at the end of the year shall be credited upon the sinking fund for such bonds for the following year or years."

NET EARNINGS—"The net earnings of the Company and its subsidiary companies available for interest . . . as found by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, have been:

|---|---|
| For the fiscal year ending December 31, 1914 | $10,690,988.48 |
| " " " " " December 31, 1915 | 11,539,313.10 |
| " " " " " December 31, 1916 (partly estimated) | 12,500,000.00." |

INTEREST CHARGES—"Interest charges of the Company and subsidiaries, including the present issue of $60,000,000 Bonds and interest on the undisturbed bonds of Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, Ltd., and General Rubber Company, but excluding interest on obligations maturing on or before December 1, 1918, and now provided for, and on unfunded indebtedness to be paid by this issue would be less than $3,610,000. Considerable additional earnings should result from the use of additional capital provided by this issue."

QUICK ASSETS—"Applying the proceeds of sale of the $60,000,000 Bonds, the Company and its subsidiary companies would have as of October 31, 1916, over and above all liabilities other than the new bonds and the undisturbed bonds, net quick assets, consisting of accounts and bills receivable, cash and merchandise and readily marketable securities (excluding securities issued by subsidiary companies), valued at $81,363,402.28."

FINANCIAL POSITION—"The consolidated financial position of the Company and its subsidiary companies, as of October 31, 1916, but after applying the proceeds of the sale of the $60,000,000 new Bonds, as found by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, would be as stated below. This statement does not include any valuation of good-will, resulting from the old established business of the companies and from their valuable trade-marks; and the property, plant and equipment is given at the amount as carried on the books, although in the opinion of the officers of the companies, an appraisal at this time would result in a very much larger valuation.

or more than twice the $60,000,000 Bonds now to be Issued."

"The foregoing statement of the financial position of the Company and subsidiaries does not include as a liability $1,385,200 (less than 6% of amount outstanding) of stock of the Rubber Goods Manufacturing Company and $385,100 (less than 7% of amount outstanding) of stock of the Canadian Company not owned by United States Rubber Company."

"The foregoing statements leave out of account the Canadian Consolidated Felt Company, Limited, a majority of whose common stock is owned by the Canadian Company, and the contingent liability of the Canadian Company as guarantor of $426,500 bonds of said Company. On November 30, 1916, the Felt Company had net assets over all liabilities, other than said $426,500 of bonds, valued at $611,983.87. Similarly two other relatively unimportant companies, in which the stock interest of the United States Rubber Company or its subsidiary companies is less than 80%, are excluded. Said three companies are not regarded as 'subsidiary companies.'"

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE ABOVE BONDS AT 96¾ PER CENT AND ACCRUED INTEREST TO DATE OF DELIVERY, AT WHICH PRICE THE BONDS YIELD OVER 5.20 PER CENT ON THE INVESTMENT.

ANY OF THE BONDS NOW TO BE REFUNDED BY THIS ISSUE WILL BE ACCEPTED IN PAYMENT FOR NEW BONDS UPON A 4 PER CENT INTEREST BASIS TO MATURITY.

The subscription will be closed at three o'clock P. M., on Tuesday, January 23, 1917, or earlier, the right being reserved to reject any applications and to award a smaller amount than applied for. The undersigned reserve the right to close the subscription at any time without notice.

A first payment of $50 per $1,000 bond subscribed for must accompany all subscriptions. The balance of the amount due on bonds allotted upon subscriptions will be payable in New York funds on Friday, February 16, 1917, at the offices of the undersigned, against interim receipts, exchangeable for engraved bonds as soon as ready.

All allotments will be subject to the stockholders' authorization necessary in connection with the creation of the issue and to the approval of proceedings by counsel.

If no allotment be made the first payment will be repaid in full, and if only a portion of the amount applied for be allotted, the balance of the first payment will be applied toward the amount due on February 16, 1917. No interest will be allowed on such first payment. If any further balance remains, such balance will be repaid. Failure to pay the second installment, when due, will render the previous payment liable to forfeiture.

New York, January 17, 1917.

CLEMENS ASKS ANNULMENT OF HIS WIFE'S WILL

Austin A. Clemens of ... Rochester avenue filed a suit in the Circuit court yesterday against Albert E. Munroe, Howard Munroe, Della Erwin, and William D. Kerwin, trustees to have set aside the will of his wife, Mrs. Annis Munroe Clemens, who shot herself March 22, 1916, with an automobile with her husband. The petition alleges Mrs. Clemens was under the influence of her mother and brother when the will was drawn.

Mr. Clemens was bequeathed $5,000, and Della Kerwin, a maid, $5,000, and Attorney William F. Rawling, $5,000. The remainder of the estate was left to Mrs. Clemens' mother, Mrs. Matilda E. Munroe, and a brother, Edward Munroe.

CONNECTING RYS. INCOME ACCOUNT SHOWS 50% GAIN

Figures Represent Only Earning Power of Subsidiaries of Holding Company.

Directors of the Chicago City and Connecting Railways Collateral Trust issued yesterday an income account statement for the year ended Dec. 31, 1916. The Chicago City and Connecting is a holding company, deriving substantially all its profits from interest and dividends on companies controlled by it. The figures, therefore, do not represent the full earning power, but only such amounts as were declared to it out of the subsidiary concerns.

The income credited for the year was 50 per cent greater than 1915. The income account follows:

Burroughs Stock Melon.

A stock dividend of 200 per cent for the stockholders of the Burroughs Adding Machine company was ratified at the annual meeting in Detroit yesterday. The dividend is equal to a payment to the stockholders of $11,000,000 and increases the capital of the company from $5,500,000 to $16,500,000.

The company does not make public its earnings statement. The stock dividend was paid out of surplus which has accumulated since the company moved to Detroit from St. Louis in 1904.

The stock on the Detroit exchange had been bid up to above 400 in anticipation of some such action. The stock has paid 18 per cent annually since 1913.

All officers of the company were re-elected, and Frank H. Dodge, general sales manager, has been elected a member of the board of directors.

Chicago representatives of the company will hold a banquet at the Union League club on Jan. 20 to celebrate the biggest year's business in the history of the company.

Kellogg Stock Dividend.

A stock dividend of 83 1-3 per cent was declared by the Kellogg Switchboard company, payable Jan. 27 to stockholders of record Jan. 24. The regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable Feb. 4 to stockholders of record Feb. 2, was declared.

The gross business for the year, it was announced, was $4,000,000, an increase of 40 per cent. In March, 1918, a stock dividend of 50 per cent was declared. Previous stock dividends have been: 1916, 18.62 per cent; 1914, 25 per cent; 1913, 25 per cent; 1910, 100 per cent. The present officers and directors were elected.

Another Standard Oil Melon.

Directors of the Standard Oil Company of California authorized a stock dividend of 248,433 shares of treasury stock, representing 33 1-3 per cent of the outstanding stock of the corporation, to be issued on April 16, 1917, and to be delivered to stockholders of record Feb. 15 at the rate of one-third of a share for each share of present stock. The stock dividend is subject to the approval of the authorities of the state. The declaration is one of the evidences of the high tide of prosperity now being enjoyed by all the well managed oil companies.

Chicago Securities.

Chicago stocks were moderately active, with small price changes and a tendency toward lower quotations. There was nothing special, however, in the trend.

There was again good buying of bonds, especially the Chicago City Railway 5s and the Chicago City and Connecting Railways 5s.

Dawes Heads Clearing House.

At the annual meeting of the Chicago Clearing House association Charles G. Dawes, president of the Central Trust company of Illinois, was elected president, succeeding D. R. Forgan, who held the position two years. Mr. Dawes was two years vice president of the association before being elected to the presidency. John A. Lynch, president of the National Bank of the Republic, was elected vice president. The full committee follows:

President, Charles G. Dawes; vice president, John A. Lynch; manager, W. D. Street; assistant manager, Thomas C. Bibbs; official bank examiner, Charles H. M yer.

Garfield King to Retire.

Charles Garfield King, head of the firm of King, Farnum & Co., will retire from the firm on Feb. 1. Mr. King expects to travel for a year or two for recreation and the benefit of his health.

Wallace C. Winter and Jesse H. Spalding will enter the firm, the name of which will be continued as at present. Mr. Winter is vice president of

NEWS OF THE FINANCIAL WORLD

Charles M. Schwab and leading stockholders of the Bethlehem Steel corporation have reached no decision yet with reference to the dividend to be paid on the common stock. It is announced that cancellation by the Bethlehem of contracts for certain parts of Sparrows' Point extension work does not mean any change in the extension plan involving an outlay of $100,000,000.

The reports received in New York of the sinking of a number of merchant ships in the South Atlantic by a German commerce raider caused an advance of from 2 to 10 per cent in marine rates to all South American countries. One boat sailed out of New York with an insurance charge equal to 20 per cent of the value of the ship and cargo.

Directors of the Crucible Steel Company of America, at a meeting held yesterday, elected Herbert Dupuy chairman of the board, to succeed the late C. C. Ramsey as president. The board also declared an extra dividend of 2 per cent on account of the accrued dividends, which leaves 16½ per cent still in arrears.

The management of the United States Realty company is said to admit it got badly hurt in its subway contracts, partly because of the losses by the explosion on a part of its work and partly because of the increased cost of material. The main source of loss is declared, however, to have been increased wages and lack of efficiency.

The Pacific Coast company resumed dividends on its common stock with a declaration of 1 per cent along with the regular quarterly dividends of 1¾ per cent on the first preferred and 1 per cent on the second preferred. The company has paid no dividends on the common stock since the first quarter of 1915.

An increase of $417,864, or 56.19 per cent, was reported by the Jewel Tea company in its sales for the four weeks ended Dec. 30. Total sales for the four week period were $1,161,502. Sales for the year were $12,441,321, an increase of $4,516,389, or 56.98 per cent.

International Mercantile Marine December earnings were nearly $5,000,000, or $500,000 greater than the best previous estimate. The trend of earnings has been upward since September and new contracts are being made at the highest freight rates on record.

The Chicago and Northwestern Railroad company yesterday made application with the Wisconsin railroad commission for permission to issue $10,000,000 in equipment bonds, the proceeds to be used for rolling stock.

William P. Bonbright & Co., and Lee Higginson & Co. announce that the subscription books for the preferred stock of the Continental Motors corporation have been closed, the issue having been heavily oversubscribed.

Certain New York bankers are recommending Rock Island preferred A stock, which they say is earning 50 per cent. It is thought that the full 7 per cent dividend may be easily paid.

It is announced that the demand for copper to be delivered in the second quarter of the current year is steadily increasing. Prices are unchanged from Tuesday's quotations.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Money was plentiful and discount rates were dull today. The stock market is still affected by the war loan, which caused further shrinking in British gilt edged shares today. Diamond and rubber stocks continued firm and Japanese and Chinese bonds were well supported. Central Argentine and Mexican rails were again easy, and shipping sales were weak on the news of further mercantile losses. American securities recovered with Wall street, but apart from a small business in the low priced rails ruled dull. Bar silver, 35¾d per ounce. Money, 3¼ per cent. Discount rates, short bills, 5 per cent; 3 months, 5 per cent.

PARIS, Jan. 17.—Trading was quiet on the bourse today. Rentes, 75 centimes. Exchange on London, 27 francs 81½ centimes. Five per cent loan, 88 francs 50 centimes.

WHEAT ERRATIC; SMALL DECLINE SHOWN AT CLOSE

Volume of Trade Comparatively Light—Strength in Corn Attracts Attention.

Trading in wheat futures yesterday was irregular and the market was lacking in interesting features. Prices at the close were unchanged to ⅝c lower. The market changed its course repeatedly during the day, ruling strong and weak by turns. The reported sinking of a number of merchant vessels by a German raider in South American waters induced some selling when the news was first received, but later the trade was inclined to put a different construction on the incident and the market rallied. It was pointed out that the further destruction of tonnage would only serve to make Europe still more dependent on North America for supplies.

There was a lull in the export demand and apparently no business of consequence was consummated yesterday. Fair sales of flour were reported to one of the neutral governments. Local shipping sales were 30,000 bu.

Political News Feared.

Traders generally are impressed with the bullish supply and demand situation, but many are discouraged from taking the buying side through fear of unfavorable political developments. This was evidenced by the absence of outside interest. Practically all advices from Kansas indicate the surplus in that state has been closely cleaned up, while similar conditions probably obtain in the northwest. Primary receipts yesterday were 773,000 bu, against 1,022,000 bu a year ago. Local receipts were only 43 cars, and only a small percentage of them were offered for sale. Cash wheat premiums were well maintained.

More snow fell in the southwest, and although light in some sections, the situation has been much relieved. The snow covering in eastern sections of the winter wheat belt is good. Clearances of wheat and flour from the seaboard were 479,000 bu, compared with 1,108,000 bu a year ago.

Corn Highest at Finish.

The corn market attracted considerable attention by its display of strength. Prices ranged higher throughout the session in face of the periodic weak spells in wheat, and finished at best levels of the day, showing net gains of 1@1¼c. May came within ½c of the high point on the crop. The character of the buying indicated that it was for export interests, and there were rumors of big foreign sales. No large export business was reported, however, only 200,000 bu being sold to the seaboard by local interests. There were rather free profit taking and short sales on the bulges, but the offerings were readily absorbed and failed to check the advance.

News from Argentina relative to weather conditions was mixed. Clearances from the seaboard were small at 93,000 bu. Primary receipts totaled 1,267,000 bu, against 1,092,000 bu a year ago.

Oats Show Strength.

Oats also ruled firm, though held back some by the action of wheat. Resting spots showed gains of ¼@⅜c. Active buying by export interests in the latter part of the session was the feature. Cash oats were firm and local shipping sales were 90,000 bu, including 50,000 bu for export. Clearances from the seaboard were lighter at 233,000 bu. London oats were 3d higher and Broomhall reports a scarcity of feeding grains abroad. Primary receipts totaled 634,000 bu, against 750,000 bu a year ago.

Provisions closed irregular, with ribs relatively weaker than other product. Buying of lard was a late feature. There was also some good commission buying early. Realizing sales counted against ribs. Hog values at the yards started out higher, but weakened later. Western markets received 157,300 hogs, against 170,810 a year ago. Liverpool spot lard was 2s higher, with bacon and hams 6d higher. Local meat shipments were 6,253,000 lbs, compared with 6,418,000 lbs a year ago, while lard shipments were 2,589,000 lbs, against 2,237,000 lbs last year.

Rye Quiet and Steady.

Rye was steady, with No. 2 quoted $1.47 nominal and No. 4 selling at $1.32. Receipts were 2 cars.

Barley ruled firm. Malting was quoted $1.06@1.31 and sold $1.00@1.22; feed and mixing quotable $1.00@1.09, with sales at $1.03@1.09; screenings were quoted 80@90c, and skimmings 70@75c. Receipts, 21 cars.

Timothy seed was quiet. March, $5.60 bid and $5.80 asked; cash lots sold $2.50@4.60. Clover seed held steady; cash lots quoted $12.00@17.50.

Flaxseed closed ⅝c lower, with cash quoted $2.88@2.93 nominal. Duluth was ¼c higher to ¾c lower, Minneapolis ⅝c and Winnipeg ¼c lower respectively.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE

The advance in prices, together with difficulty in getting permits for shipment of grain, put a damper on cash trade in wheat yesterday. There were bids here for No. 2 hard wheat track Baltimore at 19c over Chicago May and shippers were of the opinion if wheat was offered it would bring a better price than that. Old No. 2 hard was reported sold Tuesday at 4½c under May, and yesterday some was reported sold at 4c under. Offerings from the country continue light. Local sales were 30,000 bu, mostly to mills.

The following committee has been appointed to formulate a plan for a pension and sick benefit department for the employés of the board of trade and to prepare and post for the ballot the necessary amendment to the rules to provide for the same: E. A. James, A. V. Booth, Charles H. Sullivan, H. A. Foss, Lowell Holt, Frank G. Coe, and Joseph Simons.

"My estimate of Kansas wheat reserved in all positions showed a total of 40,000,000 bu, of which 30,000,000 bu remained in farmers' hands on Feb. 1, 1916," said a message to Ware-Leland from Allen Logan of Kansas City. "My estimate of Dec. 15, this year, showed only 15,300,000 bu in farmers' hands."

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 75,000 bu for five days.

Cash corn and oats were moderately active and sales were 215,000 bu corn, including 200,000 bu to exporters, with 90,000 bu oats, including 50,000 bu to exporters. Country sales were moderate. So far there has been no material improvement in shipping conditions. Seaboard advices reported a large number of boats at different ports waiting to be loaded.

According to reports received by the Daily Trade Bulletin within the last two weeks the condition of the winter wheat crop in the aggregate may be regarded as quite good. In a large proportion of the area the crop is covered with snow. There are few scattering reports of damage.

In central and southern Illinois, practically all of Missouri and Kansas the snowfall this winter to date has been light and there also has been little rain. According to some correspondents the general outlook for wheat is not favorable, as zero temperatures have prevailed several times.

Fresh meats are reported in good demand at a profitable range of prices over the hogs, and by-products of all kinds are selling at better prices than were formerly obtainable.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—SUGAR—Following prices were quoted by the wholesale dealers per 100 lbs: Cut loaf, H. & E., $8.45; powdered, standard, $7.45; standard cane granulated, $7.25; beet granulated, $7.05; extra C, $6.95; canary, $6.55.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—SUGAR—There were no changes in raw sugar prices today as far as spot supplies were concerned, but later shipment sugars were easy. Further sales for specified January shipment were reported at 4¼c freight and cost, equal to 5.27c for centrifugal, to local refiners, and it was said that a small lot of Cubas were sold for February shipment to an operator at 4½c cost and freight, equal to 5.14c for centrifugal. The close was steady at 4¼c for Cubas cost and freight, equal to 5.27c for centrifugal and 4.40c for molasses. The feature in refined was the renewed activity for export, and while there was nothing definite reported it was rumored that between 25,000 and 30,000 tons were sold for February, March, and April shipment. Locally there was only a fair demand and prices were unchanged at 6.75c for fine granulated. In sugar futures some hesitancy was displayed at the start and opening prices were a point or two below last night's finals on continued liquidation, but there was a good demand from shorts and trade interests, prompted no doubt by the rumored sales of refined for export, and prices rallied, closing unchanged to 5 points net higher. January sold from 4.29@4.31c, closing, 4.30c; March, 3.99@4.01c, closing 4.00c; May, 3.97@4.03c, closing 4.00c; July, 4.04@4.06c, closing 4.05c.

COTTON.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Increasing nervousness over the ocean freight situation seemed chiefly responsible for a sharp break in the cotton market during today's earlier trading. May contracts sold off from 17.35c to 17.25c, or 39 points under last night's closing figure and fully 75 points below the high level of yesterday morning. Partial rallies followed, with May closing at 17.40c and with the general list closing steady at a net decline of 10 to 17 points. Part of the Liverpool selling here was said to be against purchases of spot cotton in the south, which was being hedged until shipping facilities became available. A prominent Alabama spot firm reports stocks at interior towns in east Alabama and west Georgia amounting to 50,411 bales, against 112,150 last year. Further beneficial rains were reports in the southwest, but trading in new crops was relatively quiet. Exports today were 17,066, making 3,447,217 so far this season. Port receipts, 20,086. United States port stocks, 1,499,091. Futures:

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 17.—Reports of losses to merchant shipping through operations of a German raider were the main influence in cotton today and the price fell off until the most active months were nearly $2.50 a bale under yesterday's close. Shipping news, however, was two edged, and late in the day the market steadied and made a partial recovery on the official announcement of the sinking of two ships last November, one Norwegian and the other Swedish, with a total of 30,000 bales of cotton aboard. The close was at a net loss of 12 to 18 points. Futures:

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—COFFEE—The reported activities of German commerce raiders in south Atlantic waters and talk of advancing marine war risks caused quite a sharp advance in the market for futures here today. The opening was 35@9 points higher and active months sold about 10@20 points above last night's closing figures, with May touching 8.71c and December, 8.90c; demand failed to broaden materially, however, and part of the advance was lost under realizing in the late trading, with the close showing a net gain of 6@14 points. Sales, 51,250 bags. Closing bids: January, 8.40c; February, 8.54c; March, 8.59c; April, 8.62c; May, 8.65c; June, 8.69c; July, 8.72c; August, 8.76c; September, 8.80c; October, 8.85c; November, 8.90c; December, 8.94c. Spot coffee was reported in a fair demand, with prices unchanged at 10c for No. 7s and 10¼c for Santos 4s. Offers of Santos 4s were reported in the east and Freight market at 10.65@10.80c, London credits. Private advices reported that a steamer from Brazil to London had been sunk with a cargo of 20,000 bags. The official cables reported a decline of 75 reis at Rio, while Santos was unchanged to 25 reis higher. Santos reported a clearance of 25,000 bags for New Orleans. Brazilian port receipts, 27,000 bags; Jundiahy, 17,000.

WILLIAM M. REAY BUYS 40 ACRES WEST OF EXMOOR

Real Estate Transfers.

Real estate transfers filed for record yesterday totaled 204, of which 164 were in the city and 40 in the outlying townships, including 26 under the Torrens system:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Hyde Park | 6 | Lake View | 20 |
| South town | 37 | North town | 5 |
| North town | 5 | Hyde Park | 21 |
| Lake | 22 | Calumet | 2 |
| West town | 43 | Stickney | 2 |
| Lyons | 4 | Bremen | 1 |
| Niles | 8 | Lyons | 7 |
| New Trier | 6 | Northfield | 1 |
| Worth | 7 | Ridgeville | 4 |
| Thornton | 2 | Norwood Park | 1 |

Two transactions in north shore acres, nine building leases in property outside the loop district, and a deal involving the construction of a $60,000 business building in North Clark street were the most important features of a dull real estate market yesterday.

The most important of the north shore deals was the purchase by William M. Reay, controller of the International Harvester company, from Arthur E. Bingham of a tract of forty acres on the Ridge road, one mile west of the Exmoor Country club, Highland Park. The consideration is not disclosed, but it is said property in that immediate vicinity is held at about $500 an acre.

The property adjoins the thirty-five acres which Mr. Reay purchased about a year ago. At the present time he owns and occupies an 82½ acre country home near Deerfield. The property just acquired has only ordinary farm improvements, but it is said Mr. Reay will build a handsome country home there in case he sells his Deerfield property. Murray & Terry represented the purchaser and F. M. Lowe the seller.

Golf Grounds Leased.

The other north shore transaction involves a new lease of the old Wilmette golf grounds by the North Shore Golf club. The property, a forty acre tract, is west of the Northwestern tracks, between Kenilworth and Wilmette, and extends to Ridge road, with Kenilworth avenue as the north boundary line. The lease is for ten years from Jan. 1, 1917, and provides for an annual rent of $4,000. It is also provided that the club is to erect a new clubhouse within three years to cost not less than $12,000. The club also has an option to purchase from its lessors, Laura E. Heron and husband, at any time within seven years from Jan. 1, 1917, for $100,000, plus $1,000 for each year or fraction which may have expired.

Root & Goodman have leased for the Confectioners' & Bakers' Supply company to a large drug house, whose name is withheld, the six story and basement building, 50x100 feet, at 11-13 East Illinois street, containing 35,000 square feet, for a term from March 1, 1917, at a term rent of $70,000.

Boulevard Deal.

They also have leased for John G. Shedd, represented by Jackson Bros., to the Confectioners' & Bakers' Supply company the main floor and basement, 30x100 feet, at 668-70 West Washington boulevard, for a term rent of $35,000.

They also have leased for Winston & Co. to the Western Valve Bag company the second floor, 60x100 feet, in the building at 380-82 East Grand avenue, for a term rent of $18,000.

Paul C. Loeber & Co. have leased for Andrew McAnsh to Edward Simon the three story and basement building at 200 West Erie street for a term rent of $4,000.

They also leased for Raike & Healey to George H. Blettner the fifth floor at 401-05 West Jackson boulevard at a term rent of $12,000.

Sells Apartment Building.

The new twelve apartment building on 50x75 feet of ground at the southwest corner of Harding avenue and Thirtieth street has been sold by Ralph Baldag to Alice and Mollie Shapiro for a reported consideration of $31,500, subject to an incumbrance of $19,000. The purchaser conveyed in part payment the property at the southwest corner of Hermitage avenue and Polk street, 50x108 feet, with brick improvements, four stores and six flats, at a valuation of $12,500, subject to $11,500. Morris Sex represented both parties.

The apartment property at the northeast corner of Lawndale avenue and Adams street, lot 80x125 feet, has been sold by Bertha L. Remington to Paul Windemueller, consideration nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $37,000. In this connection the purchaser conveyed to Mrs. Remington the business property at the northwest corner of Division street and Clybourn avenue, lot 132x140 feet, consideration nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $30,000.

South Side Sale.

The apartment property in East Fifteenth place, 337 feet west of Cottage Grove avenue, lot 53x125 feet, south front, has been conveyed by Dollie E. Pope to Mary R. Guthrie, consideration nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $7,500.

Record has made of the purchase by Elisabeth E. Leonard, from S. Ohlander, of the property in Hollywood avenue, 50 feet west of Glenwood avenue, lot 50x115 feet, south front, subject to $15,-

The flat property in Winthrop avenue, 50 feet south of Ardmore avenue, lot 50x125 feet, east front, has been conveyed by W. E. Lehman to Emma B. Boehm, consideration nominal, subject to

Ralsted Street Trade.

Mr. Perlman has conveyed to Charles Morton the property at 1114 South Ralsted street, lot 25x100 feet, east front, with business improvements, consideration nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $12,000.

The equitable corporation has leased for Winston & Co. agents, the seventh floor of the new concrete, sprinkler building at 331-63 East Ohio street, for a term of 3 years, at a term rental of $23,500.

The Seidem company has leased the second floor in the same building for a term of five years and three months at a term rent of $21,300. J. J. Harrington & Co. negotiated both leases.

As an evidence of the general prosperity in the country, S. W. Straus & Co. report an unusual volume of bond issues called for payment at a premium before maturity, the outstanding parts of eight bond issues, it is said, having thus been redeemed.

ORGANIZE FOR CHINESE TRADE

Preliminary organization of a Chinese Association of Commerce of Chicago was arranged at a luncheon in the Hotel La Salle yesterday by a group of business men.

The purpose is to promote and facilitate development of trade relations between the two countries, to encourage industrial and civic relations and bring about closer friendship between the two nations.

John J. Arnold of the First National bank, was made chairman of the committee on permanent organization, the other members being: George R. Meyercord, Illinois Manufacturers' association; W. T. Daenitz, Foreign Traders' association; J. McCorrah, H. H. Gareer, foreign trade commissioners, Chicago Association of Commerce.

At another meeting of this committee the association will be organized permanently with the election of officers to be composed of leading Chinese merchants of Chicago.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

Salesmen, Solicitors, Etc.

SALESMAN—WE HAVE AN opening for a salesman who is used to selling absolutely sound and reputable things. He must have good presence, ability, health, and industry to follow our legitimate leads, which have come out of our expensive and extensive advertising. We support him in every possible and provide drawing accounts. Apply after 10 a. m., Room 917, 431 So. Dearborn.

SALESMEN—FIVE.

Only men under 30 who can recognize the possibilities of a successful future when presented to them and are not working for a "proposition," but realize that if they want a good position they have to earn one.

This opportunity will not appeal to the man that talks "big money," who is always broke and looking for some new line.

It will only appeal to the man who realizes the time has come whereby he must get settled in business and is willing to work for a permanent future.

The men we want need have no experience in selling. We take care of that by person
